Living Costs Drop Sharply Index Shows

Lower Food Prices Mainly Responsible; Decline .4 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — The government announced today the sharpest drop in the cost of living for any single month in the past year. Lower food prices were mainly responsible.

The consumer price index, measuring price changes in food, clothing, housing, medical care and hundreds of other items, declined four-tenths of 1 per cent between mid-January and mid-February.

The index on Feb. 15 was 113.4 per cent of the 1947-1949 average, exactly the same as last June.

The index rose to a record high last August, eased off in September and October, duplicated the August high in November and then dropped, counting today's report, for three straight months.

The administration recently completed the lifting of price controls from all consumer goods but the impact expected on some items was not registered in today's index.

Food prices during the month ended Feb. 15 dropped 1.4 per cent months.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics which gathers the monthly prices used to compute the index, said all major items making up the "market basket" of consumer expenditures dropped over the month except "housing" and "personal care"—which includes such items as haircuts, manicures and the like. These rose, but only slightly.

Prices are sampled in 46 towns and cities and represent spending by moderate-income families.

No major labor unions are affected by today's index.

Normally, more than one million rail workers whose wages are tied to the cost of living would receive an adjustment on the basis of the February index. Actually, however, BLS issued two indexes each month—the official record and one called the "old series." Rail and auto workers' wages are tied to this latter index and it has not yet been computed for February. BLS said it would be ready early next month.

Ike Stands By Nomination Of Bohlen As Envoy

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — President Eisenhower today renewed his defense of Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen and cautioned that congressional investigations can be carried to damaging extremes.

The President, at his news conference, refrained from any outright, specific criticism of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) who has fought against Senate confirmation of Eisenhower's nomination of Bohlen as ambassador to Moscow.

Brushing aside several opportunities to tee off on McCarthy, the President said he always tried to avoid criticizing anyone who thinks he is performing a public service.

But Eisenhower said he believes congressional investigations of subversive activities can be carried to a point of damaging from within what you are trying to protect from without. And you need real wisdom to avoid that, he said.

The President did not pinpoint his comment, but it seemed obviously directed toward some phases of Red-hunting inquiries such as those conducted by McCarthy as chairman of the Senate Investigating Committee. Some critics have protested that methods used in such probes are menacing American freedoms.

And he staunchly reaffirmed his support of Bohlen, a 48-year-old career diplomat and Russian expert, as the best qualified man to serve as this country's envoy to Moscow.

The nomination, he said, sticks.

On Capitol Hill, McCarthy told newsmen in commenting on Eisenhower's remarks:

"I am sure the President is very serious when he says Bohlen is the best man, but it so happens I differ with him."

The Wisconsin senator conceded that the Senate will confirm Bohlen by a lop-sided margin when the chamber votes on the issue, probably tomorrow, after a one-day recess.

London's First Rain

LONDON, March 26 (AP) — It rained in London today for the first time in 35 days. It was the longest spring drought in the capital since 1893, when there were 40 consecutive days without rain.

Request For Pill Samples Brings Huge Response

PRINCETON, N. J., March 26 (AP) —Miss Dorothy Lynch, a member of the Women's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist church here, wrote recently to the Lederle Company at Pearl River, N. Y., and asked for some vitamin pill samples to be sent to India missions.

When the delivery man arrived at the physician's office where Miss Lynch is a secretary, she asked that the pills be left in the waiting room.

Outside the office was a trailer truck with a shipment of 623,400 vitamin pills, weighing 1,540 pounds, and valued at more than $20,000.

Color Television Ban Is Lifted

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — Color television inched a step closer to the American living room today with the lifting of government restrictions on the use of materials needed to make the sets.

Officials of the National Production Authority, which ended the ban imposed in 1951, said however that they have heard of no plans for immediate production of color TV sets by any producer.

Chairman Wolverton (R-NJ) of the House Interstate Committee, which is trying to find out what has been delaying the new medium, said NPA's action means that "now we've crossed the first hurdle" in bringing color TV to the public.

The next step, Wolverton said, is for the Federal Communications Commission to hold hearings on standards for transmission of color pictures on a network basis.

NPA Administrator H. B. McCoy notified Wolverton that the ban on using defense materials had been lifted and said: "With this revocation, there are no restrictions under the Defense Production Act on the manufacture of color television receivers and equipment for home use."

Case To Fight Nomination Of Gen. Vaughan

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — Sen Case (R-SD) said today he may fight the nomination of Harry H. Vaughan, military aide to former President Truman, to an indefinite term as a major general in the Army reserves.

Working against an April 1 deadline, the Senate Armed Services Committee today approved the commission for Vaughan and 17 other reserve major generals and 104 reserve brigadier geneals.

The long list came up from President Eisenhower only yesterday and senators were told that unless the Senate confirms them before April 1 the commissions of Vaughan and many other reserve generals would lapse.

Case told a reporter that he allowed the list to move from the committee on to the Senate so as not to block other reserve generals but that he would ask that Vaughan's name "be passed over in the Senate."

"This is not a promotion but a continuation of his commission," Case said. "I want to study his military record and examine the authority and qualifications of a reserve major general before the Senate acts."

The committee action will be reported to the Senate tomorrow but under usual rules the nominations will not be brought up until Monday or later.

Vaughan, one of the most controversial figures among the men around Truman, served as a lieutenant colonel in World War II. When Truman became vice president, Vaughan became a colonel and Truman's aide, the first military aide to a vice president in history. He was successively promoted to brigadier general and to major general, getting the latest rank in 1946.

British Lift Ration Off Use Of Eggs

LONDON, March 26 (AP)—British housewives thumbed through old cook books today and dreamed of souffles and chocolate eclairs—eggs had come off the ration.

And the Poultry Association celebrated the event by sending a dozen fresh eggs to Prime Minister Churchill and the ministers of food and agriculture.

Eggs have been rationed in Britain for 12 years except for six months during a glut in 1950.

The ration has been one or two a week during the winter and up to half a dozen a week during the laying season.

Humphrey To Address Associated Press Group

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP) — George M. Humphrey, secretary of the Treasury, has accepted an invitation to address the annual luncheon of the Associated Press April 20, Robert McLean, president of the AP, announced today.

New Polio Vaccine Hurdles First Test On Human Beings

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—The new polio vaccine has passed its first human hurdle—safe success in 90 children and adults, a young scientist announced tonight.

It gave them all protection against all forms of polio, with complete safety.

But he cautioned against thinking that a practical vaccine now is here for everyone to kill polio's sting. He indicated many more humans must be tested cautiously first.

Yet this does mark a triumphant step toward that goal. The vaccine is the same one disclosed last January by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis as having succeeded in animals and a few humans.

Tonight the results of the first sizable human tests were announced by Dr. Jonas E. Salk, 38, the father of three children, and professor of research bacteriology at the University of Pittsburgh.

He tested 161 persons, 4 to 40 years old, with several forms of vaccines, he wrote in the journal of the American Medical Association.

The best-bet vaccine is a creamy one made out of all three types of polio virus, grown in test-tube farms, and then killed or inactivated with formaldehyde.

Disarmed this way, the viruses can't cause polio, but still can stimulate the human body to produce antibodies, the agents to fight off invading live viruses.

The deadened viruses are mixed in mineral oil and an emulsifier, making an oily vaccine like homogenized milk. The oil greatly steps up the power of the vaccine to stimulate antibodies.

Two weeks after this creamy vaccine was injected into muscles, 90 persons all had antibodies against all three types of virus which can cause human polio, Dr. Salk reported. They developed as much, or more, antibodies as if they had actually been invaded by live viruses.

By everything known now about polio, they should be well protected. So far, these 90 have been studied for only six weeks, but still had lots of antibodies.

Sailor Passes Exams Aboard Submarine

DECATUR, Ill., March 26 (AP)—Jack I. Smith, 19, wasn't just sitting around when he and 22 other sailors were sealed in the submarine Haddock for 52 days during a recent Navy experiment.

Smith entered the submarine a high school graduate. During his voluntary stay he boned up and took tests which won him credit for a year of college.

The Haddock was sealed Jan. 19 and opened March 12 to see how long men could endure the long confinement of atomic submarines of the future.

Big Three Meeting Held As Possibility

LONDON, March 26 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill dodged questions in the House of Commons today about possibilities of a Big Three meeting of Russia, Britain and the U. S.

But he expressed cautious optimism about prospects of improvement in relations with the Soviet Union in coming weeks.

"Even if great results could not be obtained, it might be that small results would be beneficial," he told Labor party questioners, without elaboration.

House Votes 94-1 To Pass $193 Million State Budget

ANNAPOLIS, March 26 (AP)—The House tonight passed a 193-million-dollar budget for 1953-54, sending the big spending measure to the Senate.

Without a murmur, the delegates overwhelmingly endorsed their Ways and Means Committee which had trimmed nearly two millions from the appropriations recommended by Gov. McKeldin.

Del. Silk D-Balto 1st cast the lone dissenting vote and he offered no explanation.

There were 94 favorable votes.

The House acted immediately after a hurried printing of 325 whittling amendments presented only last night by the Ways and Means Committee.

The Senate was set to work over the new bill and weigh reductions proposed by its Finance Committee against those adopted by the House.

Majority Leader Goldstein (D-Calvert) said the Senate finance unit completed its job on the budget late this afternoon.

There were reports both the Senate and House committees had laid plans for a conference committee to try to settle differences in case neither side would bend.

Gov. McKeldin already has implemented a House request to apply all budget savings to cutting the state property tax for calendar 1954. With the House cuts, this would be 5 2-3 cents on the $100 instead of 11.29 cents as originally anticipated.

The rate would be the lowest in history. It is currently a fraction over 6 cents.

House Majority Leader Logan (D-Caroline) voiced satisfaction with the almost spotless vote. He had conducted hearings for the last eight weeks and led the Ways and Means Committee in its pruning operation.

Budget action 11 days before the session deadline was unusually early. In past years neither House has pushed out the state's main appropriations bill until the last three or four days.

UN Rebuffs Russians On Aggressor Charge Against United States

Vote 41-5 Against Czech Proposal In Major Propaganda Drive Setback

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—The U. N. pasted an overwhelming defeat today on a major Soviet propaganda campaign started in the Stalin era and carried on here by the new Malenkov regime.

It was designated to brand the United States as an aggressor against Iron Curtain countries.

Win Small Comfort

The Reds won a small comfort in the final vote; 14 countries abstained, partly because the West had defended Jews and Zionism against Red assaults. Those abstaining were Argentina and Guatemala of the Latin American group and the following Arab-Asian countries: Afghanistan, Burma, Egypt, India, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, Syria and Yemen.

The majority result, however, was interpreted by Western delegates as a vote of confidence in the United States and the Eisenhower administration's repeated statements that it is ready to meet the Russians half way and talk peace.

The vote came as Andrei Y. Vishinsky, former Soviet foreign minister who has been named permanent delegate here, landed in New York from the liner Queen Mary. Vishinsky was seasick on part of the Atlantic voyage but surprisingly cordial during the trip. U. N. delegates expressed hope he will show quickly whether Malenkov actually means to adopt a softer policy or keep up the customary Russian tactics of opposition to the West on every count.

Russian Policy Not Mild

There was nothing in the defeated Czechoslovak resolution to show that Malenkov policy would be mild here. It proposed that the U. N. Assembly call on the United States to repeal the 1951 Mutual Security Act which set aside 100 million dollars to help the free nations and assist persons escaping through the Iron Curtain.

It also asked the Assembly to condemn as "acts of aggression" and as interference in the internal affairs of the Moscow bloc lands the "subversive activities organized by the United States of America."

President Says Ammo Situation In Korea Okay

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the present ammunition situation in Korea is perfectly sound.

This was the first definite word from the White House that the President believes ammunition shortages have been corrected sufficiently to handle present scale combat operations. The President said he had checked with the military and had been advised emphatically that the yielding of Old Baldy by U. S. troops in Korea had no relation to an ammunition shortage.

Eisenhower said, too, there is no conflict between himself and Secretary of Defense Wilson over maintaining U. S. combat strength at present levels, although desperate efforts are being made to stop the government's in-the-red spending.

The briskly paced news conference covered these additional highlights:

Eisenhower himself passes final judgment on all persons named to high government jobs, after interviewing them personally. He said he prefers middle-of-the-road people and not extremists.

After the Kansas Legislature and courts pass on the case, the Chief Executive will make up his mind about Wesley Roberts, the Republican national chairman who is under fire for an $11,000 fee in the sale of a hospital to the state of Kansas. Eisenhower said he won't defend anybody who turns out to be guilty but his philosophy always has been not to condemn someone until the charges have been proved.

Eisenhower isn't going to acquiesce in the building up of claims for vacation time by top-level government officials. As he sees it, their responsibilities are always with them and he doesn't see how they can take leave. That was a pot shot at Truman administration officials, including eight Cabinet members, who collected $700,000 for leave they hadn't used.

France has her problems and some will be discussed, particularly those relating to Indochina and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, with Premier Rene Mayer and other top French officials now in Washington.

Congress will be asked in a day or two for legislation setting up a commission to study the proper division of functions between federal, state, and municipal governments, and even private enterprise. This was the only item in the whole conference the President volunteered.

FUGITIVE HEIR — Gene Williams Hackett, heir to a fortune estimated at $100,000, was arrested yesterday in Dallas, Tex., as a fugitive from Wisconsin State Prison where he was serving a 3-to-10 year sentence. Hackett will receive his fortune when he becomes 30, less than two years from now, FBI authorities said.

Chinese Reds Batter Allies Along Outposts

SEOUL, Friday, March 27 (AP)—Hordes of Chinese Reds smashed against 10 Allied outposts—some manned by Marines—on the Korean Far Western Front last night in the second round of their big springtime drive and early today overran two of the positions after seven hours of bloody fighting.

More than 3,500 Chinese attacked behind crashing artillery barrages which churned the rolling front with livid explosions and flying debris.

The first round of the Red drive burst west of Chorwon Monday night and swept across the strategic bastion of Old Baldy on the invasion route to Seoul from the north.

Seventh Division infantrymen abandoned the last third of the shell-stripped hill at dawn Thursday. Allied planes and artillery bombed, seared and blasted Old Baldy all day Thursday and throughout the night. But observation pilots at daylight reported the Chinese atop the hill had burrowed deeper into their bunkers and had "improved their position."

Victorious atop Old Baldy, the Chinese hurled their second round at sunset Thursday against Bunker Hill, five miles east of the truce town of Panmunjom, and the network of outposts stretching to the northeast.

About 750 Chinese hit Bunker Hill, a strategic fort on an invasion route to Seoul from the northwest. But the main blows fell against Marines on three of the outposts northeast of Bunker.

The Chinese launched a three-pronged attack. It surged against the three hills and the lower ground between them. Fighting raged hand-to-hand. The Reds braved intense small arms fire and hurled satchel charges of explosives into U. S. bunkers.

Then with precise timing, the Chinese threw in powerful new forces at two of the outposts and the Marines were ordered to withdraw at 2:30 a.m. Friday. The two outposts are 25 miles west of Old Baldy.

The day-and-night bombardment of Old Baldy crashed down on the peak with almost unprecedented fury. The Fifth Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers took up the attack again at daylight.

Cancelled By Army

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — Mountain warfare training maneuvers which had been scheduled for October in the Elkins, W. Va., area have been called off, the Army said today.

U. S. To Support French Battle

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles told Premier Rene Mayer and other French leaders today that the United States supports their aim of wiping out the Communist-led revolt in Indochina as soon as possible.

Dulles, however, called for more detailed information and plans before taking up the question of increased American aid.

The secretary, with Treasury Secretary Humphrey and other Eisenhower administration officials took up the Indochina issue at an afternoon session with the visiting French leaders which lasted two hours and 40 minutes.

This followed an earlier meeting between President Eisenhower and the visiting French government leaders aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg.

An account of what took place at the second session in the scheduled three-day series of talks was given by a State Department spokesman. It was indicated that Mayer laid the groundwork for a later appeal for stepped up American aid to Indochina.

American officials already had indicated the administration was sympathetic toward plans of the French and their Viet Nam allies to create some 57 new commando-type battalions manned by Viet Namese, to try to crush further aggression by the Vietminh rebels.

Man Is Killed In Unusual Mishap

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., March 26 (AP)—Charles Harold Wilson, 28, of Carrollton, O., was killed early today in an unusual highway accident near here.

Wilson was a passenger in a truck, authorities were told, and in some manner a door came open and he fell out, striking his head on a culvert.

Heroic Priest Talks Filipino Into Surrender

Victims Are Stabbed In Chests Within A Period Of 5 Minutes

SEATTLE, March 26 (AP)—A patient went berserk and stabbed 11 persons today at Firland Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

Dr. Roberts Davies, medical director, said several victims were in serious condition.

Dr. Davies identified the attacker as Esteban Maranitan Rucero, a Filipino.

He said the man held patients, employes and sheriff's deputies at bay more than an hour before a priest, the Rev. James Knelleken, quieted the man by talking to him. He then was taken to the county jail.

Shortly before 9 a.m. Rucero was visiting another patient in a two-bed room at the hospital, a few miles north of Seattle. Rucero appeared normal.

Next Rucero left the room and walked down the ward, stabbing each patient in the chest or abdomen as he passed.

"He just flicked the knife into each one apparently," Dr. Davies said.

Within five minutes, 11 patients and employes—men and women—had been stabbed.

Father Knelleken, 26, a priest at St. Catherine's Church, was called to the hospital, and persuaded Rucero to ride to the jail in the priest's automobile, accompanied by a sheriff's deputy.

The priest said Rucero refused to give up the knife until he reached the jail.

Firlands is a publicly-supported county institution.

County Det. Sgt. Harold Wieland said Rucero told him the nurses and patients were "insulting me

Benson Proposes Cut In Budget

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — Secretary Benson today proposed a $131,400,000 cut in the $1,325,200,000 Agriculture Department budget submitted to Congress by former President Truman.

The 10 per cent reduction would mean a payroll cut of the equivalent of 3,454 full-time jobs. The Truman budget provided for the equivalent of 64,802 full-time jobs.

Benson's budget of $1,193,800,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1—exclusive of price support loans and purchases—was submitted to the House Appropriations Committee. It had President Eisenhower's approval.

The new budget is about two million dollars less than the total appropriations and loan authorizations, other than price supports, made available for the current fiscal year. Benson said he expects to save 6½ million dollars of this year's appropriation.

The secretary said he expected each of his proposed reductions will meet resistance, but he added:

"The time has come when we must face the hard facts of squaring our spending with our income."

No official estimate of price support operations was released by Benson, but aides said the department now expects such outlays to be larger than the 729 million dollars forecast in the Truman budget, because of a prospective larger volume of price support operations.

Dashiell Hammett Refuses To Say If He Is Communist

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — Dashiell Hammett, who has solved many a mystery in his detective stories, told Senate investigators in effect today that they would have to find out for themselves whether he is a Communist.

He refused to disclose whether he is a member of the Communist party, stating "the answer might tend to incriminate me." He also refused to say whether he had ever been a Red.

Another witness, Mrs. Helen Goldfrank, a writer of children's books, took the same tack and "proudly" claimed the right to remain silent when asked if she ever was a representative of the Communist Internationale.

Members of the Senate investigations subcommittee then asked her if she ever wrote under the pen name of Kay. Again the blonde witness refused to answer.

Hammett and Mrs. Goldfrank were called before the subcommittee as it tried to find out why books by American Communists were included in public libraries set up by the State Department overseas.

The proceedings were televised until Mrs. Goldfrank refused to talk before the cameras or permit still photographers to take her picture while she was on the stand. Chairman McCarthy (R-Wis) upheld her position.

Hammett, tall, lean and white-haired, persisted ir his refusal to say whether he was a Red despite a warning by McCarthy that his attitude "will be taken by the committee and the country as a whole to mean that you are a Communist."

LONDON, March 26 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill dodged questions in the House of Commons today about possibilities of a Big Three meeting of Russia, Britain and the U. S.

But he expressed cautious optimism about prospects of improvement in relations with the Soviet Union in coming weeks.

"Even if great results could not be obtained, it might be that small results would be beneficial," he told Labor party questioners, without elaboration.

New Polio Vaccine Hurdles First Test On Human Beings

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—The new polio vaccine has passed its first human hurdle—safe success in 90 children and adults, a young scientist announced tonight.

It gave them all protection against all forms of polio, with complete safety.

But he cautioned against thinking that a practical vaccine now is here for everyone to kill polio's sting. He indicated many more humans must be tested cautiously first.

Yet this does mark a triumphant step toward that goal. The vaccine is the same one disclosed last January by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis as having succeeded in animals and a few humans.

Tonight the results of the first sizable human tests were announced by Dr. Jonas E. Salk, 38, the father of three children, and professor of research bacteriology at the University of Pittsburgh.

He tested 161 persons, 4 to 40 years old, with several forms of vaccines, he wrote in the journal of the American Medical Association.

The best-bet vaccine is a creamy one made out of all three types of polio virus, grown in test-tube farms, and then killed or inactivated with formaldehyde.

Disarmed this way, the viruses can't cause polio, but still can stimulate the human body to produce antibodies, the agents to fight off invading live viruses.

The deadened viruses are mixed in mineral oil and an emulsifier, making an oily vaccine like homogenized milk. The oil greatly steps up the power of the vaccine to stimulate antibodies.

Two weeks after this creamy vaccine was injected into muscles, 90 persons all had antibodies against all three types of virus which can cause human polio, Dr. Salk reported. They developed as much, or more, antibodies as if they had actually been invaded by live viruses.

By everything known now about polio, they should be well protected. So far, these 90 have been studied for only six weeks, but still had lots of antibodies.

UN Rebuffs Russians On Aggressor Charge Against United States

Vote 41-5 Against Czech Proposal In Major Propaganda Drive Setback

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—The U. N. pasted an overwhelming defeat today on a major Soviet propaganda campaign started in the Stalin era and carried on here by the new Malenkov regime.

It was designated to brand the United States as an aggressor against Iron Curtain countries.

Win Small Comfort

The Reds won a small comfort in the final vote; 14 countries abstained, partly because the West had defended Jews and Zionism against Red assaults. Those abstaining were Argentina and Guatemala of the Latin American group and the following Arab-Asian countries: Afghanistan, Burma, Egypt, India, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, Syria and Yemen.

The majority result, however, was interpreted by Western delegates as a vote of confidence in the United States and the Eisenhower administration's repeated statements that it is ready to meet the Russians half way and talk peace.

The vote came as Andrei Y. Vishinsky, former Soviet foreign minister who has been named permanent delegate here, landed in New York from the liner Queen Mary. Vishinsky was seasick on part of the Atlantic voyage but surprisingly cordial during the trip. U. N. delegates expressed hope he will show quickly whether Malenkov actually means to adopt a softer policy or keep up the customary Russian tactics of opposition to the West on every count.

Russian Policy Not Mild

There was nothing in the defeated Czechoslovak resolution to show that Malenkov policy would be mild here. It proposed that the U. N. Assembly call on the United States to repeal the 1951 Mutual Security Act which set aside 100 million dollars to help the free nations and assist persons escaping through the Iron Curtain.

It also asked the Assembly to condemn as "acts of aggression" and as interference in the internal affairs of the Moscow bloc lands the "subversive activities organized by the United States of America."

President Says Ammo Situation In Korea Okay

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the present ammunition situation in Korea is perfectly sound.

This was the first definite word from the White House that the President believes ammunition shortages have been corrected sufficiently to handle present scale combat operations. The President said he had checked with the military and had been advised emphatically that the yielding of Old Baldy by U. S. troops in Korea had no relation to an ammunition shortage.

Eisenhower said, too, there is no conflict between himself and Secretary of Defense Wilson over maintaining U. S. combat strength at present levels, although desperate efforts are being made to stop the government's in-the-red spending.

The briskly paced news conference covered these additional highlights:

Eisenhower himself passes final judgment on all persons named to high government jobs, after interviewing them personally. He said he prefers middle-of-the-road people and not extremists.

After the Kansas Legislature and courts pass on the case, the Chief Executive will make up his mind about Wesley Roberts, the Republican national chairman who is under fire for an $11,000 fee in the sale of a hospital to the state of Kansas. Eisenhower said he won't defend anybody who turns out to be guilty but his philosophy always has been not to condemn someone until the charges have been proved.

Eisenhower isn't going to acquiesce in the building up of claims for vacation time by top-level government officials. As he sees it, their responsibilities are always with them and he doesn't see how they can take leave. That was a pot shot at Truman administration officials, including eight Cabinet members, who collected $700,000 for leave they hadn't used.

France has her problems and some will be discussed, particularly those relating to Indochina and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, with Premier Rene Mayer and other top French officials now in Washington.

Congress will be asked in a day or two for legislation setting up a commission to study the proper division of functions between federal, state, and municipal governments, and even private enterprise. This was the only item in the whole conference the President volunteered.

U. S. To Support French Battle

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles told Premier Rene Mayer and other French leaders today that the United States supports their aim of wiping out the Communist - led revolt in Indochina as soon as possible.

Dulles, however, called for more detailed information and plans before taking up the question of increased American aid.

The secretary, with Treasury Secretary Humphrey and other Eisenhower administration officials took up the Indochina issue at an afternoon session with the visiting French leaders which lasted two hours and 40 minutes.

This followed an earlier meeting between President Eisenhower and the visiting French government leaders aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg.

An account of what took place at the second session in the scheduled three - day series of talks was given by a State Department spokesman. It was indicated that Mayer laid the groundwork for a later appeal for stepped up American aid to Indochina.

American officials already had indicated the administration was sympathetic toward plans of the French and their Viet Nam allies to create some 57 new commando-type battalions manned by Viet Namese, to try to crush further aggression by the Vietminh rebels.

Man Is Killed In Unusual Mishap

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., March 26 (AP)—Charles Harold Wilson, 28, of Carrollton, O., was killed early today in an unusual highway accident near here.

Wilson was a passenger in a truck, authorities were told, and in some manner a door came open and he fell out, striking his head on a culvert.

House Votes 94-1 To Pass $193 Million State Budget

ANNAPOLIS, March 26 (AP)—The House tonight passed a 193-million-dollar budget for 1953-54, sending the big spending measure to the Senate.

Without a murmur, the delegates overwhelmingly endorsed their Ways and Means Committee which had trimmed nearly two millions from the appropriations recommended by Gov. McKeldin.

Del. Silk D-Balto 1st cast the lone dissenting vote and he offered no explanation.

There were 94 favorable votes.

The House acted immediately after a hurried printing of 325 whittling amendments presented only last night by the Ways and Means Committee.

The Senate was set to work over the new bill and weigh reductions proposed by its Finance Committee against those adopted by the House.

Majority Leader Goldstein (D-Calvert) said the Senate finance unit completed its job on the budget late this afternoon.

There were reports both the Senate and House committees had laid plans for a conference committee to try to settle differences in case neither side would bend.

Gov. McKeldin already has implemented a House request to apply all budget savings to cutting the state property tax for calendar 1954. With the House cuts, this would be 5 2-3 cents on the $100 instead of 11.29 cents as originally anticipated.

The rate would be the lowest in history. It is currently a fraction over 6 cents.

House Majority Leader Logan (D-Caroline) voiced satisfaction with the almost spotless vote. He had conducted hearings for the last eight weeks and led the Ways and Means Committee in its pruning operation.

Budget action 11 days before the session deadline was unusually early. In past years neither House has pushed out the state's main appropriations bill until the last three or four days.

FUGITIVE HEIR — Gene Williams Hackett, heir to a fortune estimated at $100,000, was arrested yesterday in Dallas, Tex., as a fugitive from Wisconsin State Prison where he was serving a 3-to-10 year sentence. Hackett will receive his fortune when he becomes 30, less than two years from now, FBI authorities said.

Chinese Reds Batter Allies Along Outposts

SEOUL, Friday, March 27 (AP)—Hordes of Chinese Reds smashed against 10 Allied outposts—some manned by Marines—on the Korean Far Western Front last night in the second round of their big springtime drive and early today overran two of the positions after seven hours of bloody fighting.

More than 3,500 Chinese attacked behind crashing artillery barrages which churned the rolling front with livid explosions and flying debris.

The first round of the Red drive burst west of Chorwon Monday night and swept across the strategic bastion of Old Baldy on the invasion route to Seoul from the north.

Seventh Division infantrymen abandoned the last third of the shell-stripped hill at dawn Thursday. Allied planes and artillery bombed, seared and blasted Old Baldy all day Thursday and throughout the night. But observation pilots at daylight reported the Chinese atop the hill had burrowed deeper into their bunkers and had "improved their position."

Victorious atop Old Baldy, the Chinese hurled their second round at sunset Thursday against Bunker Hill, five miles east of the truce town of Panmunjom, and the network of outposts stretching to the northeast.

About 750 Chinese hit Bunker Hill, a strategic fort on an invasion route to Seoul from the northwest. But the main blows fell against Marines on three of the outposts northeast of Bunker.

The Chinese launched a three-pronged attack. It surged against the three hills and the lower ground between them. Fighting raged hand - to - hand. The Reds braved intense small arms fire and hurled satchel charges of explosives into U. S. bunkers.

Then with precise timing, the Chinese threw in powerful new forces at two of the outposts and the Marines were ordered to withdraw at 2:30 a.m. Friday. The two outposts are 25 miles west of Old Baldy.

Heroic Priest Talks Filipino Into Surrender

Victims Are Stabbed In Chests Within A Period Of 5 Minutes

SEATTLE, March 26 (AP)—A patient went berserk and stabbed 11 persons today at Firland Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

Dr. Roberts Davies, medical director, said several victims were in serious condition.

Dr. Davies identified the attacker as Esteban Maranitan Rucero, a Filipino.

He said the man held patients, employes and sheriff's deputies at bay more than an hour before a priest, the Rev. James Knelleken, quieted the man by talking to him. He then was taken to the county jail.

Shortly before 9 a.m. Rucero was visiting another patient in a two-bed room at the hospital, a few miles north of Seattle. Rucero appeared normal.

Next Rucero left the room and walked down the ward, stabbing each patient in the chest or abdomen as he passed.

"He just flicked the knife into each one apparently," Dr. Davies said.

Within five minutes, 11 patients and employes—men and women—had been stabbed.

Father Knelleken, 26, a priest at St. Catherine's Church, was called to the hospital, and persuaded Rucero to ride to the jail in the priest's automobile, accompanied by a sheriff's deputy.

The priest said Rucero refused to give up the knife until he reached the jail.

Firlands is a publicly-supported county institution.

County Det. Sgt. Harold Wieland said Rucero told him the nurses and patients were "insulting me

Benson Proposes Cut In Budget

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — Secretary Benson today proposed a $131,400,000 cut in the $1,325,200,000 Agriculture Department budget submitted to Congress by former President Truman.

The 10 per cent reduction would mean a payroll cut of the equivalent of 3,454 full-time jobs. The Truman budget provided for the equivalent of 64,802 full-time jobs.

Benson's budget of $1,193,800,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1—exclusive of price support loans and purchases—was submitted to the House Appropriations Committee. It had President Eisenhower's approval.

The new budget is about two million dollars less than the total appropriations and loan authorizations, other than price supports, made available for the current fiscal year. Benson said he expects to save 6½ million dollars of this year's appropriation.

The secretary said he expected each of his proposed reductions will meet resistance, but he added:

"The time has come when we must face the hard facts of squaring our spending with our income."

No official estimate of price support operations was released by Benson, but aides said the department now expects such outlays to be larger than the 729 million dollars forecast in the Truman budget, because of a prospective larger volume of price support operations.

Dashiell Hammett Refuses To Say If He Is Communist

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — Dashiell Hammett, who has solved many a mystery in his detective stories, told Senate investigators in effect today that they would have to find out for themselves whether he is a Communist.

He refused to disclose whether he is a member of the Communist party, stating "the answer might tend to incriminate me." He also refused to say whether he had ever been a Red.

Another witness, Mrs. Helen Goldfrank, a writer of children's books, took the same tack and "proudly" claimed the right to remain silent when asked if she ever was a representative of the Communist Internationale.

Members of the Senate investigations subcommittee then asked her if she ever wrote under the pen name of Kay. Again the blonde witness refused to answer.

Hammett and Mrs. Goldfrank were called before the subcommittee as it tried to find out why books by American Communists were included in public libraries set up by the State Department overseas.

The proceedings were televised until Mrs. Goldfrank refused to talk before the cameras or permit still photographers to take her picture while she was on the stand. Chairman McCarthy (R-Wis) upheld her position.

Hammett, tall, lean and white-haired, persisted ir his refusal to say whether he was a Red despite a warning by McCarthy that his attitude "will be taken by the committee and the country as a whole to mean that you are a Communist."

3 White Men Slain In Burma, Chinese Battle

RANGOON, Burma, March 26 (AP)—The Burma government War Office said tonight the bodies of three white men were found among the dead after a sharp battle yesterday between Burma forces and Nationalist Chinese guerrillas near the Burma-Thailand frontier.

The communique said the nationality of the white dead has not been determined but military sources here said they probably were Americans.

(The War Office announcement coincided with the receipt of a Burma complaint at the U. N. in New York charging Nationalist China is maintaining guerrillas in Burma and asking that the U. N. brand Nationalist China as an aggressor. Burma last year accused the United States of arming and abetting the Chinese guerrillas.)

Defense Minister U Ba Swe said recently a few Americans were known to have been among the Chinese Nationalists along the border.

Today's communique described what it called a severe battle between Burma Army forces and withdrawing Chinese Nationalists yesterday two miles east of Wan Hsala, a ferry town on the east Salween River side near the main Nationalist Chinese base at Monghsat.

These were the first foreigners reported killed with the Nationalist Chinese forces which have been secretly training and arming in the Burma mountains along the China-Thailand borders for the past three years, authorities here said.

Burma Army troops opened an offensive early this month against Chinese Nationalists accused of attacking Burmese villages west of the Salween.

Man Found Innocent In Shotgun Slaying

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., March 26 (AP)—A Berkeley County jury today deliberated an hour and 20 minutes, then found 62-year-old John T. Paulding innocent of a murder charge in the shotgun slaying of Raleigh Tederick, 28.

Paulding walked three miles from his cabin to the county jail here early Feb. 15 to tell police he had slain the younger man.

He said he shot Tederick after the latter had threatened to kill him in an argument over Tederick's presence in Paulding's cabin.

Gambling Charge Against Nine Women Playing Canasta Dropped

PHILADELPHIA, March 26 (AP)—Nine wives were arrested in a stately home of West Philadelphia on gambling charges. Police said they were playing canasta — for money.

What if they were, Magistrate John F. Daly wanted to know today. Then he discharged them all with the tart comment: "It takes place in my home and probably in yours." He was addressing a rather discomfited young assistant district attorney.

It boiled up into quite a to-do. Matching the magistrate's scorn, City Treasurer Francis Pastorius, a Republican, told Mayor Joseph Sill Clark, a Democrat, that it was a "comic opera pinch" and a waste of police time.

The police themselves were sorry. But they said they had to make the arrests yesterday because several of the women's husbands—or maybe just one husband who kept repeating himself—had complained to the police commissioner and the district attorney about the women's weekly card games.

Whoever complained, police said, "called it gambling and wanted it stopped, but an even bigger gripe was that the card games were messing up the evening meal. On canasta day the men had to wait a long time for supper or else make do with leftovers or stuff out of a can or a carton."

The magistrate was unmoved. He summed up the facts — nine women, ranging in age from 34 to 52, a pack of canasta cards and $12 on a dining room table.

Smiling sympathetically at the women, the magistrate shot at Detective Raymond Dailey: "Did you see any activity in the room?"

The assistant district attorney suggested the hostess should be held for trial.

"You ... Hold her for court!" Daly spluttered. "You'd better go to several hundred thousand other houses in Philadelphia where there's gambling for money.

"As far as I'm concerned, this was just a card game in the home. All discharged."

Three Victims Of London Strangler Are Identified

LONDON, March 26 (AP) — Scotland Yard detectives said tonight the first of four women to be murdered in a strangler's lair in the shabby Notting Hill district was Mrs. John Christie, 45, wife of a clerk who is the object of a nationwide manhunt.

The detectives established the identity of three of the victims today. They believe Mrs. Christie was killed just before Christmas. A wire or thin rope choked out her life.

Then the other three were lured into the squalid, paint-peeled apartment on a dead end street. No one who is talking knows why they went into that area of squalor, poverty and vice.

One was Miss Hectorina MacLennan, 25, a servant girl missing from her home for more than a month.

Another was Miss Kathleen Maloney, 19, an orphan with fingernails and toe nails painted scarlet.

The fourth body may be that of an Irish girl.

One of the victims was believed to be six months pregnant, but Scotland Yard did not name her.

By patient plodding, the detectives determined the approximate time of the murders. Mrs. Christie's body was found stuffed under the floor-boards of the front room. The strangler may have gotten the last victim only three weeks ago.

But the detectives have found no motive. Robbery has been largely ruled out. Another puzzle is how the three younger women could have gone into the building without being noticed by any of the other residents living on the seedy street.

Throughout Britain police searched for Christie, the owl-eyed clerk, 55. He had lived in the apartment for 15 years and was seen there as recently as last Friday. Now he has vanished. Another man, a prospective tenant, found three of the bodies screened behind wallpaper, in a pantry and called police.

too much. They were going to kill me.

"They were talking about me and they tried to give me a shot last night that would kill me. ... I lost my mind."

Rucero, a farm laborer and cannery worker, said he had been in the sanatorium eight months. He told detectives he had had the knife in his bag there ever since he became a patient.

Market Suffers Late Setback As Steels, Motors Go Down

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—The Stock Market suffered a late afternoon setback today after a quiet and somewhat higher beginning. Steels, motors and railroads led the downturn.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 50 cents at $114.50 as volume totaled two million shares. Yesterday, the average dipped 30 cents as dealings amounted to 2,320,000 shares.

An underlying reason for the market's weakness was the Chrysler announcement yesterday cutting prices on each of its auto models an average of $100. Chrysler fell nearly three points yesterday. Today the stock was erratic: up 1⅜ during the morning, off a point while the tape was late, and off ⅛ at 84½ at the close.

Bache & Co., stock exchange firm, referring to the Chrysler price cuts, said "With production of automobiles likely to reach a total of 1,510,000 units in the first quarter of this year, and the expectation of even greater volume for the second quarter, supply may conceivably become too great for normal consumer demand in coming months.

"While it is a bit too early to suggest other heavy durable industries may run into similar problems, nevertheless such an eventual problem should receive some consideration by prudent investors this spring," the investment house concludes.

Swimming against the tide were Boeing up 1 at 47, American Cynamid up ¾ at 51½, Gulf Oil ⅝ at 50, Radio Corp ⅜ at 27¾, Standard Oil (NJ) ¼ at 73¾, and Consolidated Edison ¼ at 39⅞.

In the AP averages today, industrials lost 70 cents, railroads were 50 cents lower and utilities slipped 10 cents.

3 White Men Slain In Burma, Chinese Battle

RANGOON, Burma, March 26 (AP)—The Burma government War Office said tonight the bodies of three white men were found among the dead after a sharp battle yesterday between Burma forces and Nationalist Chinese guerrillas near the Burma-Thailand frontier.

The communique said the nationality of the white dead has not been determined but military sources here said they probably were Americans.

(The War Office announcement coincided with the receipt of a Burma complaint at the U. N. in New York charging Nationalist China is maintaining guerrillas in Burma and asking that the U. N. brand Nationalist China as an aggressor. Burma last year accused the United States of arming and abetting the Chinese guerrillas.)

Defense Minister U Ba Swe said recently a few Americans were known to have been among the Chinese Nationalists along the border.

Today's communique described what it called a severe battle between Burma Army forces and withdrawing Chinese Nationalists yesterday two miles east of Wan Hsala, a ferry town on the east Salween River side near the main Nationalist Chinese base at Monghsat.

These were the first foreigners reported killed with the Nationalist Chinese forces which have been secretly training and arming in the Burma mountains along the China-Thailand borders for the past three years, authorities here said.

Man Found Innocent In Shotgun Slaying

Paulding walked three miles from his cabin to the county jail here early Feb. 15 to tell police he had slain the younger man.

He said he shot Tederick after the latter had threatened to kill him in an argument over Tederick's presence in Paulding's cabin.

Gambling Charge Against Nine Women Playing Canasta Dropped

PHILADELPHIA, March 26 (AP)—Nine wives were arrested in a stately home of West Philadelphia on gambling charges. Police said they were playing canasta — for money.

What if they were, Magistrate John F. Daly wanted to know today. Then he discharged them all with the tart comment: "It takes place in my home and probably in yours." He was addressing a rather discomfited young assistant district attorney.

It boiled up into quite a to-do. Matching the magistrate's scorn, City Treasurer Francis Pastorius, a Republican, told Mayor Joseph Sill Clark, a Democrat, that it was a "comic opera pinch" and a waste of police time.

The police themselves were sorry. But they said they had to make the arrests yesterday because several of the women's husbands—or maybe just one husband who kept repeating himself—had complained to the police commissioner and the district attorney about the women's weekly card games.

Whoever complained, police said, "called it gambling and wanted it stopped, but an even bigger gripe was that the card games were messing up the evening meal. On canasta day the men had to wait a long time for supper or else make do with leftovers or stuff out of a can or a carton."

The magistrate was unmoved. He summed up the facts — nine women, ranging in age from 34 to 52, a pack of canasta cards and $12 on a dining room table.

Smiling sympathetically at the women, the magistrate shot at Detective Raymond Dailey: "Did you see any activity in the room?"

The assistant district attorney suggested the hostess should be held for trial.

"You ... Hold her for court!" Daly spluttered. "You'd better go to several hundred thousand other houses in Philadelphia where there's gambling for money.

"As far as I'm concerned, this was just a card game in the home. All discharged."

Three Victims Of London Strangler Are Identified

LONDON, March 26 (AP) — Scotland Yard detectives said tonight the first of four women to be murdered in a strangler's lair in the shabby Notting Hill district was Mrs. John Christie, 45, wife of a clerk who is the object of a nation-wide manhunt.

The detectives established the identity of three of the victims today. They believe Mrs. Christie was killed just before Christmas. A wire or thin rope choked out her life.

Then the other three were lured into the squalid, paint-peeled apartment on a dead end street. No one who is talking knows why they went into that area of squalor, poverty and vice.

One was Miss Hectorina MacLennan, 25, a servant girl missing from her home for more than a month.

Another was Miss Kathleen Maloney, 19, an orphan with fingernails and toe nails painted scarlet.

The fourth body may be that of an Irish girl.

One of the victims was believed to be six months pregnant, but Scotland Yard did not name her.

By patient plodding, the detectives determined the approximate time of the murders. Mrs. Christie's body was found stuffed under the floor-boards of the front room. The strangler may have gotten the last victim only three weeks ago.

But the detectives have found no motive. Robbery has been largely ruled out. Another puzzle is how the three younger women could have gone into the building without being noticed by any of the other residents living on the seedy street.

Throughout Britain police searched for Christie, the owl-eyed clerk, 55. He had lived in the apartment for 15 years and was seen there as recently as last Friday. Now he has vanished. Another man, a prospective tenant, found three of the bodies screened behind wallpaper, in a pantry and called police.

too much. They were going to kill me.

"They were talking about me and they tried to give me a shot last night that would kill me. ... I lost my mind."

Rucero, a farm laborer and cannery worker, said he had been in the sanatorium eight months. He told detectives he had had the knife in his bag there ever since he became a patient.

Market Suffers Late Setback As Steels, Motors Go Down

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—The Stock Market suffered a late afternoon setback today after a quiet and somewhat higher beginning. Steels, motors and railroads led the downturn.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 50 cents at $114.50 as volume totaled two million shares. Yesterday, the average dipped 30 cents as dealings amounted to 2,320,000 shares.

An underlying reason for the market's weakness was the Chrysler announcement yesterday cutting prices on each of its auto models an average of $100. Chrysler fell nearly three points yesterday. Today the stock was erratic: up 1⅜ during the morning, off a point while the tape was late, and off ⅛ at 84½ at the close.

Bache & Co., stock exchange firm, referring to the Chrysler price cuts, said "With production of automobiles likely to reach a total of 1,510,000 units in the first quarter of this year, and the expectation of even greater volume for the second quarter, supply may conceivably become too great for normal consumer demand in coming months.

"While it is a bit too early to suggest other heavy durable industries may run into similar problems, nevertheless such an eventual problem should receive some consideration by prudent investors this spring," the investment house concludes.

Swimming against the tide were Boeing up 1 at 47, American Cynamid up ¾ at 51½, Gulf Oil ⅝ at 50, Radio Corp ⅜ at 27¾, Standard Oil (NJ) ¼ at 73¾, and Consolidated Edison ¼ at 39⅞.

In the AP averages today, industrials lost 70 cents, railroads were 50 cents lower and utilities slipped 10 cents.

Draftees To Get School Diplomas

Allegany County high school students called for induction before graduation will complete their education in the armed forces.

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator of Selective Service headquarters here, reiterated that local students are not drafted until after they reach their twentieth birthday.

A directive from Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state SS director, states that "students may complete courses required for graduation from any county high school through the United States Armed Forces Institute after entering service".

Principals have received instructions to accept USAFI credits as satisfying the requirements for graduation.

Recently, Fahey's office has been swamped with complaints about the drafting of high school seniors before they are awarded diplomas. However, attaches must abide by SS regulations.

Three Fort Hill High School students are scheduled to leave next month for military service. Others from various area schools already are in the Army.

Thirty-seven registrants in Draft Boards 27 and 28 will report tomorrow in Baltimore for pre-induction physical examinations. The contingent will leave the Union Street County Building at 7 a. m. via bus.

Local Woman's Poem Will Be Published

Group Hears UN Forum

The United Nations Club of Allegany High School Wednesday presented a forum on the purpose and workings of the various agencies of the UN at a luncheon meeting of the Sisterhood of B'er Chayim Congregation in the vestry room of the temple.

Members of the club who participated in the discussion included Bernard Beerman, moderator; Barbara Nicholls, Edmund Goldman, Peggy Dye, June Laber and Douglas Houck.

The Allegany group was accompanied by Miss Margaret Baker, faculty advisor to the club. Miss Baker announced that Goldman, a junior student, yesterday took an examination on the United Nations as part of a national contest on that organization. The winner will be awarded a trip to Europe.

Mrs. Joseph Goldman, president, presided at the Sisterhood meeting and Mrs. Simon Rosenbaum was program chairman. The luncheon committee was composed of Mrs. Maurice Milberg, chairman, Mrs. Maurice Friedland, Mrs. Arthur Friedland, Mrs. Albert Feldman, Mrs. Michael Beerman, Mrs. Sol Glicksman and Mrs. Samuel Wertheimer.

Music For "Kiss Me, Kate" Composed By Cole Porter

The musical score for "Kiss Me, Kate," which comes to the stage of the Fort Hill High School Auditorium for one performance on April 10, was composed by Cole Porter, one of America's top ranking and most prolific composers.

For "Kiss Me, Kate," he has written what many consider his finest scores. Not only are the melodies ear filling but the lyrics are among the most original and sophisticated of his works. Hit tunes that will be remembered long after leaving the theater are "Wunderbar," "So in Love with You," "Too Darn Hot" and "Why Can't You Behave."

The hilarious book for "Kiss Me, Kate" was written by Bella and Samuel Spewack who are best remembered for their stage production of "Boy Meets Girl" which dissected Hollywood. This play was later made into a motion picture.

Kiss Me, Kate" describes the Baltimore opening of a revival of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew." The show alternates between 20th Century sophistication and Elizabethan jests as the sparkling tunes of Porter and the crackling wit of the Spewack's unfold the story.

The Optimist Club of Cumberland is sponsoring "Kiss Me, Kate" here in conjunction with the Civic Drama Guild of New York. All seats for the one performance are reserved and may be secured by phoning I. N. Evans, 851 Gephart Drive, phone 4511. Over 1,900 tickets have been sold to date with many reservations coming from out of town. As has been the case in all previous stands of this fabulous musical, a sell-out is expected well before the date of performance.

Oak Wilt Meet Slated Monday

A meeting will be held Monday in Baltimore by representatives of a number of states on the oak wilt disease problem. William H. Johnson, district forester, will attend.

The session has been arranged by the Eastern Plant Board, an association of foresters and pathologist. The meeting is scheduled for the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

Among the topics to be discussed are "Status of Research," "Results of Surveys," "What Has Been Done in Regulatory Aspects of the Problems," "What Has Been Accomplished in Control Work." The last topic concerns work done in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Among the experts who will speak at the meeting are L. O. Weaver, of the University of Maryland; F. L. Guyton, of Pennsylvania and F. W. Craig, of Charleston, W. Va..

Johnson said plans are being made for another aerial survey of Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties this spring to determine where any new oak wilt outbreaks have occurred. During surveys last year there were 18 locations where the disease was found.

The oak wilt disease has caused much anxiety among foresters and those interested in the timber industry. Oak is one of the most prevalent types of wood in the state and the control program is aimed at wiping out the disease, or at least checking it until it can finally be eradicated, Johnson said.

Draftees To Get School Diplomas

Allegany County high school students called for induction before graduation will complete their education in the armed forces.

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator of Selective Service headquarters here, reiterated that local students are not drafted until after they reach their twentieth birthday.

A directive from Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state SS director, states that "students may complete courses required for graduation from any county high school through the United States Armed Forces Institute after entering service".

Principals have received instructions to accept USAFI credits as satisfying the requirements for graduation.

Recently, Fahey's office has been swamped with complaints about the drafting of high school seniors before they are awarded diplomas. However, attaches must abide by SS regulations.

Three Fort Hill High School students are scheduled to leave next month for military service. Others from various area schools already are in the Army.

Thirty-seven registrants in Draft Boards 27 and 28 will report tomorrow in Baltimore for pre-induction physical examinations. The contingent will leave the Union Street County Building at 7 a. m. via bus.

Group Hears UN Forum

The United Nations Club of Allegany High School Wednesday presented a forum on the purpose and workings of the various agencies of the UN at a luncheon meeting of the Sisterhood of B'er Chayim Congregation in the vestry room of the temple.

Members of the club who participated in the discussion included Bernard Beerman, moderator; Barbara Nicholls, Edmund Goldman, Peggy Dye, June Laber and Douglas Houck.

The Allegany group was accompanied by Miss Margaret Baker, faculty advisor to the club. Miss Baker announced that Goldman, a junior student, yesterday took an examination on the United Nations as part of a national contest on that organization. The winner will be awarded a trip to Europe.

Mrs. Joseph Goldman, president, presided at the Sisterhood meeting and Mrs. Simon Rosenbaum was program chairman. The luncheon committee was composed of Mrs. Maurice Milberg, chairman, Mrs. Maurice Friedland, Mrs. Arthur Friedland, Mrs. Albert Feldman, Mrs. Michael Beerman, Mrs. Sol Glicksman and Mrs. Samuel Wertheimer.

Music For "Kiss Me, Kate" Composed By Cole Porter

The musical score for "Kiss Me, Kate," which comes to the stage of the Fort Hill High School Auditorium for one performance on April 10, was composed by Cole Porter, one of America's top ranking and most prolific composers.

For "Kiss Me, Kate," he has written what many consider his finest scores. Not only are the melodies ear filling but the lyrics are among the most original and sophisticated of his works. Hit tunes that will be remembered long after leaving the theater are "Wunderbar," "So in Love with You," "Too Darn Hot" and "Why Can't You Behave."

The hilarious book for "Kiss Me, Kate" was written by Bella and Samuel Spewack who are best remembered for their stage production of "Boy Meets Girl" which dissected Hollywood. This play was later made into a motion picture.

Kiss Me, Kate" describes the Baltimore opening of a revival of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew." The show alternates between 20th Century sophistication and Elizabethan jests as the sparkling tunes of Porter and the crackling wit of the Spewack's unfold the story.

The Optimist Club of Cumberland is sponsoring "Kiss Me, Kate" here in conjunction with the Civic Drama Guild of New York. All seats for the one performance are reserved and may be secured by phoning I. N. Evans, 851 Gephart Drive, phone 4511. Over 1,000 tickets have been sold to date with many reservations coming from out of town. As has been the case in all previous stands of this fabulous musical, a sell-out is expected well before the date of performance.

Oak Wilt Meet Slated Monday

A meeting will be held Monday in Baltimore by representatives of a number of states on the oak wilt disease problem. William H. Johnson, district forester, will attend.

The session has been arranged by the Eastern Plant Board, an association of foresters and pathologist. The meeting is scheduled for the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

Among the topics to be discussed are "Status of Research," "Results of Surveys," "What Has Been Done in Regulatory Aspects of the Problems," "What Has Been Accomplished in Control Work." The last topic concerns work done in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Among the experts who will speak at the meeting are L. O. Weaver, of the University of Maryland; F. L. Guyton, of Pennsylvania and F. W. Craig, of Charleston, W. Va.,

Johnson said plans are being made for another aerial survey of Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties this spring to determine where any new oak wilt outbreaks have occurred. During surveys last year there were 18 locations where the disease was found.

The oak wilt disease has caused much anxiety among foresters and those interested in the timber industry. Oak is one of the most prevalent types of wood in the state and the control program is aimed at wiping out the disease, or at least checking it until it can finally be eradicated, Johnson said.

Government Waterways

An administration pledged to "get the government out of business" can be expected to move swiftly to get the government out of the specific business of barge transportation on the Missouri, Mississippi and Warrior rivers. Especially when in this field the government is competing with private interests, when the government activity is running at a loss, and when one of the government corporation's assets is a steel, twin-screw Diesel towboat named the Harry Truman.

The organization in question is the Inland Waterways Corporation, with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., which runs the Federal Barge line. Last year the line lost $325,168. In 1951 (fiscal) it had shown a profit of $81,735. But actually, the line fared well only during the 1930s. Despite tax advantages, the line rolled up an aggregate deficit of $5.5 million in the years from 1924 to 1948.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks, charged by law with supervising the corporation, wants to sell it to private interests. In the not unlikely event that there are no buyers, Weeks says he would favor liquidation.

The Transportation Act of 1920, by which the government relinquished World War I control of the railroads, kept the government in the business of operating "boats, barges, tugs, and other transportation facilities on the inland, canal, and coastwise waterways."

An act of Congress of 1924 established the Inland Waterways Corporation to further the inland water transportation policy of the Transportation Act. That policy was "to promote, encourage, and develop water transportation, service, and facilities in connection with the commerce of the United States, and to foster and preserve in full vigor both rail and water transportation."

The 1924 act aimed at developing an inland water network, with "navigable channels and adequate terminals." When that was achieved, the corporation or its facilities could be sold or leased, except that no such transaction was to be entered into with "any carrier by rail or . . . any person or company directly or indirectly connected with any carrier by rail." The capital stock of the corporation was to be $15 million, held by the secretary of the Treasury.

A reorganization plan of President F. D. Roosevelt in July 1939 transferred the corporation from the War Department to the Department of Commerce. "This corporation," Roosevelt said in the message transmitting his plan, "should be co-ordinated with the administration of other aids to commerce and industry."

Even then there was agitation against government operation of barge lines. Representative Rich (R., Pa.) took the floor of the House on June 20, 1939, to declare: "The government operates and owns the Inland Waterways Corporation; they frank their mail; the government gives them office space; the government owns all the stock and they pay nothing for the use of the money; the government makes the right-of-way by building locks and dams in the river; they get many gratuities; they make their own rates. . . . It is not fair, it is not just; it is not what our government is set up for. Get the government out of business."

At least in stimulating water transportation the corporation has succeeded. More than a hundred private companies compete with the Federal Barge line.

The Three A's

A letter to the editor of a metropolitan newspaper points out that children need discipline, which would not have been considered a newsworthy thought several decades ago. It agreed with a psychiatrist that children all need "attention, affection and acceptance," but not at the expense of discipline or as a substitute for it.

Parents are in revolt against the guilt and uncertainty which poorly expressed psychiatrist theories have imposed on them. They are doing the best they can, most of them, and they do not like being told that anything that goes wrong is the parents' fault.

The revolt is probably unfair to psychiatrists and educators with a similar viewpoint. Few if any of them are opposed to discipline. There is no reason why a child cannot have good manners, respect property and other people's rights, and still get all the "attention, acceptance and affection" he needs. Actually the two are complementary. Affection and discipline both contribute to a child's sense of security. Affection without discipline is as bad as discipline without affection.

There was a time when some psychiatrists and educators put all the stress on affection. A generation or two ago, many parents and teachers were unnecessarily severe. They had the foolish idea that too much affection "spoiled" a child.

Child experts were not always aware of how important discipline is to a child's sense of security, but they were right in concluding that most children got too much discipline and too little affection. So they threw their weight on the other side.

Today, a balance is being struck. Children know they need guidance, and sometimes punishment.

But affection is still the primary need—for adults as well as for children. The child—or the adult—who is loved, wanted and respected will rarely need harsh treatment to keep him in line. Human rights are not for adults only.

Lost And Found

Apochryphal stories told and retold of the teeming government buildings in wartime—remember the one about the Air Force second lieutenant who reported to the Pentagon for a one-day assignment and staggered out eight months later a bird colonel?—apparently have their true counterparts.

A news story now recounts the saga of the State Department employe who "lost" his way reporting for work in 1950, and was "found" again only last year. Apparently this fellow had succeeded in getting on the payroll as an information specialist (government jargon for press agent) and never did show up in the bureau to which he was assigned.

Nevertheless, he was on the payroll for two full years until some unknown hero in the administrative branch at the State Department discovered the howler. Even then the man stayed on, on a part-time basis, and according to testimony submitted to Senator McCarthy's Investigations subcommittee, used his old office to write a book. He was permanently removed a few day ago.

Unless he comes up with a new gimmick, that is. Don't be surprised to read that the government has been forced to take him back because he has Civil Service "rights," or something.

"My Baby Is Sick"

It is easy to tell when a baby is ill but how sick the youngster is and whether immediate attention is necessary are more difficult to determine. This is one of the reasons why physicians spend years learning their business. But even the best make a mistake now and then by recommending home care when the tike should be sent to the hospital.

Many decisions of this type must be made in the middle of the night in response to a call from frantic parents. The youngster with fever is the usual problem and the list of probable causes, in order of frequency, include the common cold, tonsilitis, and other respiratory infections; ears disorders; and measles. In girls, inflammation of the kidneys is relatively frequent. None of these conditions is a 2 a. m. emergency but the physician would rather be called despite his reluctance to awaken from a sound sleep and crawl out of his nice warm bed. The medical profession cannot expect parents to be the judge and to assume the repsonsibility. Furthermore, it is reassuring to know the source of the sickness, more so when the outlook is good.

It may help some mothers to know that the height of the temperature is not a good criterion of the seriousness of the disorder. Children usually have more fever than adults do for comparable diseases. Moreover, many of the severest infections are accompanied by little rise in temperature. Convulsions are a more common cause of alarm, especially when they occur in the middle of the night. There is no need to be disturbed when a high temperature co-exists because fever in itself may bring on muscular twitchings. As a rule it is easier to control convulsions than to find their origin. There is always the outside chance that the little tike has a brain tumor, hemorrhage, or epilepsy. These exceptions to the rule are mentioned, not to frighten parents but to stress the importance of a thoro examination.

Coma also represents an emergency and the causes vary from diabetes to brain injury. Poisoning always should be taken into consideration, particularly when the child has access to medicines or household items like kerosene oil. When the victim's skin turns blue the parents have reason for alarm unless the occurrence is transient. The same can be said when the bronchial tubes are obstructed; a brassy cough or croupiness is typical of what occurs in the circumstances. Thick mucus of any type will do the same. But should the baby begin coughing in this manner in the living room, out of sight of the mother working in the kitchen, there is a possibility that he has inhaled a foreign body.

Pain is more difficulty to evaluate. The youngster may be hungry or have colic, conditions which are easy to correct. An infected ear is a distressing disturbance, as well as abdominal disorders such as appendicitis or strangulated hernia. Occasionally a child falls and breaks a bone but because he cannot talk, he cannot complain. Babies rarely cry without reason and the tears are worth investigating. When it is obvious that the usual causes are not playing a role, more competent help must be obtained.

TISSUE STUDY

H. B. writes: How is a biopsy done?

REPLY

Various methods are used, depending upon the location of the tumor in question. In biopsy of the skin, for example, a lcoal anesthetic is employed and a small piece of tissue is removed through a tiny incision. Biopsy of a lung tumor requires a special cutting instrument which is passed through a bronchoscope. The tissue is sent to the laboratory and is prepared for staining and microscopic study.

Greeks Rebuilt Merchant Fleet With Cheap American Liberty Ships; Wealthy Greek Shipowners Now Haul Contraband To Countries Behind Iron Curtain

WASHINGTON — In May 1951, nearly two years ago, this column revealed that certain greedy Greek shipowners who bought American Liberty ships on a shoestring, sailed them under a dozen different flags to escape taxes, then repaid Ameican generosity by hauling contraband goods to our enemies behind the iron curtain. This is the same Greece which the U.S.A. supported to the tune of over a billion dollars in order to block communism.

Reason this country sold the ships at knockdown prices was to help the struggling Greeks rebuild their merchant fleet and restore their war-wrecked economy. Instead, the highhanded Tsaldaris government turned the ships over to a few private friends who lived in the St. Moritz Hotel in New York, paid practically no Greek taxes, and transferred most of the ships to Panamanian and Honduran flags.

These money-minded Greeks then proceeded to grow fat and wealthy on the postwar boom and forbidden trade with the enemy. They parlayed their shoestring fleet into one of the world's largest, and lived like potentates in New York, London and Buenos Aires.

Probably the largest Greek shipowner to become a postwar millionaire at Uncle Sam's expense is Starvros G. Livanos. This column revealed on May 14, 1951, how he finagled enough certificates from the Greek government to buy 12 bargain-rate Liberty ships by making a paltry down-payment of $21,780 per ship. The Maritime Administration still holds the mortgage on 11 of these vessels, which have been steaming regularly into Communist ports all the time Livanos has been paying the U. S. Government for them..

This column also listed in 1951 a number of dummy corporations in England and Panama, used by Livanos to acquire several more Liberty ships. Usually, his financial interest was obscured, as in the case of the Compania Internacional de Vapores, a Panamanian shipping company, which bought a number of ships through front men who were Amreican citizens. This company, for instance, was chiefly owned by S. S. Niarchos, who turned out to a son-in-law of Livanos.

Trading With Reds

At least 28 of Livanos' American-bought ships have been spotted entering or leaving Communist ports. For example the W. B. Rodgers, renamed the Akti, unloaded contraband cargo at the Russian-controlled port of Dairen, Manchuria, in June 1951, and made another trip to the Chinese Communist port of Tsingtao in July 1952. Yet the United States still held a $280,500 mortgage on the ship at this time.

Another Livanos ship, the Alexander Wilson, renamed the Alfios, also entered Dairen in June 1951, and again in September 1951, while it was under $280,500 mortgage to the United States. Still another, the James Ives, rechristened the Axios, not only stopped off at Dairen in March 1951, but actually delivered war goods to Russia, itself, dropping anchor at the Black Sea ports of Novorossisk in May 1952, and Odessa in June 1952.

The Livanos-owned Nestos, formerly the Mary Lyon, made calls at Dairen in April 1951; Novorossisk in May 1952; Constantza, Romania, in June 1952; and Tsingtao, China, in December 1952. The same ports were visited by the Pinios, formerly the Robert L. Hague, which steamed into Dairen in April 1951; Tsingtao in April 1952; and Constantza in October 1952.

Livanos also sailed several other ships into Manchurian ports with supplies for the Chinese Communist army. Some of these ships were still mortgaged to the United States, such as the former Dudley M. Hughes, Joshua A. Leach, Erastus Smith, and Louis Joliet.

Another Greek

Another fabulous Greek shipper, exposed two years ago by this column, was Manuel Kulkundis, who started with four of the original Liberty ships and built up a far-flung shipping empire that stretched to Panama, Canada, Britain and the United States. Kulkundis' record is nearly as bad as Livanos'.

For example, the United States still held a $310,700 mortgage on Kulkundis' ship Hadiotis, formerly the St. James M. Courts, while it was delivering contraband cargo to such iron curtain ports as Odessa, Russia, in July 1950; Gdansk, Poland, in September 1950; Gdynia, Poland, in December 1950; and Novorossisk, Russia, in November 1951.

These same ports were visited regularly by other Kulkundis ships still under U. S. mortgage, including the former J. Maurice Thompson and Josiah Cohen. Kulkundis also owed this country $306,000 on the John F. Myers, renamed the Santorini, while it was sailing to Dairen and Tsingtao with supplies for the Chinese Reds.

This column also put the finger on several other get-rich-quick Greek shippers, including John M. Carras and Constantine Hadjipateras, who bought Liberty ships on credit from us, then used them to visit Red ports.

Under the mortgage contract, this government cannot reclaim the ships unless the Greeks miss a payment. And the Greeks, now making money hand-over-fist, are careful to miss no payments.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Group Opinion

I was arguing with an editor about the Bohlen nomination and we both stopped short as we came up with the central trouble of personnel in a free society. Men like Stalin or Hitler never are involved with such problems: they make the decisions and then try to find the men to carry them out. If a man fails, he might get killed for the failure.

In a free society, everything is achieved by the compromises which are inevitable in the pursuit of a meeting of the minds among many on a team, or on a group of teams, or even with the opposition. This is what we are now experiencing in Washington, with the added feature that the emphasis is on group decisions. All sorts of advisory committees seem to be organized for the purpose of analyzing data and advising the President.

Part of this function is the proper authority of Congress under the Constitution; the responsibility for decision rests solely on the President, no matter who advises him. Yet, the tendency to find a meeting of the minds is so marked that General Eisenhower may go down in American history as "The Great Compromiser," just as Lincoln has come down as "the Great Emancipator."

Perhaps because the Republicans have so narrow a majority in both the Senate and the House, the administration tends to seek compromses with the Democrats to avoid an actual defeat on a measure, particularly in the Senate where the shift of two votes could defeat any Republican proposal.

For instance, the Republican party has been denouncing the inhumanity of Yalta for eight years. Every Republican orator promised that once his party came into power, something would be done about the obnoxious decisions made at that conference. President Eisenhower supported a resolution of denunciation and one was actually prepared by the State Department. It was so written that the Democrats could have accepted it, which meant it was watered down so as not to repudiate Roosevelt, Truman, Marshall and Acheson. In other words, it was meaningless. Naturally, the Republicans rejected so complete a repudiation of their history and platform. The resolution was permitted to die.

In the matter of Charles E. Bohlen's appointment as ambassador to Soviet Russia, the opposition to him among Republicans ran about 75 per cent. The reasons are many, but cannot be discussed in this article because the evidence is not available to me at the moment of writing and I decline, in this column, to devote myself to recriminations about individuals unless provable data are at hand. "Undoubtedly much of it will come out sooner or later.

The rejection of Bohlen could have been a repudiation of the methods, procedures, and personnel of the State Department under Roosevelt and Truman. The Democrats therefore fought for Bohlen; the Republicans were faced by an immediate attack on General Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for their compromises. Republican leadership is not ready to do this or to meet such a fight with a majority of only one. The Republican party, therefore, bowed to the wishes of the Democrats and to the principle of compromise.

In the matter of Great Britain, something was agreed upon concerning aid to Britain in some new form. What it is is being kept a deep, dark secret. But a committee on the subject has been appointed, headed by Lewis Douglas, a Democrat, who served under both Roosevelt and Truman. He has been ambassador to Great Britain and was so extraordinarily popular that it might be said that not since Walter Hines Page has any American been regarded as so wonderful a friend of the British.

Undoubtedly this was a masterful achievement. Yet, when a Republican President appoints a committee to "re-examine the nation's foreign economic policy and recommend changes required to strengthen the free world," the Republicans would prefer one of their own and not one so closely associated with the British.

Perhaps they should be satisfied with Douglas because of his outstanding ability, as they might be satisfied with Bohlen because of his proficiency in the Russian language. Actually they are wearying of comporomises in principle and personnel and an explosion might be expected any day. That it has not happened thus far is due to Senator Robert A. Taft and General Wilton B. Persons, the President's congressional liaison.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The American system of free competition has been vindicated not only by the removal of government controls but by the announcement that one large motorcar manufacturer, without regard to what its competitors might do, has boldly reduced prices.

For many years now the American people have had it dinned in their ears that American industry is controlled by trusts which fix prices and that a few large companies, by dominating the field control the market for their products. Democrats have inveighed against what they called 'oligopoly" and demagogues in trade-union forums have denounced large business as monopolistic.

The demonstration which the Chrysler Corporation has just given effectively refutes any such argument. For the announcement of a price decrease does not necessarily mean that all companies will follow suit, though some of them may do so. This would not be the first time that a price reduction by one manufacturer has been met with the statement by others that its own products were already low enough or in line with the market.

Higher Prices Not Inevitable

The significance of the Chrysler action is that the public generally has been asked to believe, ever since price controls were imposed a decade or more ago, that removal of restrictions on price or output necessarily leads to higher prices to the consumer. Again and again the Democratic administrations have insisted on retaining laws to continue price restrictions so as really to influence the course of the economy while opponents have argued for freedom from such restraints.

Today, as most of the controls are being lifted, there are some products and raw materials which have gone up slightly in price while others have come down. Sometimes price rises are necessary after controls are lifted so as to correct inequities in the cost picture which couldn't be cured under controls. But, in the long run, prices are brought down as efficiency with new machinery makes quantity production less and less expensive. Obviously the Chrysler company thinks it can sell more cars at the lower prices than it did when output was limited by government control.

But the true importance of the price reduction by the Chrysler Corporation is that it emphasizes the return of a supply-and-demand situation in America. This is the healthiest sign that has appeared on the business horizon for many years. It is an application of the basic principle that no monopoly should be permitted to hold up the consumer by a concerted arrangement of competitors to fix prices. Unfortunately, there are monopolistic factors that are not covered by law. Thus, a nation-wide bargaining instrument in the form of a big labor union nowadays can, in effect, fix the price of important products by fixing the labor costs. The larger companies can absorb the extra expense, but the smaller ones often cannot. Yet they are expected to pay the same rates of wages as the bigger fellows. This results in forcing smaller companies to beg the larger ones to take them over, and that's one way competition is cut down.

The automobile industry is a sharply competitive industry and in its history many large companies have been built out of smaller ones while still others have fallen by the wayside. The entry of new competitors has also been proved possible in the auto industry notwithstanding the leadership of a few large companies. The Kaiser-Frazer Company entered the field in recent years and only this week purchased the Willys-Overland Company, thus making the combined operation larger and more efficient than either of the predecessor companies had been before.

Some Support State Monopoly

The argument for the capitalistic system—namely, that it produces goods at low cost to the consumer, pays high wages, and gives individual initiative a chance to be rewarded — is bitterly attacked not only by Communists here and abroad but by radicals in America and Socialists in Britain who argue that a state monopoly is more desirable than a privately owned system.

The effort to bring about a system of public ownership of certain industries, which has succeeded in part in Great Britain, has been for many decades sponsored by so-called liberal and radical groups in America, too. Indeed a movement to take over the steel industry has had support inside the Democratic administration from officials who threatened that unless the steel companies increased their plants, they might find the government doing it for them. Steel capacity has been increased by the industry itself in the last few years under government pressure, but it remains to be seen whether idle plants built at high cost will plague the industry as it tries to bring its prices down when demand falls off.

There is no effective substitute for a freely operated competitive economy.

Matter Of Fact

Those Security Files

WASHINGTON

The strange case of Charles E. Bohlen has highlighted several ugly things about the American government. One of these is the kind of stuff that gets into government security files.

Senator Joseph R. McCarthy hastily lied his way out of this side of his case at the last moment, declaring that he had never opposed Bohlen's confirmation as ambassador to Moscow on security grounds. Only a few days earlier, when asked if he regarded Bohlen as a security risk, McCarthy characteristically declared "That's putting it too weak."

McCarthy further hinted that he had heard all about the Bohlen security file from his friend, the new State Department security officer, R. W. Scott McLeod. It seems to be established that McLeod was genuinely guilty, in this instance, of leaking some sort of poisonous story to McCarthy.

Senator Taft has now supplied the appropriate commentary on the Bohlen security file. One of the very few items unfavorable to Bohlen was a letter from a State Department stenographer who claimed that she had felt her "sixth sense" sending out alarm signals on the one brief occasion when she had taken dictation from Bohlen.

Far from being inserted in a high officer's security file, this sort of sick-minded poison pen letter ought to have caused a security investigation of the writer. But as these reporters happen to be able to testify, the method of compiling security files can be a bit odd, at times.

Brother Led Guerrillas

These reporters have a brother, John de Koven Alsop by name, who seems to them as good a security risk as you could wish. In wartime he was an OSS parachutist, jumping behind the enemy lines in both France and China. In China, he led an anti-Communist, anti-Japanese guerrilla group, and had a price put on the head of "the huge American with the mustache" by both sets of enemies.

In peacetime, he is a Connecticut Republican—he served as vice chairman of the Connecticut Eisenhower movement before the last Republican convention. He was already a Republican member of the Connecticut Legislature when he agreed to apply for a temporary reserve civilian status in intelligence work, some years ago.

The application was refused, on security grounds. With great difficulty, the reasons were ascertained. They consisted of reports by two government security agents. The first agent had not got the name quite right. He had first invented a new personality, "John de Koven." He had then included, under "derogatory information," the claim that this non-existent citizen was "probably the brother or close relative" of another Mr. de Koven who had, it seems, been a member of Henry A. Wallace's Progressive party.

The second agent had at least got the name right. As his derogatory information he noted accurately that John de Koven Alsop was "probably the brother or close relative" of Joseph and Stewart Alsop. He added darkly that Joseph and Stewart Alsop were listed in the files of the House Un-American Activities Committee, as the authors of a Saturday Evening Post article, "Will the CIO Kick the Commies Out?" All the second agent omitted was the not altogether meaningless fact that this was a profoundly anti-Communist article. The House committee was using it as helpful source material on the Communist danger in the labor movement.

System Not Foolproof

By shameless influence, brother John was cleared. By the same method, one of these reporters narrowly escaped detention on the Gripsholm, when checked for security on his return from a Japanese prison camp. He was sternly accused of having joined the British army. Sharp suspicions were aroused by his bewildered insistence that he had been a member of General C. L. Chennault's "Flying Tigers," which were markedly non-British. Actually, his brother and present partner had indeed joined a British infantry regiment, having been repeatedly rejected by all the American services on medical grounds, but this fact had not filtered through to the Japanese prison camp.

The day was barely saved, and the suspected one permitted to set foot on his native shores, by the intervention of a highly placed friend. Apparently a special government agent had found it impossible to distinguish between two citizens of the same surname, in the extremely small town of Avon, Conn.

Two such incidents in a single family at least suggest that the existing security system is not foolproof. The letter from the stenographer with the "sixth sense" further suggests that in some respects the system is plain foolish. The FBI cannot properly be blamed. It does not do the whole job—it had no part in brother John's case—and it is ridiculously overburdened as a result of security-mania. Yet it is in order to consider some sensible reform of the security system.

Government Waterways

An administration pledged to "get the government out of business" can be expected to move swiftly to get the government out of the specific business of barge transportation on the Missouri, Mississippi and Warrior rivers. Especially when in this field the government is competing with private interests, when the government activity is running at a loss, and when one of the government corporation's assets is a steel, twin-screw Diesel towboat named the Harry Truman.

The organization in question is the Inland Waterways Corporation, with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., which runs the Federal Barge line. Last year the line lost $325,168. In 1951 (fiscal) it had shown a profit of $81,735. But actually, the line fared well only during the 1930s. Despite tax advantages, the line rolled up an aggregate deficit of $5.5 million in the years from 1924 to 1948.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks, charged by law with supervising the corporation, wants to sell it to private interests. In the not unlikely event that there are no buyers, Weeks says he would favor liquidation.

The Transportation Act of 1920, by which the government relinquished World War I control of the railroads, kept the government in the business of operating "boats, barges, tugs, and other transportation facilities on the inland, canal, and coastwise waterways."

An act of Congress of 1924 established the Inland Waterways Corporation to further the inland water transportation policy of the Transportation Act. That policy was "to promote, encourage, and develop water transportation, service, and facilities in connection with the commerce of the United States, and to foster and preserve in full vigor both rail and water transportation."

The 1924 act aimed at developing an inland water network, with "navigable channels and adequate terminals." When that was achieved, the corporation or its facilities could be sold or leased, except that no such transaction was to be entered into with "any carrier by rail or . . . any person or company directly or indirectly connected with any carrier by rail." The capital stock of the corporation was to be $15 million, held by the secretary of the Treasury.

A reorganization plan of President F. D. Roosevelt in July 1939 transferred the corporation from the War Department to the Department of Commerce. "This corporation," Roosevelt said in the message transmitting his plan, "should be co-ordinated with the administration of other aids to commerce and industry."

Even then there was agitation against government operation of barge lines. Representative Rich (R., Pa.) took the floor of the House on June 20, 1939, to declare: "The government operates and owns the Inland Waterways Corporation; they frank their mail; the government gives them office space; the government owns all the stock and they pay nothing for the use of the money; the government makes the right-of-way by building locks and dams in the river; they get many gratuities; they make their own rates. . . . It is not fair, it is not just; it is not what our government is set up for. Get the government out of business."

At least in stimulating water transportation the corporation has succeeded. More than a hundred private companies compete with the Federal Barge line.

The Three A's

A letter to the editor of a metropolitan newspaper points out that children need discipline, which would not have been considered a newsworthy thought several decades ago. It agreed with a psychiatrist that children all need "attention, affection and acceptance," but not at the expense of discipline or as a substitute for it.

Parents are in revolt against the guilt and uncertainty which poorly expressed psychiatrist theories have imposed on them. They are doing the best they can, most of them, and they do not like being told that anything that goes wrong is the parents' fault.

The revolt is probably unfair to psychiatrists and educators with a similar viewpoint. Few if any of them are opposed to discipline. There is no reason why a child cannot have good manners, respect property and other people's rights, and still get all the "attention, acceptance and affection" he needs. Actually the two are complementary. Affection and discipline both contribute to a child's sense of security. Affection without discipline is as bad as discipline without affection.

There was a time when some psychiatrists and educators put all the stress on affection. A generation or two ago, many parents and teachers were unnecessarily severe. They had the foolish idea that too much affection "spoiled" a child.

Child experts were not always aware of how important discipline is to a child's sense of security, but they were right in concluding that most children got too much discipline and too little affection. So they threw their weight on the other side.

Today, a balance is being struck. Children know they need guidance, and sometimes punishment.

But affection is still the primary need—for adults as well as for children. The child—or the adult—who is loved, wanted and respected will rarely need harsh treatment to keep him in line. Human rights are not for adults only.

Lost And Found

Apochryphal stories told and retold of the teeming government buildings in wartime—remember the one about the Air Force second lieutenant who reported to the Pentagon for a one-day assignment and staggered out eight months later a bird colonel?—apparently have their true counterparts.

A news story now recounts the saga of the State Department employe who "lost" his way reporting for work in 1950, and was "found" again only last year. Apparently this fellow had succeeded in getting on the payroll as an information specialist (government jargon for press agent) and never did show up in the bureau to which he was assigned.

Nevertheless, he was on the payroll for two full years until some unknown hero in the administrative branch at the State Department discovered the howler. Even then the man stayed on, on a part-time basis, and according to testimony submitted to Senator McCarthy's Investigations subcommittee, used his old office to write a book. He was permanently removed a few day ago.

Unless he comes up with a new gimmick, that is. Don't be surprised to read that the government has been forced to take him back because he has Civil Service "rights," or something.

"My Baby Is Sick"

It is easy to tell when a baby is ill but how sick the youngster is and whether immediate attention is necessary are more difficult to determine. This is one of the reasons why physicians spend years learning their business. But even the best make a mistake now and then by recommending home care when the tike should be sent to the hospital.

Many decisions of this type must be made in the middle of the night in response to a call from frantic parents. The youngster with fever is the usual problem and the list of probable causes, in order of frequency, include the common cold, tonsilitis, and other respiratory infections; ears disorders; and measles. In girls, inflammation of the kidneys is relatively frequent. None of these conditions is a 2 a. m. emergency but the physician would rather be called despite his reluctance to awaken from a sound sleep and crawl out of his nice warm bed. The medical profession cannot expect parents to be the judge and to assume the repsonsibility. Furthermore, it is reassuring to know the source of the sickness, more so when the outlook is good.

It may help some mothers to know that the height of the temperature is not a good criterion of the seriousness of the disorder. Children usually have more fever than adults do for comparable diseases. Moreover, many of the severest infections are accompanied by little rise in temperature. Convulsions are a more common cause of alarm, especially when they occur in the middle of the night. There is no need to be disturbed when a high temperature co-exists because fever in itself may bring on muscular twitchings. As a rule it is easier to control convulsions than to find their origin. There is always the outside chance that the little tike has a brain tumor, hemorrhage, or epilepsy. These exceptions to the rule are mentioned, not to frighten parents but to stress the importance of a thoro examination.

Coma also represents an emergency and the causes vary from diabetes to brain injury. Poisoning always should be taken into consideration, particularly when the child has access to medicines or household items like kerosene oil. When the victim's skin turns blue the parents have reason for alarm unless the occurrence is transient. The same can be said when the bronchial tubes are obstructed; a brassy cough or croupiness is typical of what occurs in the circumstances. Thick mucus of any type will do the same. But should the baby begin coughing in this manner in the living room, out of sight of the mother working in the kitchen, there is a possibility that he has inhaled a foreign body.

Pain is more difficulty to evaluate. The youngster may be hungry or have colic, conditions which are easy to correct. An infected ear is a distressing disturbance, as well as abdominal disorders such as appendicitis or strangulated hernia. Occasionally a child falls and breaks a bone but because he cannot talk, he cannot complain. Babies rarely cry without reason and the tears are worth investigating. When it is obvious that the usual causes are not playing a role, more competent help must be obtained.

TISSUE STUDY

H. B. writes: How is a biopsy done?

REPLY

Various methods are used, depending upon the location of the tumor in question. In biopsy of the skin, for example, a local anesthetic is employed and a small piece of tissue is removed through a tiny incision. Biopsy of a lung tumor requires a special cutting instrument which is passed through a bronchoscope. The tissue is sent to the laboratory and is prepared for staining and microscopic study.

Greeks Rebuilt Merchant Fleet With Cheap American Liberty Ships; Wealthy Greek Shipowners Now Haul Contraband To Countries Behind Iron Curtain

WASHINGTON — In May 1951, nearly two years ago, this column revealed that certain greedy Greek shipowners who bought American Liberty ships on a shoestring, sailed them under a dozen different flags to escape taxes, then repaid Ameican generosity by hauling contraband goods to our enemies behind the iron curtain. This is the same Greece which the U.S.A. supported to the tune of over a billion dollars in order to block communism.

Reason this country sold the ships at knockdown prices was to help the struggling Greeks rebuild their merchant fleet and restore their war-wrecked economy. Instead, the highhanded Tsaldaris government turned the ships over to a few private friends who lived in the St. Moritz Hotel in New York, paid practically no Greek taxes, and transferred most of the ships to Panamanian and Honduran flags.

These money-minded Greeks then proceeded to grow fat and wealthy on the postwar boom and forbidden trade with the enemy. They parlayed their shoestring fleet into one of the world's largest, and lived like potentates in New York, London and Buenos Aires.

Probably the largest Greek shipowner to become a postwar millionaire at Uncle Sam's expense is Starvros G. Livanos. This column revealed on May 14, 1951, how he finagled enough certificates from the Greek government to buy 12 bargain-rate Liberty ships by making a paltry down-payment of $21,780 per ship. The Maritime Administration still holds the mortgage on 11 of these vessels, which have been steaming regularly into Communist ports all the time Livanos has been paying the U. S. Government for them.

This column also listed in 1951 a number of dummy corporations in England and Panama, used by Livanos to acquire several more Liberty ships. Usually, his financial interest was obscured, as in the case of the Compania Internacional de Vapores, a Panamanian shipping company, which bought a number of ships through front men who were Amreican citizens. This company, for instance, was chiefly owned by S. S. Niarchos, who turned out to a son-in-law of Livanos.

Trading With Reds

At least 28 of Livanos' American-bought ships have been spotted entering or leaving Communist ports. For example the W. B. Rodgers, renamed the Akti, unloaded contraband cargo at the Russian-controlled port of Dairen, Manchuria, in June 1951, and made another trip to the Chinese Communist port of Tsingtao in July 1952. Yet the United States still held a $280,500 mortgage on the ship at this time.

Another Livanos ship, the Alexander Wilson, renamed the Alfios, also entered Dairen in June 1951, and again in September 1951, while it was under $280,500 mortgage to the United States. Still another, the James Ives, rechristened the Axios, not only stopped off at Dairen in March 1951, but actually delivered war goods to Russia, itself, dropping anchor at the Black Sea ports of Novorossisk in May 1952, and Odessa in June 1952.

The Livanos-owned Nestos, formerly the Mary Lyon, made calls at Dairen in April 1951; Novorossisk in May 1952; Constantza, Romania, in June 1952; and Tsingtao, China, in December 1952. The same ports were visited by the Pinios, formerly the Robert L. Hague, which steamed into Dairen in April 1951; Tsingtao in April 1952; and Constantza in October 1952.

Livanos also sailed several other ships into Manchurian ports with supplies for the Chinese Communist army. Some of these ships were still mortgaged to the United States, such as the former Dudley M. Hughes, Joshua A. Leach, Erastus Smith, and Louis Joliet.

Another Greek

Another fabulous Greek shipper, exposed two years ago by this column, was Manuel Kulkundis, who started with four of the original Liberty ships and built up a far-flung shipping empire that stretched to Panama, Canada, Britain and the United States. Kulkundis' record is nearly as bad as Livanos'.

For example, the United States still held a $310,700 mortgage on Kulkundis' ship Hadiotis, formerly the St. James M. Courts, while it was delivering contraband cargo to such iron curtain ports as Odessa, Russia, in July 1950; Gdansk, Poland, in September 1950; Gdynia, Poland, in December 1950; and Novorossisk, Russia, in November 1951.

These same ports were visited regularly by other Kulkundis ships still under U. S. mortgage, including the former J. Maurice Thompson and Josiah Cohen. Kulkundis also owed this country $306,000 on the John F. Myers, renamed the Santorini, while it was sailing to Dairen and Tsingtao with supplies for the Chinese Reds.

This column also put the finger on several other get-rich-quick Greek shippers, including John M. Carras and Constantine Hadjipateras, who bought Liberty ships on credit from us, then used them to visit Red ports.

Under the mortgage contract, this government cannot reclaim the ships unless the Greeks miss a payment. And the Greeks, now making money hand-over-fist, are careful to miss no payments.

These Days

Group Opinion

I was arguing with an editor about the Bohlen nomination and we both stopped short as we came up with the central trouble of personnel in a free society. Men like Stalin or Hitler never are involved with such problems: they make the decisions and then try to find the men to carry them out. If a man fails, he might get killed for the failure.

In a free society, everything is achieved by the compromises which are inevitable in the pursuit of a meeting of the minds among many on a team, or on a group of teams, or even with the opposition. This is what we are now experiencing in Washington, with the added feature that the emphasis is on group decisions. All sorts of advisory committees seem to be organized for the purpose of analyzing data and advising the President.

Part of this function is the proper authority of Congress under the Constitution; the responsibility for decision rests solely on the President, no matter who advises him. Yet, the tendency to find a meeting of the minds is so marked that General Eisenhower may go down in American history as "The Great Compromiser," just as Lincoln has come down as "the Great Emancipator."

Perhaps because the Republicans have so narrow a majority in both the Senate and the House, the administration tends to seek compromses with the Democrats to avoid an actual defeat on a measure, particularly in the Senate where the shift of two votes could defeat any Republican proposal.

For instance, the Republican party has been denouncing the inhumanity of Yalta for eight years. Every Republican orator promised that once his party came into power, something would be done about the obnoxious decisions made at that conference. President Eisenhower supported a resolution of denunciation and one was actually prepared by the State Department. It was so written that the Democrats could have accepted it, which meant it was watered down so as not to repudiate Roosevelt, Truman, Marshall and Acheson. In other words, it was meaningless. Naturally, the Republicans rejected so complete a repudiation of their history and platform. The resolution was permitted to die.

In the matter of Charles E. Bohlen's appointment as ambassador to Soviet Russia, the opposition to him among Republicans ran about 75 per cent. The reasons are many, but cannot be discussed in this article because the evidence is not available to me at the moment of writing and I decline, in this column, to devote myself to recriminations about individuals unless provable data are at hand. "Undoubtedly much of it will come out sooner or later.

The rejection of Bohlen could have been a repudiation of the methods, procedures, and personnel of the State Department under Roosevelt and Truman. The Democrats therefore fought for Bohlen; the Republicans were faced by an immediate attack on General Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for their compromises. Republican leadership is not ready to do this or to meet such a fight with a majority of only one. The Republican party, therefore, bowed to the wishes of the Democrats and to the principle of compromise.

In the matter of Great Britain, something was agreed upon concerning aid to Britain in some new form. What it is is being kept a deep, dark secret. But a committee on the subject has been appointed, headed by Lewis Douglas, a Democrat, who served under both Roosevelt and Truman. He has been ambassador to Great Britain and was so extraordinarily popular that it might be said that not since Walter Hines Page has any American been regarded as so wonderful a friend of the British.

Undoubtedly this was a masterful achievement. Yet, when a Republican President appoints a committee to "re-examine the nation's foreign economic policy and recommend changes required to strengthen the free world," the Republicans would prefer one of their own and not one so closely associated with the British.

Perhaps they should be satisfied with Douglas because of his outstanding ability, as they might be satisfied with Bohlen because of his proficiency in the Russian language. Actually they are wearying of comporomises in principle and personnel and an explosion might be expected any day. That it has not happened thus far is due to Senator Robert A. Taft and General Wilton B. Persons, the President's congressional liaison.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The American system of free competition has been vindicated not only by the removal of government controls but by the announcement that one large motorcar manufacturer, without regard to what its competitors might do, has boldly reduced prices.

For many years now the American people have had it dinned in their ears that American industry is controlled by trusts which fix prices and that a few large companies, by dominating the field control the market for their products. Democrats have inveighed against what they called 'oligopoly" and demagogues in trade-union forums have denounced large business as monopolistic.

The demonstration which the Chrysler Corporation has just given effectively refutes any such argument. For the announcement of a price decrease does not necessarily mean that all companies will follow suit, though some of them may do so. This would not be the first time that a price reduction by one manufacturer has been met with the statement by others that its own products were already low enough or in line with the market.

Higher Prices Not Inevitable

The significance of the Chrysler action is that the public generally has been asked to believe, ever since price controls were imposed a decade or more ago, that removal of restrictions on price or output necessarily leads to higher prices to the consumer. Again and again the Democratic administrations have insisted on retaining laws to continue price restrictions so as really to influence the course of the economy while opponents have argued for freedom from such restraints.

Today, as most of the controls are being lifted, there are some products and raw materials which have gone up slightly in price while others have come down. Sometimes price rises are necessary after controls are lifted so as to correct inequities in the cost picture which couldn't be cured under controls. But, in the long run, prices are brought down as efficiency with new machinery makes quantity production less and less expensive. Obviously the Chrysler company thinks it can sell more cars at the lower prices than it did when output was limited by government control.

But the true importance of the price reduction by the Chrysler Corporation is that it emphasizes the return of a supply-and-demand situation in America. This is the healthiest sign that has appeared on the business horizon for many years. It is an application of the basic principle that no monopoly should be permitted to hold up the consumer by a concerted arrangement of competitors to fix prices. Unfortunately, there are monopolistic factors that are not covered by law. Thus, a nation-wide bargaining instrument in the form of a big labor union nowadays can, in effect, fix the price of important products by fixing the labor costs. The larger companies can absorb the extra expense, but the smaller ones often cannot. Yet they are expected to pay the same rates of wages as the bigger fellows. This results in forcing smaller companies to beg the larger ones to take them over, and that's one way competition is cut down.

The automobile industry is a sharply competitive industry and in its history many large companies have been built out of smaller ones while still others have fallen by the wayside. The entry of new competitors has also been proved possible in the auto industry notwithstanding the leadership of a few large companies. The Kaiser-Frazer Company entered the field in recent years and only this week purchased the Willys-Overland Company, thus making the combined operation larger and more efficient than either of the predecessor companies had been before.

Some Support State Monopoly

The argument for the capitalistic system—namely, that it produces goods at low cost to the consumer, pays high wages, and gives individual initiative a chance to be rewarded — is bitterly attacked not only by Communists here and abroad but by radicals in America and Socialists in Britain who argue that a state monopoly is more desirable than a privately owned system.

The effort to bring about a system of public ownership of certain industries, which has succeeded in part in Great Britain, has been for many decades sponsored by so-called liberal and radical groups in America, too. Indeed a movement to take over the steel industry has had support inside the Democratic administration from officials who threatened that unless the steel companies increased their plants, they might find the government doing it for them. Steel capacity has been increased by the industry itself in the last few years under government pressure, but it remains to be seen whether idle plants built at high cost will plague the industry as it tries to bring its prices down when demand falls off.

There is no effective substitute for a freely operated competitive economy.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Those Security Files

WASHINGTON

The strange case of Charles E. Bohlen has highlighted several ugly things about the American government. One of these is the kind of stuff that gets into government security files.

Senator Joseph R. McCarthy hastily lied his way out of this side of his case at the last moment, declaring that he had never opposed Bohlen's confirmation as ambassador to Moscow on security grounds. Only a few days earlier, when asked if he regarded Bohlen as a security risk, McCarthy characteristically declared "That's putting it too weak."

McCarthy further hinted that he had heard all about the Bohlen security file from his friend, the new State Department security officer, R. W. Scott McLeod. It seems to be established that McLeod was genuinely guilty, in this instance, of leaking some sort of poisonous story to McCarthy.

Senator Taft has now supplied the appropriate commentary on the Bohlen security file. One of the very few items unfavorable to Bohlen was a letter from a State Department stenographer who claimed that she had felt her "sixth sense" sending out alarm signals on the one brief occasion when she had taken dictation from Bohlen.

Far from being inserted in a high officer's security file, this sort of sick-minded poison pen letter ought to have caused a security investigation of the writer. But as these reporters happen to be able to testify, the method of compiling security files can be a bit odd, at times.

Brother Led Guerrillas

These reporters have a brother, John de Koven Alsop by name, who seems to them as good a security risk as you could wish. In wartime he was an OSS parachutist, jumping behind the enemy lines in both France and China. In China, he led an anti-Communist, anti-Japanese guerrilla group, and had a price put on the head of "the huge American with the mustache" by both sets of enemies.

In peacetime, he is a Connecticut Republican—he served as vice chairman of the Connecticut Eisenhower movement before the last Republican convention. He was already a Republican member of the Connecticut Legislature when he agreed to apply for a temporary reserve civilian status in intelligence work, some years ago.

The application was refused, on security grounds. With great difficulty, the reasons were ascertained. They consisted of reports by two government security agents. The first agent had not got the name quite right. He had first invented a new personality, "John de Koven." He had then included, under "derogatory information," the claim that this non-existent citizen was "probably the brother or close relative" of another Mr. de Koven who had, it seems, been a member of Henry A. Wallace's Progressive party.

The second agent had at least got the name right. As his derogatory information he noted accurately that John de Koven Alsop was "probably the brother or close relative" of Joseph and Stewart Alsop. He added darkly that Joseph and Stewart Alsop were listed in the files of the House Un-American Activities Committee, as the authors of a Saturday Evening Post article, "Will the CIO Kick the Commies Out?" All the second agent omitted was the not altogether meaningless fact that this was a profoundly anti-Communist article. The House committee was using it as helpful source material on the Communist danger in the labor movement.

System Not Foolproof

By shameless influence, brother John was cleared. By the same method, one of these reporters narrowly escaped detention on the Gripsholm, when checked for security on his return from a Japanese prison camp. He was sternly accused of having joined the British army. Sharp suspicions were aroused by his bewildered insistence that he had been a member of General C. L. Chennault's "Flying Tigers," which were markedly non-British. Actually, his brother and present partner had indeed joined a British infantry regiment, having been repeatedly rejected by all the American services on medical grounds, but this fact had not filtered through to the Japanese prison camp.

The day was barely saved, and the suspected one permitted to set foot on his native shores, by the intervention of a highly placed friend. Apparently a special government agent had found it impossible to distinguish between two citizens of the same surname, in the extremely small town of Avon, Conn.

Two such incidents in a single family at least suggest that the existing security system is not foolproof. The letter from the stenographer with the "sixth sense" further suggests that in some respects the system is plain foolish. The FBI cannot properly be blamed. It does not do the whole job—it had no part in brother John's case—and it is ridiculously overburdened as a result of security-mania. Yet it is in order to consider some sensible reform of the security system.

Three Members Quit Housing Board In Baltimore Scrap

BALTIMORE, March 26 (AP) — Three more members said today they were quitting the Housing Bureau Advisory Committee in a fight over administration of the famous Baltimore slum-clearance plan.

Guy T. O. Hollyday, president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America, and Mrs. John B. Ramsay, housewife, said they had sent their resignations to Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro.

Thomas J. Healy, president of the AFL Teamsters Joint Council, said he would resign.

Want Commission Set Up

All disclosed plans to support legislation before the Maryland General Assembly in an attempt to have an independent commission established to carry out Baltimore slum clearance. The Housing Bureau now functions under the Health Department.

The new batch of resignations was reported within 24 hours after James W. Rouse quit as chairman of the Advisory Council.

G. Yates Cook, director of the Baltimore plan, resigned early this year amid reports of disagreement on administrative matters, including failure of City Hall officials to back establishment of an independent housing agency.

The plan is based on the premise that slums can be cleared by rigidly enforcing laws on sanitation and housing construction. The bureau was set up in 1951 to direct a campaign which produced widely publicized, favorable results in its early stages.

Straightjacket Setup

Wiring his resignation from New York, Gollyday told the mayor:

"As a result of my close association with the problem of rehabilitation of blighted areas I am convinced that the Baltimore Plan can properly function only as an independent commission in city government."

Mrs. Ramsay said in her letter that in her two years with the bureau she had become convinced "the present administrative setup ...is virtually a straightjacket, in which it is impossible for the bureau to accomplish its main objective."

The mayor could not be reached immediately for comment.

YBW Have Party, Plan Activities

Tickets for the spaghetti supper were distributed and members discussed taking in new members at the brief business session of the Young Business Women's Club, preceding the mad hat and card party, Wednesday evening at Central YMCA.

The supper is being held April 22 at the Y. Final plans are to be arranged at the meeting April 8.

Prospective members were discussed and applications will be made in the early summer.

A mad hat party was held with members buying them unseen. Proceeds are for the club. The hat judged the prettiest was made of pink crepe paper. It was made by Miss Genevieve Suder and bought by Mrs. Mary Frye. The most original was a flower cart filled with spring flowers. It was made by Miss Joan Nichols and bought by Miss Kathleen Daugherty; and the funniest was a gray felt with a pigtail on one side and topped with a clothes line with flowers. It was made by Miss Clair Helmich and bought by Miss Beatrice Parks.

Following the sale the hats were all modeled, then cards were played and refreshments served.

Miss Barbara Bratt and Miss Daugherty were in charge of arrangements and hostesses for the evening.

Others attending were Miss Mary Ellen Helmich, Mrs. Joyce Dorsey, Miss Dorothy Castleman, Mrs. Bernadette McKenzie, Miss Hannah Drubeck, Miss Betty Creegan, Mrs. Ida Lindsay and Miss Ellen Newnam.

North End Club Plans Minstrel

The North Cumberland Homemakers Club planned its minstrels and various reports at the meeting yesterday at the Fairview Avenue Methodist Church social hall.

The minstrel is to be given in conjunction with the Centre Street School Parent Teacher Association, about the third week in May.

Beginning with a salad display the club held a luncheon with the various members exchanging recipes.

The flag salute was given and Mrs. Elwood Stewart sang the hymn of the month, "Oh Come and Mourn with Me." Mrs. William Eichner accompanied at the piano. The latter also told the story of the hymn, explaining that it is a Lenten hymn.

Roll call was answered with each giving a time saver.

Mrs. Helen Wineow reported on the home management demonstration held at the public library. She also conducted a quiz of 19 questions on home savers.

A blouse and jumper made by Mrs. Ralph Brotemarkle was shown. She made it during the clothing demonstration earlier in the month.

Mrs. Delisle Chaney gave the family life program on the three generations of thinking.

A report on silverware the club has bought was given by Mrs. Samuel Clinger.

The club voted on its candidate for the First Lady contest. On the suggestion of Mrs. Catherine Seitz, the club also voted to give some of the money from the quilt to the North Cumberland 4-H Girls Club. A donation of $2 was made to the Junior Civic Orchestra, and $5 to the Red Cross.

One birthday in March was celebrated, that was for Mrs. A. W. McKenzie, a guest.

North End Club Plans Minstrel

The North Cumberland Homemakers Club planned its minstrels and various reports at the meeting yesterday at the Fairview Avenue Methodist Church social hall.

The minstrel is to be given in conjunction with the Centre Street School Parent Teacher Association, about the third week in May.

Beginning with a salad display the club held a luncheon with the various members exchanging recipes.

The flag salute was given and Mrs. Elwood Stewart sang the hymn of the month, "Oh Come and Mourn with Me." Mrs. William Eichner accompanied at the piano. The latter also told the story of the hymn, explaining that it is a Lenten hymn.

Roll call was answered with each giving a time saver.

Mrs. Helen Wineow reported on the home management demonstration held at the public library. She also conducted a quiz of 19 questions on home savers.

A blouse and jumper made by Mrs. Ralph Brotemarkle was shown. She made it during the clothing demonstration earlier in the month.

Mrs. Delisle Chaney gave the family life program on the three generations of thinking.

A report on silverware the club has bought was given by Mrs. Samuel Clinger.

The club voted on its candidate for the First Lady contest. On the suggestion of Mrs. Catherine Seitz, the club also voted to give some of the money from the quilt to the North Cumberland 4-H Girls Club. A donation of $2 was made to the Junior Civic Orchestra, and $5 to the Red Cross.

One birthday in March was celebrated, that was for Mrs. A. W. McKenzie, a guest.

St. Lawrence Seaway Is Discussed

Mrs. William H. Blake led the discussion on the "Proposed St. Lawrence Seaway and Hydro-electric Power dam," which is part of the project at the meeting of the International Relations Group of Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women. The meeting was held Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Adele Malcolm, Washington Street.

She explained that the proposed seaway is a canal undertaking that would open a sea route from the Atlantic Ocean through the St. Lawrence and Great Lakes as far as Duluth, Minn. Ocean-going ships could then travel the whole 2,000 miles.

The electric power dam would furnish electricity to New York, New England and to Canada, which desperately needs it, she said. Both countries would benefit by the seaway. This would be a joint venture with both Canada and the United States paying the cost, Mrs. Blake pointed out.

Woodrow Wilson and every President since has approved, the speaker said, but so far Congress has not consented because power, railroad, and coal interests and the ports of Texas have objected to it.

Mrs. Blake pointed out how grains and ore from the Central States and Chicago as well as Canada would have quicker and cheaper transportation and of its value in wartime. She spoke of the Mesabi Range mines of iron ore running out and the new developments in Labrador and Quebec would have cheap transportation to the steel mills. Lake ports would develop with more business.

From the latest reports, she said, Canada is going along on the seaway, but there are great hopes the United States or New York alone will help Canada with the hydro-electric plant at Messeno, N. Y.

A general discussion followed. Miss Bernice Winner presided and Miss Margaret Baker was assistant hostess. Others present were Miss Agnes Howat, Mrs. Joseph H. Krusen, Miss Annie B. Grey, Dr. Hazel G. Ramsay, Mrs. A. L. Rogers, Miss Mabel E. Meyers, Miss Janet Anderson, Miss Gertrude Williams, Miss Jane Grindel and Miss Datha Thomas.

The next meeting is to be April 22 in Frostburg, at the home of Miss Meyers. It will begin with a dinner at 6 p. m., and Mrs. Rogers will lead the discussion on South America.

FASHIONS—SECOND FLOOR Peskins THE HEART OF FASHION IN THE TRI-STATE AREA!

Blouse Gives Extensive Wardrobe

Wardrobes today are not complete without an assortment of glamorous blouses. The same blouse with different accessories sees you through a day at the office, a tea party and a gala evening.

Spring is the time when you want "new life" in your wardrobe and are anxious to make the right choice of new clothes. And you needn't wrinkle your pretty brow about how to afford fashion-right togs. Remember, you feel fresh and gay as a daisy in a pretty blouse. And with a blouse wardrobe of nine styles, plus two or three skirts, you'll lead the parade of best-dressed girls, for the blouse girl gives the impression of an extensive wardrobe—yet at a modest cost.

For utmost in style and beauty, small cost and easy upkeep, take your pick from the new collection of blouses. There is something for every hour of the day and every occasion, from marketing or walking the baby to business appointments or dinner and dancing. If you love American designs (and who doesn't?) there are classic beauties to choose from. Or if you hanker for French or Italian imports worth $200 or $300, there are fabulous copies you'll find hard to tell from the originals.

Fashionable women have reported that the blouse gives a suit nine lives. And this season with a strong trend toward separates, the blouse is established as the "better half" of your costume and can be accessorized for many moods and occasions. So the fact is, your blouse wardrobe itself has nine lives. To show you how it works, here are nine suggestions:

1. In traditional mood, a jewel-neck nylon tricot with your new box suit.
2. For work-a-day hours, a sleeveless pima broadcloth with pedal pushers.
3. For watching TV, a classic, long-sleeved, French-cuffed shirt-waist of acetate rayon and lounging slacks.
4. For a big date, the allure of nylon sheer with a dinner-length skirt.
5. For extra elegance, a lustrous orlon and silk blouse with an accordion-pleated skirt.
6. For street costume chic, a pure silk blouse and a skirt with matching stole.
7. For hobbies, a nylon linen to tub without ironing, and a cotton skirt.
8. With shorts, a band-box fresh short-sleeved pique.
9. On the beach, a cotton blouse, worn shirt-tail fashion, over a swim suit.

My New York
by Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—As a man unashamed to admit that once every so often I have leaned wearily across a bar and said "Joe—I know the world well and it fills me with an ugly mood" (than you, Ben Hecht), I always have suspected that bartenders are pretty tired of playing father confessor to drunks. I have suspected wrong, I learned yesterday from Charlie Cresser. The barkeeps love to listen to your troubles and hand out advice.

"On the whole," Charlie told me after due meditation, "the bartender is an actor who didn't succeed. He has little formal education, but his intelligence quotient is above that of the average craftsmen. To borrow from Thoreau, he leads a life of quiet resignation. However, he does have a good streak of ham in him—and when he occupies the center of the stage and is asked for advice by some slightly alcoholic captain of finance, he's in his glory. He loves it."

Charlie Cresser's eloquence is a little startling because he is a one-time bartender himself who now is known as "labor chief" for the Manhattan bartenders' union, Local 15, which, with its nearly 6,000 members, may be the nation's largest. He is, however, no oaf skilled only in mopping the mahogany with a damp cloth. He's a one-time university student, an ex-associate editor of "American Investor," a Wall Street magazine; an NYU short-story student and a union newsletter editor.

Charlie has tended bar in Oklahoma, Guatemala, aboard the old Red Star liner Kroonland, in Antwerp, at Healey's (66th and Columbus; Irene and Vernon Castle's Golden Glades was upstairs), at the Grand Hotel in Catskills and in the strange outposts of Brooklyn and Greenwich Village.

I was talking with Charlie because he recently inserted an ad in the publick printes that struck me as unusual; a call to party-givers to hire professional barkeepers from his union to ladle out their drinks with a "minimum of breakage and spoilage."

I figured that was just the first time a union had advertised its wares to the public and Charlie told me he thought so, too. It's worked, too. In just a couple of weeks Local 15 has passed out about 50 such jobs to its unemployed, who number about 300.

"Only don't give me the credit for Local 15's work," Charlie said. "Our president, a Hollander named Jack Townsend, is the guy who built us up from 500 members to our nearly 6,000, in 11 years." Actually, although Charlie didn't tell me, Local 15 is an offshoot of the old Local 3, which had Tammany crook Jimmy Hines and racketeer Little Frenchy behind it and which ultimately lost its charter.

"A barkeep can make good money at private parties," Cresser said. "We charge from 25 to 50 bucks a night ('our moderate fee will surprise you' the ad reads) and some men have cleaned up as much as $100, counting tips. We have competent, carefully screened, versatile men.

"One woman wanted one who could sing spicy party songs and while we took no official note of her request, sent her a guy who it just so happened used to be a singing waiter.

"Another time a woman who lived in Teaneck, N. J., but worked in New York, had us send over a New York bartender who could mix just-right dry martinis. 'I don't want to be picketed by the New Jersey bartenders' union,' she told me, ' but I just have to have a New York bartender. Only they can mix martinis the right way.' "

Local 15 cracks down on members who drink on the job. Actually, Charlie insists, barkeepers have very few drunks in their ranks; not nearly as many as doctors, according to a survey he read recently. What unemployment exists in barkeeping circles, he feels, is due to the fact that where nearly 70 per cent of liquor used to be sold over bars, now 65 per cent is bought in package stores.

Teen models select two coiffure problems for discussion and solution in today's "Question Box."

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

The teen models on our staff dipped into my mail pouch and selected the problem for today's "Question Box" answers. Furthermore they vociferously contributed to the answers! They say the two questions that follow are primary grooming factors in every teen's life. They are also important in the lives of many a matron, I might add.

Q. I am toying with the idea of cutting bangs. Should I or shouldn't I—and what are the problems involved?

Male Preference

A. Don't bang unless you have something to hide! Low-placed bangs are the answer for a too-wide or too-prominent forehead. Placed high on the brow, bangs add the illusion of height and width to ungenerous proportions and screen-off a ragged hairline.

Without such provocations, adopt one of the sleek, brushed-back hair-dos and both more distinction and beauty will be yours. In the first place, these complement the highly simplified spring and summer fashions. From a practical angle, they are easier to manage and keep attractively groomed during warm weather activities. And they provide the slick, glossy finish that all men admire most.

Furthermore, such smooth basic arrangements permit the greatest adaptability. Just by changing your part you can achieve a different fresh look. Wear yours on the side to beat him at tennis and in the center to make him forget that you did!

Q. Scarves make me look like a depressed peasant — but how else can I cope with my hair for school and dates on windy days?

A. Become adept in the draping of a scarf. That determines the effect you achieve. You'll avoid any peasant look if you wind into a turban, cap or hood.

Glamour For You

For a far prettier substitute, visit the hat bar of your favorite store. Many casual caps, hoods, and cloches are awaiting your selection for no more than a song.

For after dusk, entwine your locks in veiling or netting. With short locks, tie wide veiling so the lower edge falls just above your eyebrows, swathing your tresses all around and finishing in a perky bow. This halo will never slip if you fasten it with a fake-jeweled bobbie behind each ear. Long hair takes on enchantment when caught in a snood of net with the ends joined on the crown by a flower clip.

My New York
by Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—As a man unashamed to admit that once every so often I have leaned wearily across a bar and said "Joe—I know the world well and it fills me with an ugly mood" (than you, Ben Hecht), I always have suspected that bartenders are pretty tired of playing father confessor to drunks. I have suspected wrong, I learned yesterday from Charlie Cresser. The barkeeps love to listen to your troubles and hand out advice.

"On the whole," Charlie told me after due meditation, "the bartender is an actor who didn't succeed. He has little formal education, but his intelligence quotient is above that of the average craftsmen. To borrow from Thoreau, he leads a life of quiet resignation. However, he does have a good streak of ham in him—and when he occupies the center of the stage and is asked for advice by some slightly alcoholic captain of finance, he's in his glory. He loves it."

Charlie Cresser's eloquence is a little startling because he is a one-time bartender himself who now is known as "labor chief" for the Manhattan bartenders' union, Local 15, which, with its nearly 6,000 members, may be the nation's largest. He is, however, no oaf skilled only in mopping the mahogany with a damp cloth. He's a one-time university student, an ex-associate editor of "American Investor," a Wall Street magazine; an NYU short-story student and a union newsletter editor.

Charlie has tended bar in Oklahoma, Guatemala, aboard the old Red Star liner Kroonland, in Antwerp, at Healey's (66th and Columbus; Irene and Vernon Castle's Golden Glades was upstairs), at the Grand Hotel in Catskills and in the strange outposts of Brooklyn and Greenwich Village.

I was talking with Charlie because he recently inserted an ad in the publick printes that struck me as unusual; a call to party-givers to hire professional barkeepers from his union to ladle out their drinks with a "minimum of breakage and spoilage."

I figured that was just the first time a union had advertised its wares to the public and Charlie told me he thought so, too. It's worked, too. In just a couple of weeks Local 15 has passed out about 50 such jobs to its unemployed, who number about 300.

"Only don't give me the credit for Local 15's work," Charlie said. "Our president, a Hollander named Jack Townsend, is the guy who built us up from 500 members to our nearly 6,000, in 11 years." Actually, although Charlie didn't tell me, Local 15 is an offshoot of the old Local 3, which had Tammany crook Jimmy Hines and racketeer Little Frenchy behind it and which ultimately lost its charter.

"A barkeep can make good money at private parties," Cresser said. "We charge from 25 to 50 bucks a night ('our moderate fee will surprise you' the ad reads) and some men have cleaned up as much as $100, counting tips. We have competent, carefully screened, versatile men.

"One woman wanted one who could sing spicy party songs and while we took no official note of her request, sent her a guy who it just so happened used to be a singing waiter.

"Another time a woman who lived in Teaneck, N. J., but worked in New York, had us send over a New York bartender who could mix just-right dry martinis. 'I don't want to be picketed by the New Jersey bartenders' union,' she told me, ' but I just have to have a New York bartender. Only they can mix martinis the right way.' "

Local 15 cracks down on members who drink on the job. Actually, Charlie insists, barkeepers have very few drunks in their ranks; not nearly as many as doctors, according to a survey he read recently. What unemployment exists in barkeeping circles, he feels, is due to the fact that where nearly 70 per cent of liquor used to be sold over bars, now 65 per cent is bought in package stores.

Secrets Of Charm

The teen models on our staff dipped into my mail pouch and selected the problem for today's "Question Box" answers. Furthermore they vociferously contributed to the answers! They say the two questions that follow are primary grooming factors in every teen's life. They are also important in the lives of many a matron, I might add.

Smoked Shoulder Butt Tops In Popularity

PEACH GLAZED SMOKED BUTT — Here's an intriguing way to prepare a boneless smoked pork butt. Simmer the butt in water until tender, then glaze in a 350 degree F. oven topped with sliced peaches and a spicy sauce. Slice meat and serve topped with peaches and sauce.

Step right up to your meat counter and ask your meat man for a boneless pork shoulder butt. This cut, with a dozen different uses, is one of the most popular meat buys on the market.

Ranging in weight from two to four pounds, a smoked pork butt is an ideal choice for the small family. The average size butt, in addition to providing one hot dinner, usually will yield enough leftovers for a tasty breakfast or luncheon dish.

The smoked butt, sometimes called "cottage roll," is oval in shape and often is sold wrapped in a cellophane or stockinette covering. The cut has a ham-like flavor and, when properly cooked, is deliciously tender.

How To Cook

Unless the butt is marked cook-ed, ready-to-eat (and there are a few of these on the market), the usual way to prepare it is to simmer in water until tender, with a few added seasonings. Allow 45 minutes per pound (or follow cooking directions on the label).

Glazed Butt

The smoked butt may be sliced hot and served with a raisin or horseradish sauce, if desired. Another interesting way to present it to your family is to glaze it after cooking in water.

To glaze a cooked smoked butt, stick the surface with cloves and spread with marmalade or jam, or with brown sugar moistened with a little fruit juice or vinegar. An especially good tasting glaze is made by blending ½ cup currant jelly with 2 tablespoons bottled horseradish. Glaze butt in a shallow pan in a hot oven, 400°F., for 15 to 20 minutes.

Here's a more elaborate version of a baked, glazed smoked butt which is excellent for a company dinner. Canned peach slices are baked on top of the butt and there's a spicy sauce to serve over the meat.

Peach Glazed Smoked Butt

- 2½ to 3 pound smoked boneless butt
- 1 medium onion
- 1 small bay leaf
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- ¼ teaspoon each ground cloves, allspice and cinnamon
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1 large can sliced cling peaches

Cover smoked butt with hot water and add sliced onion and bay leaf. Simmer, covered, for 2 hours or until tender. Prepare sauce by mixing remaining ingredients (except peaches) and the sirup drained from the peaches. Cook over low heat until thickened. When butt is tender, remove from water and place in a shallow baking pan. Cover surface of butt with peach slices. (Use leftover peaches in salads or desserts.) Spoon sauce carefully over butt. Bake in a 375°F. over for 30 minutes. Baste frequently with sauce in bottom of pan. To serve, slice butt and put a peach or two on each serving. Pass the hot sauce in a small bowl. 4 servings.

"Boiled" Dinner

A homey "boiled" dinner — a meal all in one pot — may be prepared by cooking cabbage, carrots, potatoes and onions right in with the butt. Figure the time required to cook the butt to tenderness (about 45 minutes per pound), then add th etuc-pu vegetables about ½ hour before the end of the cooking time. Cook until tender. (No salt is needed.)

Breakfast Delicacy

To vary the breakfast menu, serve fried boneless butt slices. Simmering in water prior to frying is unnecessary. Just slice the butt fairly thin and cook slices in a heavy skillet over low heat until well browned and tender.

Hello To Spring!

To welcome the coming of a new season, here's a perky tasting main dish—tiny nutmeg seasoned pork balls served on raisin noodles.

Pork Balls On Fruited Noodles

- 1 pound ground pork
- ½ cup soft bread crumbs
- ¼ cup minced onion
- 1 egg
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- Salt, pepper, flour, fat
- 3 cups bouillon or water
- 1 teaspoon onion salt
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- ¼ cup raisins
- 4 ounce package noodles

Combine pork, bread crumbs, onion, slightly beaten egg, nutmeg, 1 teaspoon salt, and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Shape into 16 firm balls, roll in flour and brown in 2 tablespoons melted fat. Remove balls from skillet, add 4 tablespoons flour and blend well. Stir in bouillon or water and add onion salt, Worcestershire sauce and a dash of pepper. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add balls, cover and simmer over low heat for 30 minutes. Meanwhile, soak raisins in warm water. Cook noodles in boiling, salted water until tender. Mix drained raisins with drained noodles and serve topped with meat balls and gravy. 4 servings.

Oven-Cooked Stew

Oven-cooked meals save fuel, dishwashing and fuss. Next time you make a meat stew, try cooking it in the oven. The last hour of baking, pop in with it an oven-made dessert, such as an apple betty.

Oven-Beef Stew

- 1 pound beef stew meat
- Salt, pepper, flour
- 3 tablespoons lard
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- 1¾ cups water
- 1 can condensed tomato soup
- 1 small bay leaf
- 3 whole cloves
- 1 stalk celery, sliced
- 4 carrots, sliced
- 3 medium potatoes, cut in eights
- 1 cup canned peas (8 oz. can)

Cut meat into 1 inch cubes; sprinkle with salt and pepper and roll in flour. Melt lard in a skillet and in it brown meat thoroughly. Transfer meat to a 2 quart casserole. Lightly brown onion in fat; add to meat. Heat water with tomato soup and pour over meat. Add seasonings and celery. Cover and bake in a 325°F. oven for 1½ hours. Add vegetables, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and mix well with meat. Cover and continue baking for 45 minutes. 4 servings.

Pork Shoulder Cuts Go Easy On Budget

FRUITED PORK STEAKS — Here's a delicious dinner of fruited pork shoulder steaks, whipped sweet potatoes and crisp slaw. The pork steaks are braised with apples and raisins (cooked in a covered skillet) until tender. The sweet potatoes are whipped with butter and orange juice, then baked with a topping of nuts.

Luckily for Mrs. Consumer, the "little piggies" are not staying home these days. They're going to market and bringing to the meat man's counter tender pork chops, juicy roasts and flavorful pork steaks, in addition to a host of other cuts.

There's a pork cut to fit every budget. If your budget requires careful consideration, economical pork shoulder steaks are a smart choice. Like pork chops, they may be prepared in a variety of different ways.

One appealing combination is pork steaks cooked with apples and raisins. Here's the tested recipe:

Fruited Pork Steaks

- 4 pork shoulder steaks
- Flour, salt, paprika
- 2 cooking apples (Jonathan, Winesay or Rome Beauty)
- Raisins, brown sugar

Trim fat from edge of pork steaks and fry out in a large skillet or Dutch oven. Remove pieces. Flour pork steaks and brown on both sides in hot fat. Sprinkle each side with salt and paprika. Pour off excess fat. Core apples, but do not pare; cut into thick slices. Top each steak with one or two apple slices and fill centers with raisins. Sprinkle apples with brown sugar. Pour ¼ cup water around steaks, cover and cook over low heat for 45 minutes or until steaks are tender. Baste once or twice during cooking with liquid in pan. Add more water, if needed. (Pork steaks, if desired, may be baked with fruit, in a large covered baking dish in a 350 degree F. oven for same length of time.) 4 servings.

To round this good pork dish into a special dinner menu, serve with glorified sweet potatoes and crisp slaw.

Glorified Sweet Potatoes:

Cook sweet potatoes in jackets; peel and whip with butter, brown sugar and a little orange juice. Place in a greased casserole and sprinkle with nuts. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven for 15-20 minutes.

Plentiful Pork In Pie

Another way to use pork shoulder is to cook diced pork with vegetables as for a stew. Then pour into a casserole, top with biscuit dough and presto you have a pie.

Pork And Vegetable Pie

- ½ pounds diced pork shoulder
- ½ cup sliced onions
- 2 cups water or bouillon
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup sliced carrots
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1 cup cooked beans or peas
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- Baking powder biscuits

Cut pork into 1-inch cubes. Trim off fat and fry out for browning meat. Remove pieces. In a heavy pan, brown pork and onions in fat. Add water or bouillon and salt and pepper. Cover and simmer over low heat for 45 minutes, then add carrots and celery and cook 15 minutes. Thicken liquid with 2 tablespoons flour mixed to a smooth paste with a little water. Add green beans or peas and Worcestershire sauce. Pour into a 1½ quart casserole. Top with baking powder biscuit dough cut into circles, squares or triangles. Bake at 450 degree F. for 20 minutes or until biscuits are well browned. 4-6 servings.

Don't Fry Pork

Remember when cooking pork chops or pork steaks that these cuts should not be fried or broiled. Both cuts require slow cooking with moist heat to bring out their fine flavor.

Use any of the following liquids for cooking pork steaks or chops: bouillon, apple cider, tomato juice or tomato sauce, fruit juice (pineapple, orange or apple) and canned soups, such as mushroom or tomato, diluted with a little water.

Ham For Easter

Ham is first choice with many families for Easter dinner. If you're planning a traditional dinner for Easter, here are a few pointers on buying and cooking ham.

There are several different kinds of ham on the market. It's important to know which type you're buying so that you can accurately figure cooking time. Hams marked cook before-eating must be completely cooked before serving. Ready-to-eat hams require somewhat less cooking time. Hams marked cooked or fully cooked may be served without further cooking or simply heated (10 minutes per pound).

Uncooked hams (cook-before-eating type) require 18 to 20 minutes per pound, half hams 22 to 25 minutes per pound. Use a 325°F. oven for any kind of ham.

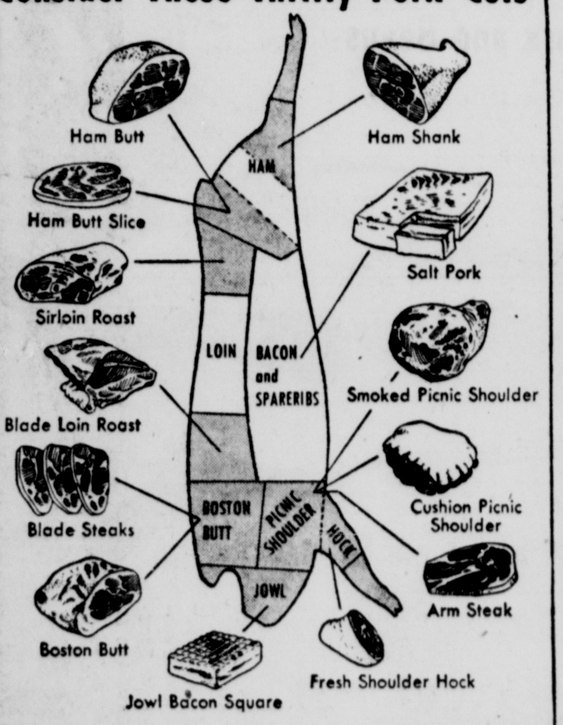
Consider These Thrifty Pork Cuts



To buy meat wisely it is important that the homemaker know the retail cuts in her market. Too often she purchases the same few cuts time after time. In the case of pork, this leaves about 70 per cent of the carcass that is in little demand, as shown by the shaded portions of the above chart.

For example, instead of consistently asking for center-cut loin chops, the homemaker might wisely ask for arm and blade steaks. These shoulder cuts usually retail for several cents per pound less than loin chops, yet have the same fine flavor and nutritive value.

New appeal may be added to the menu by serving a less-demanded cut such as a cushion-style pork shoulder roast. The shoulder is boned, then left flat for stuffing.

Other economical roasts include the sirloin and blade end loin roasts, butt or shank halves of ham and the smoked picnic shoulder.

Smoked Shoulder Butt Tops In Popularity

PEACH GLAZED SMOKED BUTT — Here's an intriguing way to prepare a boneless smoked pork butt. Simmer the butt in water until tender, then glaze in a 350 degree F. oven topped with sliced peaches and a spicy sauce. Slice meat and serve topped with peaches and sauce.

Step right up to your meat counter and ask your meat man for a boneless pork shoulder butt. This cut, with a dozen different uses, is one of the most popular meat buys on the market.

Ranging in weight from two to four pounds, a smoked pork butt is an ideal choice for the small family. The average size butt, in addition to providing one hot dinner, usually will yield enough leftovers for a tasty breakfast or luncheon dish.

The smoked butt, sometimes called "cottage roll," is oval in shape and often is sold wrapped in a cellophane or stockinette covering. The cut has a ham-like flavor and, when properly cooked, is deliciously tender.

How To Cook

Unless the butt is marked cooked, ready-to-eat (and there are a few of these on the market), the usual way to prepare it is to simmer in water until tender, with a few added seasonings. Allow 45 minutes per pound (or follow cooking directions on the label).

Glazed Butt

The smoked butt may be sliced hot and served with a raisin or horseradish sauce, if desired. Another interesting way to present it to your family is to glaze it after cooking in water.

To glaze a cooked smoked butt, stick the surface with cloves and spread with marmalade or jam, or with brown sugar moistened with a little fruit juice or vinegar. An especially good tasting glaze is made by blending ½ cup currant jelly with 2 tablespoons bottled horseradish. Glaze butt in a shallow pan in a hot oven, 400°F., for 15 to 20 minutes.

Here's a more elaborate version of a baked, glazed smoked butt which is excellent for a company dinner. Canned peach slices are baked on top of the butt and there's a spicy sauce to serve over the meat.

Peach Glazed Smoked Butt

- 2½ to 3 pound smoked boneless butt
- 1 medium onion
- 1 small bay leaf
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- ¼ teaspoon each ground cloves, allspice and cinnamon
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1 large can sliced cling peaches

Cover smoked butt with hot water and add sliced onion and bay leaf. Simmer, covered, for 2 hours or until tender. Prepare sauce by mixing remaining ingredients (except peaches) and the sirup drained from the peaches. Cook over low heat until thickened. When butt is tender, remove from water and place in a shallow baking pan. Cover surface of butt with peach slices. (Use leftover peaches in salads or desserts.) Spoon sauce carefully over butt. Bake in a 375°F. over for 30 minutes. Baste frequently with sauce in bottom of pan. To serve, slice butt and put a peach or two on each serving. Pass the hot sauce in a small bowl. 4 servings.

"Boiled" Dinner

A homey "boiled" dinner — a meal all in one pot — may be prepared by cooking cabbage, carrots, potatoes and onions right in with the butt. Figure the time required to cook the butt to tenderness (about 45 minutes per pound), then add th etuc-pu vegetables about ½ hour before the end of the cooking time. Cook until tender. (No salt is needed.)

Breakfast Delicacy

To vary the breakfast menu, serve fried boneless butt slices. Simmering in water prior to frying is unnecessary. Just slice the butt fairly thin and cook slices in a heavy skillet over low heat until well browned and tender.

Hello To Spring!

To welcome the coming of a new season, here's a perky tasting main dish—tiny nutmeg seasoned pork balls served on raisin noodles.

Pork Balls On Fruited Noodles

- 1 pound ground pork
- ½ cup soft bread crumbs
- ¼ cup minced onion
- 1 egg
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- Salt, pepper, flour, fat
- 3 cups bouillon or water
- 1 teaspoon onion salt
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- ¼ cup raisins
- 4 ounce package noodles

Combine pork, bread crumbs, onion, slightly beaten egg, nutmeg, 1 teaspoon salt, and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Shape into 16 firm balls, roll in flour and brown in 2 tablespoons melted fat. Remove balls from skillet, add 4 tablespoons flour and blend well. Stir in bouillon or water and add onion salt, Worcestershire sauce and a dash of pepper. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add balls, cover and simmer over low heat for 30 minutes. Meanwhile, soak raisins in warm water. Cook noodles in boiling, salted water until tender. Mix drained raisins with drained noodles and serve topped with meat balls and gravy. 4 servings.

Oven-Cooked Stew

Oven-cooked meals save fuel, dishwashing and fuss. Next time you make a meat stew, try cooking it in the oven. The last hour of baking, pop in with it an oven-made dessert, such as an apple betty.

Oven-Beef Stew

- 1 pound beef stew meat
- Salt, pepper, flour
- 3 tablespoons lard
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- 1¾ cups water
- 1 can condensed tomato soup
- 1 small bay leaf
- 3 whole cloves
- 1 stalk celery, sliced
- 4 carrots, sliced
- 3 medium potatoes, cut in eights
- 1 cup canned peas (8 oz. can)

Cut meat into 1 inch cubes; sprinkle with salt and pepper and roll in flour. Melt lard in a skillet and in it brown meat thoroughly. Transfer meat to a 2 quart casserole. Lightly brown onion in fat; add to meat. Heat water with tomato soup and pour over meat. Add seasonings and celery. Cover and bake in a 325°F. oven for 1½ hours. Add vegetables, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and mix well with meat. Cover and continue baking for 45 minutes. 4 servings.

Pork Shoulder Cuts Go Easy On Budget

FRUITED PORK STEAKS — Here's a delicious dinner of fruited pork shoulder steaks, whipped sweet potatoes and crisp slaw. The pork steaks are braised with apples and raisins (cooked in a covered skillet) until tender. The sweet potatoes are whipped with butter and orange juice, then baked with a topping of nuts.

Luckily for Mrs. Consumer, the "little piggies" are not staying home these days. They're going to market and bringing to the meat man's counter tender pork chops, juicy roasts and flavorful pork steaks, in addition to a host of other cuts.

There's a pork cut to fit every budget. If your budget requires careful consideration, economical pork shoulder steaks are a smart choice. Like pork chops, they may be prepared in a variety of different ways.

One appealing combination is pork steaks cooked with apples and raisins. Here's the tested recipe:

Fruited Pork Steaks

- 4 pork shoulder steaks
- Flour, salt, paprika
- 2 cooking apples (Jonathan, Winesay or Rome Beauty)
- Raisins, brown sugar

Trim fat from edge of pork steaks and fry out in a large skillet or Dutch oven. Remove pieces. Flour pork steaks and brown on both sides in hot fat. Sprinkle each side with salt and paprika. Pour off excess fat. Core apples, but do not pare; cut into thick slices. Top each steak with one or two apple slices and fill centers with raisins. Sprinkle apples with brown sugar. Pour ¼ cup water around steaks, cover and cook over low heat for 45 minutes or until steaks are tender. Baste once or twice during cooking with liquid in pan. Add more water, if needed. (Pork steaks, if desired, may be baked with fruit, in a large covered baking dish in a 350 degree F. oven for same length of time.) 4 servings.

To round this good pork dish into a special dinner menu, serve with glorified sweet potatoes and crisp slaw.

Glorified Sweet Potatoes:

Cook sweet potatoes in jackets; peel and whip with butter, brown sugar and a little orange juice. Place in a greased casserole and sprinkle with nuts. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven for 15-20 minutes.

Plentiful Pork In Pie

Another way to use pork shoulder is to cook diced pork with vegetables as for a stew. Then pour into a casserole, top with biscuit dough and presto you have a pie.

Pork And Vegetable Pie

- ½ pounds diced pork shoulder
- ½ cup sliced onions
- 2 cups water or bouillon
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup sliced carrots
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1 cup cooked beans or peas
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- Baking powder biscuits

Cut pork into 1-inch cubes. Trim off fat and fry out for browning meat. Remove pieces. In a heavy pan, brown pork and onions in fat. Add water or bouillon and salt and pepper. Cover and simmer over low heat for 45 minutes, then add carrots and celery and cook 15 minutes. Thicken liquid with 2 tablespoons flour mixed to a smooth paste with a little water. Add green beans or peas and Worcestershire sauce. Pour into a 1½ quart casserole. Top with baking powder biscuit dough cut into circles, squares or triangles. Bake at 450 degree F. for 20 minutes or until biscuits are well browned. 4-6 servings.

Don't Fry Pork

Remember when cooking pork chops or pork steaks that these cuts should not be fried or broiled. Both cuts require slow cooking with moist heat to bring out their fine flavor.

Use any of the following liquids for cooking pork steaks or chops: bouillon, apple cider, tomato juice or tomato sauce, fruit juice (pineapple, orange or apple) and canned soups, such as mushroom or tomato, diluted with a little water.

Ham For Easter

Ham is first choice with many families for Easter dinner. If you're planning a traditional dinner for Easter, here are a few pointers on buying and cooking ham.

There are several different kinds of ham on the market. It's important to know which type you're buying so that you can accurately figure cooking time. Hams marked cook before-eating must be completely cooked before serving. Ready-to-eat hams require somewhat less cooking time. Hams marked cooked or fully cooked may be served without further cooking or simply heated (10 minutes per pound).

Uncooked hams (cook-before-eating type) require 18 to 20 minutes per pound, half hams 22 to 25 minutes per pound. Use a 325°F. oven for any kind of ham.

Creole Slices With Baked-In Cheese Sauce A Lenten Dish

There's more than just tasty eating in this cheese main dish. Hidden in all its goodness is a plentiful supply of protein which needs to be included in your meatless Lenten meals.

Provides Protein

Cereal and cheese, both good protein providers, are ingredients of these suggestions for Lenten meal planners. Either uncooked farina — plain or malt-flavored — may be used instead of the whole wheat cereal in the recipe for the Creole Slices with the baked-in cheese sauce.

Flavor Appeal

The cereal slices are flavored with the vegetables and cheese, then cooked together before they are poured into the loaf pan. After thorough chilling, the loaf is sliced and placed in a baking dish, then covered with the tangy cheese sauce given below.

Creole Slices With Cheese Sauce

- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup diced celery
- ⅓ cup diced green pepper
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
- 1½ cups water
- 1¼ teaspoons salt
- ¾ cup whole wheat cereal, uncooked
- 3 eggs, beaten
- ½ cup grated American cheese

Cheese Sauce:

- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 3 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon mustard
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1½ cups milk
- 1 cup grated American cheese

Melt butter; add flour and seasonings. Stir to a smooth paste. Add milk gradually; cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Add cheese and stir until melted.

A truly refreshing hospitality beverage is apple juice. And it's one that even the youngest can drink with delight. Served chilled, it's keen-tasting and invigorating. Served hot, it's fragrant and heartening — spicy, too, if a cinnamon stick is dropped into it during the heating. With several quart bottles of apple juice on hand, you're happily set to meet guest and family demands . . . for everyone likes apple juice and almost everyone can drink it.

It's Thrifty To Freeze

Smart homemakers these days are finding it's both thrifty and handy to buy large cuts of meat and divide them into smaller cuts to freeze for later meals. With beef supplies on the increase, you'll find it's a double economy to purchase a large round-bone beef pot roast. Cut it into three pieces —the center piece with the bone in for pot roast, one end for stew meat and the remaining piece for Swiss steak or for grinding.

You'll probably be preparing one beef dinner immediately. The other two cuts go into the freezer. When freezing meat, remember these important rules: 1. Wrap meat tightly in special freezer paper, making sure to exclude as much air as possible. 2. Seal well with freezer tape or tie tightly. 3. Store at zero degrees for no longer than periods recommended by authorities. (For beef, it's 8 to 10 months.)

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef blade pot-roast.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the beef chuck. This cut contains portions of rib and blade bones.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By braising. The meat may or may not be dredged with flour as desired, then is browned thoroughly on both sides in lard or drippings. From ¼ to ½ cup of liquid is added, the meat covered and cooked slowly until tender, from 3 to 4 hours. More liquid is added during cooking if necessary.

Here Are Helpful Tips For Cooking Round Steak

Someone once said, "We may live without friends, we may live without books, but civilized man cannot live without cooks." How true! Yet how little does the non-cook realize what goes into the presentation of a good meal—the careful planning, comparative shopping and imaginative preparation required.

To ease your thrice-daily task of feeding a hungry family, it's a good idea to include a variety of beef cuts in your menus these days. The currently plentiful supply of beef means that beef cuts are wearing attractive price tags.

One of the most popular of beef dishes is Swiss steak. If you're a Swiss steak fan, here's an interestingly seasoned dish especially for you. You can use either round or chuck steak.

Savory Swiss Steak

- ½ to 2 pounds round or chuck steak
- Flour, salt, pepper
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 2 cups canned tomatoes
- 2 to 3 medium onions
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- ½ teaspoon chili powder
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Combine 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper; pound into meat, using a meat pounder or the edge of a heavy saucer. Heat fat in a heavy skillet or Dutch oven and brown meat thoroughly on both sides. Top steak with sliced onions. Combine seasonings with tomatoes and pour over and around steak. Cover and cook slowly over low heat until tender, 1½ to 2 hours, depending on thickness of meat. Add more tomatoes or a little water, if needed, during cooking. Skim off excess fat and serve steak topped with sauce. 4-6 servings.

"Roll-em-over, roll-em-over, put 'em in the pan." That's the way to prepare these good tasting beef roll-ups. They're made by wrapping round steak around a cleverly seasoned bread dressing, then braising to succulent tenderness in mushroom soup.

Steak Roll-Ups With Mushroom Sauce

- 1½ pounds round steak, cut ½ inch thick
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- 2 cups day-old bread crumbs
- ½ cup chopped celery
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon sage
- Dash of pepper and poultry seasoning
- 1 tablespoon water
- 1 can mushroom soup

Have meat man remove bone and pound steak to flatten; or pound at home with a meat pounder or edge of heavy saucer. Melt butter or margarine and in it lightly cook onion. Add bread, celery, seasonings and water. Cut meat into four pieces; on each piece, place one-fourth of the dressing. Roll and fasten with small skewers or toothpicks. Roll in flour and brown in hot fat. Pour soup, diluted with 1 cup water, over meat; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover and simmer over low heat 1½ to 2 hours or until tender. 4 servings.

Round Steak Reminders

As round steak is one of the less-tender cuts of meat, it requires moist heat cookery. Cooking slowly with added moisture softens the connective tissue which holds together the meat fibers. Round steak should not be broiled or fried.

To braise round steak, coat with seasoned flour, if desired. Brown well in a little hot fat, add a small amount of liquid and any addtional seasonings desired. Cover and cook over low heat until very tender, adding a little more liquid as needed.

Creole Slices With Baked-In Cheese Sauce A Lenten Dish

There's more than just tasty eating in this cheese main dish. Hidden in all its goodness is a plentiful supply of protein which needs to be included in your meatless Lenten meals.

Provides Protein

Cereal and cheese, both good protein providers, are ingredients of these suggestions for Lenten meal planners. Either uncooked farina — plain or malt-flavored — may be used instead of the whole wheat cereal in the recipe for the Creole Slices with the baked-in cheese sauce.

Flavor Appeal

The cereal slices are flavored with the vegetables and cheese, then cooked together before they are poured into the loaf pan. After thorough chilling, the loaf is sliced and placed in a baking dish, then covered with the tangy cheese sauce given below.

Creole Slices With Cheese Sauce

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup diced celery
⅓ cup diced green pepper
¼ cup chopped onion
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
1½ cups water
1¼ teaspoons salt
¾ cup whole wheat cereal, uncooked
3 eggs, beaten
½ cup grated American cheese

Cheese Sauce:

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
1 cup grated American cheese

Melt butter; add flour and seasonings. Stir to a smooth paste. Add milk gradually; cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Add cheese and stir until melted.

A truly refreshing hospitality beverage is apple juice. And it's one that even the youngest can drink with delight. Served chilled, it's keen-tasting and invigorating. Served hot, it's fragrant and heartening — spicy, too, if a cinnamon stick is dropped into it during the heating. With several quart bottles of apple juice on hand, you're happily set to meet guest and family demands . . . for everyone likes apple juice and almost everyone can drink it.

It's Thrifty To Freeze

Smart homemakers these days are finding it's both thrifty and handy to buy large cuts of meat and divide them into smaller cuts to freeze for later meals. With beef supplies on the increase, you'll find it's a double economy to purchase a large round-bone beef pot roast. Cut it into three pieces —the center piece with the bone in for pot roast, one end for stew meat and the remaining piece for Swiss steak or for grinding.

You'll probably be preparing one beef dinner immediately. The other two cuts go into the freezer. When freezing meat, remember these important rules: 1. Wrap meat tightly in special freezer paper, making sure to exclude as much air as possible. 2. Seal well with freezer tape or tie tightly. 3. Store at zero degrees for no longer than periods recommended by authorities. (For beef, it's 8 to 10 months.)

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef blade pot-roast.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the beef chuck. This cut contains portions of rib and blade bones.

Use Those Easter Eggs!

BROCCOLI AND EGG BAKE . . . For Easter Monday

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

On the Monday after Easter Sunday, you can use all those hard-cooked eggs whose shells your small fry have decorated with food coloring, in one of these delicious dishes. Both are made with thrifty and nutritious nonfat dry milk powder. The Broccoli and Egg Bake is an especially pretty dish; the Curried Eggs taste good with hot cooked rice and chutney.

BROCCOLI AND EGG BAKE

Igredients: One 10-ounce package frozen broccoli, 1½ cups water, ½ cup nonfat dry milk powder, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ pound processed sharp cheese food (shredded), 6 eggs (hard-cooked), paprika.

Method: Cook broccoli according to package directions, but cook only until tender-crisp, since it will get additional cooking in the oven. Drain and reserve. Pour 1½ cups water into top of double boiler. In small bowl thoroughly mix nonfat dry milk, flour, salt, pepper and mustard; sprinkle over surface of water. Beat with rotary beater until blended. Cook and stir constantly over hot water until slightly thickened. Add cheese and continue to cook and stir constantly over hot water until cheese is melted. Place broccoli in shallow baking dish (10 by 6 by 2 inches). Shell and slice eggs in half lengthwise and arrange over broccoli. Pour cheese sauce over; sprinkle with paprika. Bake in moderate (350° F) oven 20 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

CURRIED EGGS . . . Using leftover Easter eggs.

CURRIED EGGS

Ingredients: 1 cup water, ⅓ cup nonfat dry milk, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon grated onion, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 4 hard-cooked eggs (sliced), 2 cups hot cooked rice.

Method: Pour water into top of double boiler. Sprinkle nonfat dry milk, salt, curry and flour over surface of water. Beat with rotary beater until blended. Place over hot water and cook and stir constantly until slightly thickened. Stir in grated onion and Worcestershire sauce. Add sliced eggs and heat thoroughly 3 to 5 minutes. Serve with hot cooked rice and chutney. Makes 4 servings.

In the 15 years since 1938, plane miles flown by U. S. domestic scheduled airlines increased 560 per cent; passengers carried increased 1,751 per cent, and revenue passenger miles skyrocketed 2,245 per cent.

Cupcakes For Easter Dessert

Light as a feather, lemon or chocolate filled, with sugared wings, these butterfly cupcakes literally will fly away when you serve them to the family. Dainty and suggestive of spring, they are just right to serve for an Easter dinner or luncheon.

BUTTERFLY CUPCAKES

(Makes 12 large or 18 medium cup cakes)

4 eggs; ½ teaspoon salt; 2 cups sugar; 2 teaspoons vanilla; 1 cup milk; 2 tablespoons butter; 2 cups sifted flour; 2 teaspoons baking powder.

Beat eggs until very light and thick; beat in salt, sugar and vanilla. Combine milk and butter in saucepan; heat to boiling point; beat into sugar mixture. Mix and sift flour and baking powder; beat in. Fill greased muffin pans half full. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F. 20 to 25 minutes. Cool remove from pans to wire cake rack. When cold, slice off top and scoop out a very little of lower half. Fill lower half with chocolate or lemon filling. Cut top slices in half; dust heavily with confectioners' sugar; set upright on filling to resemble butterfly wings.

Chocolate Filling

Combine flour, sugar and salt. Scald milk; add. Cook over hot water 15 minutes, stirring constantly until thick, then occasionally. Add melted chocolate; blend. Add a little hot mixture to egg; return to double boiler. Cook 3 minutes, cool. Add vanilla.

Lemon Filling

Beat egg until light. Add sugar. Strain lemon juice, add with water. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cool slightly before spreading.

Use Those Easter Eggs!

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

On the Monday after Easter Sunday, you can use all those hard-cooked eggs whose shells your small fry have decorated with food coloring, in one of these delicious dishes. Both are made with thrifty and nutritious nonfat dry milk powder. The Broccoli and Egg Bake is an especially pretty dish; the Curried Eggs taste good with hot cooked rice and chutney.

BROCCOLI AND EGG BAKE

Igredients: One 10-ounce package frozen broccoli, 1½ cups water, ½ cup nonfat dry milk powder, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ pound processed sharp cheese food (shredded), 6 eggs (hard-cooked), paprika.

Method: Cook broccoli according to package directions, but cook only until tender-crisp, since it will get additional cooking in the oven. Drain and reserve. Pour 1½ cups water into top of double boiler. In small bowl thoroughly mix nonfat dry milk, flour, salt, pepper and mustard; sprinkle over surface of water. Beat with rotary beater until blended. Cook and stir constantly over hot water until slightly thickened. Add cheese and continue to cook and stir constantly over hot water until cheese is melted. Place broccoli in shallow baking dish (10 by 6 by 2 inches). Shell and slice eggs in half lengthwise and arrange over broccoli. Pour cheese sauce over; sprinkle with paprika. Bake in moderate (350° F) oven 20 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

CURRIED EGGS . . . Using leftover Easter eggs.

CURRIED EGGS

Ingredients: 1 cup water, ⅓ cup nonfat dry milk, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon grated onion, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 4 hard-cooked eggs (sliced), 2 cups hot cooked rice.

Method: Pour water into top of double boiler. Sprinkle nonfat dry milk, salt, curry and flour over surface of water. Beat with rotary beater until blended. Place over hot water and cook and stir constantly until slightly thickened. Stir in grated onion and Worcestershire sauce. Add sliced eggs and heat thoroughly 3 to 5 minutes. Serve with hot cooked rice and chutney. Makes 4 servings.

In the 15 years since 1938, plane miles flown by U. S. domestic scheduled airlines increased 560 per cent; passengers carried increased 1,751 per cent, and revenue passenger miles skyrocketed 2,245 per cent.

Cupcakes For Easter Dessert

Light as a feather, lemon or chocolate filled, with sugared wings, these butterfly cupcakes literally will fly away when you serve them to the family. Dainty and suggestive of spring, they are just right to serve for an Easter dinner or luncheon.

BUTTERFLY CUPCAKES

(Makes 12 large or 18 medium cup cakes)

4 eggs; ½ teaspoon salt; 2 cups sugar; 2 teaspoons vanilla; 1 cup milk; 2 tablespoons butter; 2 cups sifted flour; 2 teaspoons baking powder.

Beat eggs until very light and thick; beat in salt, sugar and vanilla. Combine milk and butter in saucepan; heat to boiling point; beat into sugar mixture. Mix and sift flour and baking powder; beat in. Fill greased muffin pans half full. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F. 20 to 25 minutes. Cool remove from pans to wire cake rack. When cold, slice off top and scoop out a very little of lower half. Fill lower half with chocolate or lemon filling. Cut top slices in half; dust heavily with confectioners' sugar; set upright on filling to resemble butterfly wings.

Chocolate Filling

Combine flour, sugar and salt. Scald milk; add. Cook over hot water 15 minutes, stirring constantly until thick, then occasionally. Add melted chocolate; blend. Add a little hot mixture to egg; return to double boiler. Cook 3 minutes, cool. Add vanilla.

Lemon Filling

1 egg; ¾ cups sugar; 1 lemon, juice; 1 tablespoon cold water.

Colorful Easter Breakfast-Brunch Features Bacon, Eggs

Crisp strips of bacon and toast cups of Eggs Goldenrod present a grand combination for your Easter breakfast. Start with a bright fruit cup or broiled grapefruit halves. Be sure your menu includes hot cross buns and plenty of coffee.

Breakfast Menu

Toast Cups with Eggs Goldenrod

Breakfast takes on a special importance on Easter Sunday. Ideal for this occasion is a tempting combination of crisp bacon strips with Goldenrod eggs in toast cups. This is a combination simple to prepare, yet one that makes a gay appearance on your table.

For the best results in cooking a small amount of bacon, place the strips in a single layer in a cold frying-pan. Let it cook slowly, turning the meat occasionally so that it will be evenly cooked. Spoon off the drippings as they accumulate so bacon will not cook in its drippings. Cook until of the doneness your family likes, then drain on absorbent paper.

If you're preparing a large amount of bacon, then the easiest method is to roast it. Cook the same as a roast, that is, place it in a single layer on a rack in an open roasting pan. Set your oven regulator at 300° F. and let it cook until crisp. This way you can go on about preparing the remainder of your menu, giving little attention to the bacon.

Toast cups are simply made. Lightly butter thin slices of crustless bread on both sides, then press down into muffin pans. Let the corners extend above the pan. Toast in a slow oven (300° F.) until crisp. Serve filled with Eggs Goldenrod. Prepare by hard cooking 6 eggs for 4 servings. Separate egg yolks from white. Add chopped egg white to 1½ cups of medium white sauce. Place in toast cups, then sprinkle with egg yolk pressed through a sieve.

Baked Apples With Custard Sauce

Wash and core 6 firm red apples; pare ⅓ the way down from stem end and arrange in a shallow baking dish. Cook 1 cup brown sugar and 1 cup water together in a saucepan slowly for 10 minutes. Combine ⅓ cup chopped raisins and ¼ cup chopped nuts. Stuff apples with mixture. Pour sirup over apples and bake in a moderate oven, 350°F., for 45 minutes or until tender, basting frequently. When apples are done, sprinkle 2 tablespoons granulated sugar on peeled surface of apples. Place pan under broiler until sugar is melted and peeled section is brown. Serve hot or cold with custard sauce. Serves 6.

Soft Custard

2 cups milk
3 eggs or 6 yolks
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Scald milk in top of double boiler. Beat eggs slightly; add sugar, salt and blend. Gradually add scalded milk, stirring constantly. Return to top of double boiler and cook over hot water, not boiling, until mixture coats a metal spoon (7 to 8 minutes), stirring constantly. Remove at once from hot water; cool, add vanilla. Makes 2 cups.

Colorful Easter Breakfast-Brunch Features Bacon, Eggs

Crisp strips of bacon and toast cups of Eggs Goldenrod present a grand combination for your Easter breakfast. Start with a bright fruit cup or broiled grapefruit halves. Be sure your menu includes hot cross buns and plenty of coffee.

Breakfast takes on a special importance on Easter Sunday. Ideal for this occasion is a tempting combination of crisp bacon strips with Goldenrod eggs in toast cups. This is a combination simple to prepare, yet one that makes a gay appearance on your table.

For the best results in cooking a small amount of bacon, place the strips in a single layer in a cold frying-pan. Let it cook slowly, turning the meat occasionally so that it will be evenly cooked. Spoon off the drippings as they accumulate so bacon will not cook in its drippings. Cook until of the doneness your family likes, then drain on absorbent paper.

If you're preparing a large amount of bacon, then the easiest method is to roast it. Cook the same as a roast, that is, place it in a single layer on a rack in an open roasting pan. Set your oven regulator at 300° F. and let it cook until crisp. This way you can go on about preparing the remainder of your menu, giving little attention to the bacon.

Toast cups are simply made. Lightly butter thin slices of crustless bread on both sides, then press down into muffin pans. Let the corners extend above the pan. Toast in a slow oven (300° F.) until crisp. Serve filled with Eggs Goldenrod. Prepare by hard cooking 6 eggs for 4 servings. Separate egg yolks from white. Add chopped egg white to 1½ cups of medium white sauce. Place in toast cups, then sprinkle with egg yolk pressed through a sieve.

Baked Apples With Custard Sauce

Wash and core 6 firm red apples; pare ⅓ the way down from stem end and arrange in a shallow baking dish. Cook 1 cup brown sugar and 1 cup water together in a saucepan slowly for 10 minutes. Combine ⅓ cup chopped raisins and ¼ cup chopped nuts. Stuff apples with mixture. Pour sirup over apples and bake in a moderate oven, 350°F., for 45 minutes or until tender, basting frequently. When apples are done, sprinkle 2 tablespoons granulated sugar on peeled surface of apples. Place pan under broiler until sugar is melted and peeled section is brown. Serve hot or cold with custard sauce. Serves 6.

Soft Custard

2 cups milk
3 eggs or 6 yolks
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Scald milk in top of double boiler. Beat eggs slightly; add sugar, salt and blend. Gradually add scalded milk, stirring constantly. Return to top of double boiler and cook over hot water, not boiling, until mixture coats a metal spoon (7 to 8 minutes), stirring constantly. Remove at once from hot water; cool, add vanilla. Makes 2 cups.

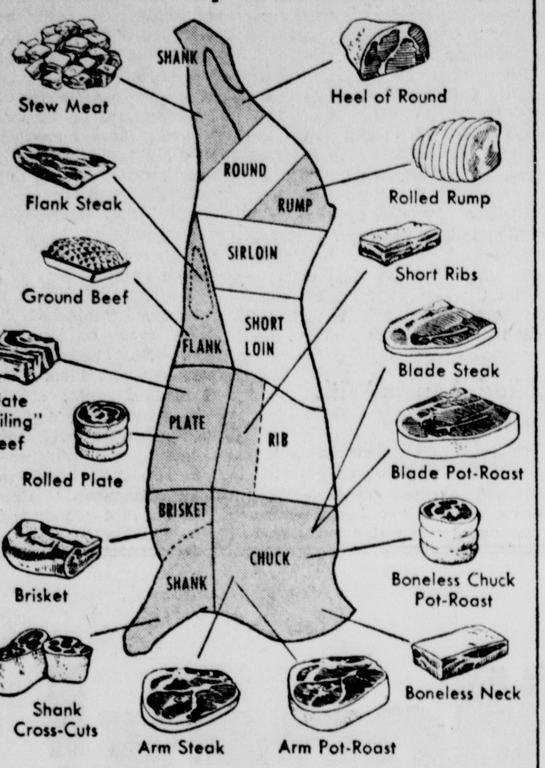
There's Economy in These Beef Cuts



Surveys show that the average homemaker makes use of less than 10 per cent of the scores of available meat cuts. Since price per pound is affected by this demand for a comparatively few cuts, it is evident that she is overlooking many cuts that would help to stretch her meat dollar.

Because meat is the center of the meal and is important in the food budget, it is of distinct advantage to be familiar with as many cuts as possible. The above chart presents a graphic picture of less-demanded beef cuts and their origin. The shaded areas, representing 60 per cent of the carcass, are sources of these lesser-known cuts. Unshaded areas provide the cuts in most popular demand.

In addition to their price advantage, the less-demanded cuts afford increased variety in the menu, and are as rich in nutritive value as the more demanded cuts.

Cauliflower Rice With Hot Cheese

Here is a rice and cauliflower casserole which may be "cast" as a leading star or as a supporting player at lunch or dinner. Happily, only one "set" is necessary for this feature production since the rice and cauliflower are quickly prepared, cooked and served in one and the same dish.

What a glamorous "gown" of cheese this inexpensively sumptuous rice and cauliflower oven dish wears to the table! The slices of yellow cheese laid over the cooked rice and cauliflower become hot, bubbly and oh-so-good, during a performance under the broiler. Then this "eating hit" is ready to "knock 'em in the aisles" with its tasty — tempting — enticing flavor.

Ingredients

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ small clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons finely diced onion
3 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoon steak sauce
1 small head cauliflower (1 lb.)
1 cup uncooked rice
2½ cups water
¼ pound thinly sliced American cheese
Paprika

Method:

In a 2-quart cooking-serving casserole, place the butter or margarine, garlic, onion, salt, pepper and steak sauce. Wash the cauliflower. Trim off most of the leaves around the head of cauliflower but leave some of the more tender ones.

This adds taste and color to the finished dish. Cut the cauliflower into six pieces and stand these pieces in the center of the baking dish. Pour the rice around the cauliflower. Add the water. Be certain all of the rice is covered with water. Cover the baking dish and place in a 350 degree F. oven for 50 minutes or until the rice and cauliflower are tender. Uncover and lay the cheese slices over the top of the cauliflower. Sprinkle with paprika. Place under moderate heat in the broiler and broil until the cheese melts and becomes bubbly. Serve immediately. This recipe makes 6 servings.

Pineapple Pie Wears A Fluffy Meringue Topping

Meringue pies look so festive they lift a simple budget dinner into a special occasion. This delicious dessert is guaranteed to do just that, for beneath the fluffy meringue topping is a cream filling combined with the always popular, delicate flavor of pineapple.

This recipe calls for crushed pineapple, but if you prefer larger pieces of fruit, substitute the same amount of undrained, plump pineapple tidbits.

You can make this dessert in a matter of minutes as the combination of ingredients is very simple. You'll find it a satisfying finale because it's not too sweet or too rich.

PINEAPPLE MERINGUE PIE

2 cups crushed pineapple, undrained
1 tbsp. cornstarch
½ cup sugar
1 tsp. grated lemon peel
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 eggs, separated
¼ cup sugar
8-inch baked pie shell

Combine crushed, undrained pineapple, cornstarch, sugar and lemon peel in sauce pan and cook over very low heat until thick and clear. Add butter. Beat egg yolks slightly and add a little of the hot mixture to the egg yolks and blend well. Return to remainder of mixture in sauce pan and cook over low heat 1 minute longer. Cool thoroughly. Pour filling into baked pie shell. Beat egg whites until stiff and gradually beat in remaining ¼ cup sugar. Continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Swirl meringue over filled pie. Bake in a moderately slow oven (325° F.) for 10 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Serves 6.

Oatmeal Ice Box Cookies

Bring out the cooky jar! Better get an extra big one, too, for here are two cookies for you to try on your next baking spree. If you're on the lookout for new ideas, you're sure to appreciate these—especially after the family judges voice their wholehearted approval.

Icebox cookies are long-time favorites of busy homemakers. These, made with uncooked rolled oats, may be sliced very thin; then, after baking, fill them with a Date Nut Filling for a cooky sandwich. Or slice a little thicker, and bake the cookies singly.

Cherries, nuts, cereal flakes, and coconut are combined in the George Washington Bars.

Toasted Oatmeal Icebox Cookies

2 cups rolled oats, uncooked; 1 cup granulated sugar; 1 cup brown sugar; 1½ cups fat; 3 eggs, beaten; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 4 cups sifted all-purpose flour; 3 teaspoons soda; 1 teaspoon salt.

Grand oats through food chopper. Place in pan and brown in oven, stirring frequently. (Do not get too brown). Meanwhile, cream sugars and fat, add eggs and vanilla, and beat until fluffy. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, and salt. Add browned oats and stir into sugar mixture. Shape into a long roll about 2 inches in diameter. Roll in waxed paper and chill in refrigerator overnight. Slice ¼ inch thick and bake in moderate oven (375°F.) about 10 minutes. Yield: 9 dozen cookies.

Date Nut Filling: Combine 1 pound chopped pitted dates, ½ cup brown sugar, and ½ cup hot water. Cook until thick. Add ½ cup finely chopped nuts; cool.

George Washington Bars

1 egg white; ¼ teaspoon salt; ¼ cup sugar; 1 cup corn flakes or whole wheat flakes; ¼ cup candied cherries, finely chopped; ¼ cup chopped nuts; 2 teaspoons shredded coconut; ½ teaspoon orange flavoring.

To the egg white, add salt and beat until stiff but not dry. Continued beating and add sugar gradually. Combine cereal flakes, cherries, nuts, and coconut, and fold into egg white mixture. Add flavoring and stir until ingredients are thoroughly blended. Divide mixture into 12 portions and shape into bars with wet fingers. Place on greased baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 10 minutes. Yield: 12 bars.

In time for Lent, is the revival of old-fashioned hot slaw on fish sandwiches. Get out grandmother's boiled dressing recipe, the kind that uses egg yolk, hot vinegar, water and salt, mix up the ingredients and cook until thick. Toss in shredded green cabbage, cover and heat through. Spoon the hot slaw liberally over a buttered slice of French bread add fried perch filets, a touch of prepared mustard and cap with another slice of bread.

Alexander the Great ordered his soldiers to shave off their beards so enemies could not grab them.

Cheese Fondue

2 cups coarse, day-old bread crumbs
2 cups milk, scalded
1½ cups grated cheese
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
Dash cayenne
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teablespoon butter
4 eggs, separated

Pull crumbs from day-old bread, using fork. Scald milk and add crumbs, grated cheese, salt, mustard, cayenne, Worcestershire sauce and butter. Add slowly to beaten egg yolks. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold into mixture. Pour into 6 individual custard cups or 1 large buttered casserole. Bake custard cups in a moderate oven, 325°F., for about 45 to 50 minutes or bake large casserole for 1 hour to 1¼ hours, until fondue is set and golden brown. Serve with Tomato Sauce. Serves 6.

Biscuits Sure To Be Perfect

Make 'em plain, or with raisins. Roll 'em out, or drop 'em. Whatever way, if you follow this recipe, you'll be successful! You'll get extra light biscuits for sure. Just watch them fly off the plate!

Young cooks, especially, are apt to be a little timid about biscuits. Maybe because there have been so many jokes about a tearful bride's leaden efforts. Maybe because so many tactless husbands have really talked about the biscuits "mother used to make."

Best part is, when you can turn out such biscuits as part of your regular bag of tricks, you can make an ordinary, run-of-the-mill lunch or dinner taste positively inspired! Which is what we all like to do, these days of high prices, when we serve less glamorous food than usual. And people certainly appreciate it when you include some such little extra, thoughtful touch.

So now you need fear no biscuit maker, past or present. You're mistress of the art!

RAISIN BISCUITS

(Makes 16 to 20)

2 cups sifted flour; 3 teaspoons baking powder; 1 teaspoon salt; ½ cup raisins; ⅓ cup shortening; ¾ cup milk.

All measurements level: Mix flour, baking powder, and salt in bowl. Cut in shortening (with two knives or a pastry blender) until the mixture looks like coarse meal. Stir in raisins. Add milk and stir just enough to hold dough together. Place dough on board or pastry cloth which has been dusted with flour. Fold dough over several times. Roll out dough ¾" to ½" thick. Cut in squares. Bake on cookie sheet in hot oven (450°F.) 10-12 minutes.

DROP BISCUITS

Here is a new, jiffy idea in the way of bread sticks. Prepare a mixture of ½ cup grated process cheese and 4 teaspoons of minced onion. Spread this mixture over four slices of toasted enriched or rye bread. Cut each toast slice into four equal strips. Toast on a cookie sheet in a moderate oven (350°F.) for 12 minutes. Serve as hot as possible with tossed salad greens or bowls of good hearty soup.

Cauliflower Rice With Hot Cheese

Here is a rice and cauliflower casserole which may be "cast" as a leading star or as a supporting player at lunch or dinner. Happily, only one "set" is necessary for this feature production since the rice and cauliflower are quickly prepared, cooked and served in one and the same dish.

What a glamorous "gown" of cheese this inexpensively sumptuous rice and cauliflower oven dish wears to the table! The slices of yellow cheese laid over the cooked rice and cauliflower become hot, bubbly and oh-so-good, during a performance under the broiler. Then this "eating hit" is ready to "knock 'em in the aisles" with its tasty — tempting — enticing flavor.

Ingredients

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ small clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons finely diced onion
3 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoon steak sauce
1 small head cauliflower (1 lb.)
1 cup uncooked rice
2½ cups water
¼ pound thinly sliced American cheese
Paprika

Method:

In a 2-quart cooking-serving casserole, place the butter or margarine, garlic, onion, salt, pepper and steak sauce. Wash the cauliflower. Trim off most of the leaves around the head of cauliflower but leave some of the more tender ones.

This adds taste and color to the finished dish. Cut the cauliflower into six pieces and stand these pieces in the center of the baking dish. Pour the rice around the cauliflower. Add the water. Be certain all of the rice is covered with water. Cover the baking dish and place in a 350 degree F. oven for 50 minutes or until the rice and cauliflower are tender. Uncover and lay the cheese slices over the top of the cauliflower. Sprinkle with paprika. Place under moderate heat in the broiler and broil until the cheese melts and becomes bubbly. Serve immediately. This recipe makes 6 servings.

Cheese Fondue

2 cups coarse, day-old bread crumbs
2 cups milk, scalded
1½ cups grated cheese
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
Dash cayenne
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teablespoon butter
4 eggs, separated

Pull crumbs from day-old bread, using fork. Scald milk and add crumbs, grated cheese, salt, mustard, cayenne, Worcestershire sauce and butter. Add slowly to beaten egg yolks. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold into mixture. Pour into 6 individual custard cups or 1 large buttered casserole. Bake custard cups in a moderate oven, 325°F., for about 45 to 50 minutes or bake large casserole for 1 hour to 1¼ hours, until fondue is set and golden brown. Serve with Tomato Sauce. Serves 6.

Pineapple Pie Wears A Fluffy Meringue Topping

Meringue pies look so festive they lift a simple budget dinner into a special occasion. This delicious dessert is guaranteed to do just that, for beneath the fluffy meringue topping is a cream filling combined with the always popular, delicate flavor of pineapple.

This recipe calls for crushed pineapple, but if you prefer larger pieces of fruit, substitute the same amount of undrained, plump pineapple tidbits.

You can make this dessert in a matter of minutes as the combination of ingredients is very simple. You'll find it a satisfying finale because it's not too sweet or too rich.

PINEAPPLE MERINGUE PIE

2 cups crushed pineapple, undrained
1 tbsp. cornstarch
½ cup sugar
1 tsp. grated lemon peel
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 eggs, separated
¼ cup sugar
8-inch baked pie shell

Combine crushed, undrained pineapple, cornstarch, sugar and lemon peel in sauce pan and cook over very low heat until thick and clear. Add butter. Beat egg yolks slightly and add a little of the hot mixture to the egg yolks and blend well. Return to remainder of mixture in sauce pan and cook over low heat 1 minute longer. Cool thoroughly. Pour filling into baked pie shell. Beat egg whites until stiff and gradually beat in remaining ¼ cup sugar. Continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Swirl meringue over filled pie. Bake in a moderately slow oven (325° F.) for 10 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Serves 6.

Biscuits Sure To Be Perfect

Make 'em plain, or with raisins. Roll 'em out, or drop 'em. Whatever way, if you follow this recipe, you'll be successful! You'll get extra light biscuits for sure. Just watch them fly off the plate!

Young cooks, especially, are apt to be a little timid about biscuits. Maybe because there have been so many jokes about a tearful bride's leaden efforts. Maybe because so many tactless husbands have really talked about the biscuits "mother used to make."

Best part is, when you can turn out such biscuits as part of your regular bag of tricks, you can make an ordinary, run-of-the-mill lunch or dinner taste positively inspired! Which is what we all like to do, these days of high prices, when we serve less glamorous food than usual. And people certainly appreciate it when you include some such little extra, thoughtful touch.

So now you need fear no biscuit maker, past or present. You're mistress of the art!

RAISIN BISCUITS

(Makes 16 to 20)

2 cups sifted flour; 3 teaspoons baking powder; 1 teaspoon salt; ½ cup raisins; ⅓ cup shortening; ¾ cup milk.

All measurements level: Mix flour, baking powder, and salt in bowl. Cut in shortening (with two knives or a pastry blender) until the mixture looks like coarse meal. Stir in raisins. Add milk and stir just enough to hold dough together. Place dough on board or pastry cloth which has been dusted with flour. Fold dough over several times. Roll out dough ¼" to ½" thick. Cut in squares. Bake on cookie sheet in hot oven (450°F.) 10-12 minutes.

DROP BISCUITS

Here is a new, jiffy idea in the way of bread sticks. Prepare a mixture of ½ cup grated process cheese and 4 teaspoons of minced onion. Spread this mixture over four slices of toasted enriched or rye bread. Cut each toast slice into four equal strips. Toast on a cookie sheet in a moderate oven (350°F.) for 12 minutes. Serve as hot as possible with tossed salad greens or bowls of good hearty soup.

Oatmeal Ice Box Cookies

Bring out the cooky jar! Better get an extra big one, too, for here are two cookies for you to try on your next baking spree. If you're on the lookout for new ideas, you're sure to appreciate these—especially after the family judges voice their wholehearted approval.

Icebox cookies are long-time favorites of busy homemakers. These, made with uncooked rolled oats, may be sliced very thin; then, after baking, fill them with a Date Nut Filling for a cooky sandwich. Or slice a little thicker, and bake the cookies singly.

Cherries, nuts, cereal flakes, and coconut are combined in the George Washington Bars.

Toasted Oatmeal Icebox Cookies

2 cups rolled oats, uncooked; 1 cup granulated sugar; 1 cup brown sugar; 1½ cups fat; 3 eggs, beaten; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 4 cups sifted all-purpose flour; 3 teaspoons soda; 1 teaspoon salt.

Grand oats through food chopper. Place in pan and brown in oven, stirring frequently. (Do not get too brown). Meanwhile, cream sugars and fat, add eggs and vanilla, and beat until fluffy. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, and salt. Add browned oats and stir into sugar mixture. Shape into a long roll about 2 inches in diameter. Roll in waxed paper and chill in refrigerator overnight. Slice ¼ inch thick and bake in moderate oven (375°F.) about 10 minutes. Yield: 9 dozen cookies.

Date Nut Filling: Combine 1 pound chopped pitted dates, ½ cup brown sugar, and ½ cup hot water. Cook until thick. Add ½ cup finely chopped nuts; cool.

George Washington Bars

1 egg white; ¼ teaspoon salt; ¼ cup sugar; 1 cup corn flakes or whole wheat flakes; ¼ cup candied cherries, finely chopped; ¼ cup chopped nuts; 2 teaspoons shredded coconut; ½ teaspoon orange flavoring.

To the egg white, add salt and beat until stiff but not dry. Continued beating and add sugar gradually. Combine cereal flakes, cherries, nuts, and coconut, and fold into egg white mixture. Add flavoring and stir until ingredients are thoroughly blended. Divide mixture into 12 portions and shape into bars with wet fingers. Place on greased baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 10 minutes. Yield: 12 bars.

In time for Lent, is the revival of old-fashioned hot slaw on fish sandwiches. Get out grandmother's boiled dressing recipe, the kind that uses egg yolk, hot vinegar, water and salt, mix up the ingredients and cook until thick. Toss in shredded green cabbage, cover and heat through. Spoon the hot slaw liberally over a buttered slice of French bread add fried perch filets, a touch of prepared mustard and cap with another slice of bread.

Popular Ground Beef Good In Many Dishes

Ground beef is a "friend in need" to the thrift-conscious homemaker. It's economical, easy to prepare in a number of delightful dishes and has the same fine flavor as the choicest beef cuts.

During these days of beef plenty, there's lots of ground beef around, ready for use in rich flavored casseroles, good tasting skillet dishes and tender juicy meat loaves.

The homemaker who makes a really topnotch meat loaf is popular with her family whenever she serves this economical dish. Here's a recipe for an unusually good meat loaf which was chosen from a group of loaves tested. It scored high because of its good flavor, juiciness and sliceability.

Favorite Meat Loaf

1½ pound ground beef; ½ pound ground pork; ¼ cup finely chopped onion; 2 teaspoons salt; ¼ teaspoon pepper; ¼ teaspoon sage; ¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning; 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce; 2 eggs; 1 cup tomato juice; 4 slices bread.

Combine meat with onion and seasonings. Beat eggs and add tomato juice. Cube bread and soak in the liquid mixture. Beat well. Add to meat and mix lightly. Pack into 5 x 9 inch meat loaf pan and bake at 350°F. for 1¼ hours. Let loaf stand for 10 minutes, then drain off liquid and turn out of pan. Spread with catsup or hot tomato sauce. (If desired, loaf may be spread with ½ cup catsup before baking. This adds moisture and interesting flavor.)

Change-Abouts for Meat Loaf

There are so many ways to vary meat loaf that you can serve it often without being repetitious. Here are some suggestions:

Vary the meat: Use ½ pound ground pork shoulder, ½ pound ground veal and 1 pound ground beef; or use 1½ pounds ground beef and ½ pound ground bologna.

Vary the seasonings: Use dry mustard, thyme, horseradish or pickle relish.

Vary the toppings: Spread loaf with chili sauce or thick barbecue sauce before baking.

Vary the shape: Bake meat loaf mixture in muffin pans or ring mold. Or shape into individual loaves and spread with tomato sauce before baking.

Blue Ribbon Meat Balls

These tasty meat balls are prize winners on three scores—they're nutritious, for they use not only ground beef but also cheese and egg; they're platter-pretty with flecks of green pepper and golden cheese throughout; and they're interestingly seasoned.

Lemon Meat Balls

1 pound ground chuck; 1 cup soft bread crumbs; ⅓ cup catsup; 1 egg; 1 cup grated cheese (¼ pound); ¼ cup finely chopped green pepper; 2 tablespoons minced onion; ¼ cup lemon juice; 1 teaspoon salt; 12 slices bacon.

Add bread crumbs to catsup and slightly beaten egg. Combine with remaining ingredients, except bacon. Shape mixture into 12 balls and wrap each ball with 1 slice bacon. Fasten bacon securely around meat balls with toothpicks. Bake on a rack in a shallow pan in a moderately hot oven, 400°F., for 45 minutes, or until bacon is done. Turn balls two or three times during baking to cook bacon evenly. 4 servings.

Cheese Crusted 'Burger Pie

Here is a flavorful, colorful, meal-in-a-dish—just the thing to please the end of the month food budget.

Tempt family appetites with this Cheese Crusted Hamburger Pie early this spring. You may even be surprised yourself at how your family will accept a new dish so quickly—and demand repeats in the future.

This pie can be your economy dish for the week. The hamburger pie picks up a delicious new flavor with the "melt in your mouth" cheese crusted topping. Luckily too, it not only tastes good, but is good for you! When the cheese crust is made with enriched flour, you get extra shares of B-Vitamins and food iron along with food energy and protein.

Along with this Cheese Crusted Hamburger pie you will like to include a fresh green tossed salad with some of the new spring vegetables. This in itself would make a complete luncheon but for a dinner perhaps you'll want to include a dish of fresh new asparagus. Nothing more will be needed to get the "You're the best cook, mom" reward.

Clip this recipe not only for this week's menu but also for future demands.

CHEESE CRUSTED HAMBURGER PIE

1 garlic bud, sliced
3 tablespoons fat or drippings
1 pound ground beef
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
¼ cup enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
2¼ cups tomato juice (1 No. 2 can)
½ cup chopped celery
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Fry garlic in fat or drippings in heavy skillet for about 5 minutes. Remove garlic. Add ground beef and green pepper and brown well. Stir in flour and salt. Add tomato juice and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in celery and Worcestershire sauce. Pour into 8-inch square baking dish. Top with Cheese Pastry.

Cheese Pastry

1½ cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
¾ cup shredded American cheese
5 tablespoons cold water (about)

Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening. Add cheese. Sprinkle with water. Mix lightly until dough begins to stick together. Roll out about ⅛ inch thick. Cut into 8-inch square and cover hamburger mixture. Cut remaining pastry into strips ½-inch wide and arrange lattice style on top of 8-inch pastry square. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 30 minutes.

Makes 4 servings.

Rice, Cheese Souffle With Creamed Peas

It is no wonder that the family will be at the table and waiting to eat, when the word gets around that this rice souffle is reaching a golden perfection in the oven. Spoonfuls of green peas, creamed by using mushroom soup, are served over each helping of the fluffy rice and cheese souffle. These two partners, rice souffle and peas, each perfectly compliments the flavor and appearance of the other.

Ingredients

2 tablespoons butter or margarine; 2 tablespoons flour; ¾ cup milk; ½ teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 1 ½ cups grated American cheese; 2 eggs, separated; 2 cups cooked rice; 2 cups hot cooked green peas; ½ cup water; 1 10½ ounce can cream of mushroom soup; ½ teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 1 tablespoon diced pimiento.

Preparing the fluffy white rice: To make 3 liberal cups of fluffy rice, put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover saucepan with a lid and leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn off the heat. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking. After rice has cooked, remove saucepan from heat—but keep the lid on until you are ready to use the rice.

Use exact measurements of uncooked rice and water. Time the cooking accurately. For real convenience and economy of time and effort, keep unused rice in the refrigerator in a covered container at all times. Use it for many quick, delicious and inexpensive soups, salads, casserole dishes, hot breads and desserts.

Method: Over a low heat melt the butter or margarine. Stir in the flour and cook until well blended but not browned. Slowly add the milk and blend well. Cook until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Add the salt, pepper and cheese and cook, stirring constantly until the cheese melts. Remove from the heat. Beat in the egg yolks one at a time. Add the rice and mix thoroughly. Beat the egg whites until stiff. Add rice and cheese mixture, gently folding egg whites into rice and cheese. Pour into an ungreased 1½ quart casserole. Bake in a 325°F. oven for 15 minutes.

Mix together the hot cooked peas, water (use water in which cooked), mushroom soup, salt, pepper and pimientos.

Pork, Apple Wedges

Try this pork and apple combination. Dredge pork shoulder steaks (cut about ¾ inch thick) with flour. Brown in lard, and pour off the drippings. Then season with salt and pepper and add ¼ cup of water. Cover tightly and cook slowly until the steaks are done, about 45 minutes. In the meantime core and slice 3 large apples. Dissolve ½ cup water. Add apples and cook until tender. Serve with the pork steaks.

Molasses Discs Are Lunch Box Favorites

Here's an ideal sweet to pack in the lunch box. They're Molasses Discs, and besides being nutritious, they will satisfy even the sweetest sweet-tooth in the family.

Make this confection in any size; for smaller patties, you'll have to use extra speed. After the hot syrup is poured over the cereal and peanut mixture, shape the discs in an easy-to-eat size. Use either crisp corn puffs or ready-to-eat cereal; each gives the crunchiness you want, each cereal contributes its own mellow grain flavor.

MOLASSES DISCS

4 cups ready-to-eat oat cereal or crisp corn puffs
1½ cups salted peanuts
1½ cups brown sugar
¾ cup light molasses
½ cup water
4 teaspoon vinegar
⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar
1½ teaspoons soda

Place cereal and salted peanuts into large greased bowl. Mix brown sugar, molasses, water, vinegar, and cream of tartar together in saucepan and cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until a little dropped into cold water forms a hard ball (250°F.). Blend in soda. (Mixture becomes fluffy and porous. Pour syrup over peanut mixture. Mix with greased spoon. cool slightly to thicken. With greased hands, form into patties. Cool on greased baking sheet. Yield: 3 dozen patties, 2 inches in diameter.

An average, 140-pound man gives off 336 to 400 British thermal units (heat) per hour when at rest and 525 to 735 when working hard.

Popular Ground Beef Good In Many Dishes

Ground beef is a "friend in need" to the thrift-conscious homemaker. It's economical, easy to prepare in a number of delightful dishes and has the same fine flavor as the choicest beef cuts.

During these days of beef plenty, there's lots of ground beef around, ready for use in rich flavored casseroles, good tasting skillet dishes and tender juicy meat loaves.

The homemaker who makes a really topnotch meat loaf is popular with her family whenever she serves this economical dish. Here's a recipe for an unusually good meat loaf which was chosen from a group of loaves tested. It scored high because of its good flavor, juiciness and sliceability.

Favorite Meat Loaf

1½ pound ground beef; ½ pound ground pork; ¼ cup finely chopped onion; 2 teaspoons salt; ¼ teaspoon pepper; ¼ teaspoon sage; ¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning; 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce; 2 eggs; 1 cup tomato juice; 4 slices bread.

Combine meat with onion and seasonings. Beat eggs and add tomato juice. Cube bread and soak in the liquid mixture. Beat well. Add to meat and mix lightly. Pack into 5 x 9 inch meat loaf pan and bake at 350°F. for 1¼ hours. Let loaf stand for 10 minutes, then drain off liquid and turn out of pan. Spread with catsup or hot tomato sauce. (If desired, loaf may be spread with ⅓ cup catsup before baking. This adds moisture and interesting flavor.)

Change-Abouts for Meat Loaf

There are so many ways to vary meat loaf that you can serve it often without being repetitious. Here are some suggestions:

Vary the meat: Use ½ pound ground pork shoulder, ½ pound ground veal and 1 pound ground beef; or use 1½ pounds ground beef and ½ pound ground bologna.

Vary the seasonings: Use dry mustard, thyme, horseradish or pickle relish.

Vary the toppings: Spread loaf with chili sauce or thick barbecue sauce before baking.

Vary the shape: Bake meat loaf mixture in muffin pans or ring mold. Or shape into individual loaves and spread with tomato sauce before baking.

Blue Ribbon Meat Balls

These tasty meat balls are prize winners on three scores—they're nutritious, for they use not only ground beef but also cheese and egg; they're platter-pretty with flecks of green pepper and golden cheese throughout; and they're interestingly seasoned.

Lemon Meat Balls

1 pound ground chuck; 1 cup soft bread crumbs; ⅓ cup catsup; 1 egg; 1 cup grated cheese (¼ pound); ¼ cup finely chopped green pepper; 2 tablespoons minced onion; ¼ cup lemon juice; 1 teaspoon salt; 12 slices bacon.

Add bread crumbs to catsup and slightly beaten egg. Combine with remaining ingredients, except bacon. Shape mixture into 12 balls and wrap each ball with 1 slice bacon. Fasten bacon securely around meat balls with toothpicks. Bake on a rack in a shallow pan in a moderately hot oven, 400°F., for 45 minutes, or until bacon is done. Turn balls two or three times during baking to cook bacon evenly. 4 servings.

Cheese Crusted 'Burger Pie

Here is a flavorful, colorful, meal-in-a-dish—just the thing to please the end of the month food budget.

Tempt family appetites with this Cheese Crusted Hamburger Pie early this spring. You may even be surprised yourself at how your family will accept a new dish so quickly—and demand repeats in the future.

This pie can be your economy dish for the week. The hamburger pie picks up a delicious new flavor with the "melt in your mouth" cheese crusted topping. Luckily too, it not only tastes good, but is good for you! When the cheese crust is made with enriched flour, you get extra shares of B-Vitamins and food iron along with food energy and protein.

Along with this Cheese Crusted Hamburger pie you will like to include a fresh green tossed salad with some of the new spring vegetables. This in itself would make a complete luncheon but for a dinner perhaps you'll want to include a dish of fresh new asparagus. Nothing more will be needed to get the "You're the best cook, mom" reward.

Clip this recipe not only for this week's menu but also for future demands.

CHEESE CRUSTED HAMBURGER PIE

1 garlic bud, sliced
3 tablespoons fat or drippings
1 pound ground beef
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
¼ cup enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
2¼ cups tomato juice (1 No. 2 can)
½ cup chopped celery
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Fry garlic in fat or drippings in heavy skillet for about 5 minutes. Remove garlic. Add ground beef and green pepper and brown well. Stir in flour and salt. Add tomato juice and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in celery and Worcestershire sauce. Pour into 8-inch square baking dish. Top with Cheese Pastry.

Cheese Pastry

1½ cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
¾ cup shredded American cheese
5 tablespoons cold water (about)

Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening. Add cheese. Sprinkle with water. Mix lightly until dough begins to stick together. Roll out about ¼ inch thick. Cut into 8-inch square and cover hamburger mixture. Cut remaining pastry into strips ½-inch wide and arrange lattice style on top of 8-inch pastry square. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 30 minutes.

Makes 4 servings.

Rice, Cheese Souffle With Creamed Peas

It is no wonder that the family will be at the table and waiting to eat, when the word gets around that this rice souffle is reaching a golden perfection in the oven. Spoonfuls of green peas, creamed by using mushroom soup, are served over each helping of the fluffy rice and cheese souffle. These two partners, rice souffle and peas, each perfectly compliments the flavor and appearance of the other.

Ingredients

2 tablespoons butter or margarine; 2 tablespoons flour; ¾ cup milk; ½ teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 1 ½ cups grated American cheese; 2 eggs, separated; 2 cups cooked rice; 2 cups hot cooked green peas; ½ cup water; 1 10½ ounce can cream of mushroom soup; ½ teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 1 tablespoon diced pimiento.

Preparing the fluffy white rice: To make 3 liberal cups of fluffy rice, put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover saucepan with a lid and leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn off the heat. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking. After rice has cooked, remove saucepan from heat—but keep the lid on until you are ready to use the rice.

Use exact measurements of uncooked rice and water. Time the cooking accurately. For real convenience and economy of time and effort, keep unused rice in the refrigerator in a covered container at all times. Use it for many quick, delicious and inexpensive soups, salads, casserole dishes, hot breads and desserts.

Method: Over a low heat melt the butter or margarine. Stir in the flour and cook until well blended but not browned. Slowly add the milk and blend well. Cook until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Add the salt, pepper and cheese and cook, stirring constantly until the cheese melts. Remove from the heat. Beat in the egg yolks one at a time. Add the rice and mix thoroughly. Beat the egg whites until stiff. Add rice and cheese mixture, gently folding egg whites into rice and cheese. Pour into an ungreased 1½ quart casserole. Bake in a 325°F. oven for 15 minutes.

Mix together the hot cooked peas, water (use water in which cooked), mushroom soup, salt, pepper and pimientos.

To serve, spoon the peas over the servings of the souffle.

Pork, Apple Wedges

Try this pork and apple combination. Dredge pork shoulder steaks (cut about ¾ inch thick) with flour. Brown in lard, and pour off the drippings. Then season with salt and pepper and add ¼ cup of water. Cover tightly and cook slowly until the steaks are done, about 45 minutes. In the meantime core and slice 3 large apples. Dissolve ½ cup water. Add apples and cook until tender. Serve with the pork steaks.

Molasses Discs Are Lunch Box Favorites

Here's an ideal sweet to pack in the lunch box. They're Molasses Discs, and besides being nutritious, they will satisfy even the sweetest sweet-tooth in the family.

Make this confection in any size; for smaller patties, you'll have to use extra speed. After the hot syrup is poured over the cereal and peanut mixture, shape the discs in an easy-to-eat size. Use either crisp corn puffs or ready-to-eat cereal; each gives the crunchiness you want, each cereal contributes its own mellow grain flavor.

MOLASSES DISCS

4 cups ready-to-eat oat cereal or crisp corn puffs
1½ cups salted peanuts
1½ cups brown sugar
¾ cup light molasses
½ cup water
¼ teaspoon vinegar
⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar
1½ teaspoons soda

Place cereal and salted peanuts into large greased bowl. Mix brown sugar, molasses, water, vinegar, and cream of tartar together in saucepan and cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until a little dropped into cold water forms a hard ball (250°F.). Blend in soda. (Mixture becomes fluffy and porous. Pour syrup over peanut mixture. Mix with greased spoon, cool slightly to thicken. With greased hands, form into patties. Cool on greased baking sheet. Yield: 3 dozen patties, 2 inches in diameter.

An average, 140-pound man gives off 336 to 400 British thermal units (heat) per hour when at rest and 525 to 735 when working hard.

Police CD Unit To Be Doubled

The Cumberland Auxiliary Police Force will be doubled to meet its role in Civil Defense plans, Tech. Sgt. John M. Newhouse, City Police advisor to the group, said yesterday.

In order to be fully effective in the case of an emergency, the unit must be expanded from its present size of 100 members to 200 or 250, Sgt. Newhouse pointed out.

Applications may be obtained from Sgt. Newhouse at City Police headquarters in the Public Safety Building.

Sgt. Newhouse and Corbett S. Browning, chief of the volunteer outfit, particularly urges former members to re-join.

In the near future, classes will be conducted on meeting nights by Civil Defense authorities outlining the duties of the volunteer policemen in the time of emergency.

Sgt. Newhouse said the auxiliary police unit in emergencies will work in conjunction with the regular police forces and with fire-fighting and rescue units.

The local auxiliary police force is the only volunteer police unit in Maryland, Sgt. Newhouse explained. It operates at gatherings that are too large for the City Police to handle.

Amcelle Wage Talks To Resume April 1

Negotiations between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), and the Celanese Corporation of America on a wage hike proposed for the Amcelle plant will be held next Wednesday, according to Neil Toey, union president.

The talks had originally been set for today but were postponed due to the inability of Boyd E. Payton, regional director of the Upper South for the TWUA, to be here.

Talks will be solely on wages as the current pact has until August 8, 1954 to go.

Two Road Deaths Listed For February

A traffic summary released yesterday by State Police shows two persons were fatally hurt in highway accidents in Allegany county last month.

The report also stated 11 persons suffered injuries in 25 mishaps. Nine property damage cases were listed.

Killed were Frank Toler, 30, of Wellersburg, and Alvin Robert Miller, 24, of Wood Street, Westernport. Garrett County had no fatalities during February.

Missing Boy Found

SRC, County To Confer On Road System

A conference will be held Thursday between a representative of the State Roads Commission and county officials on inclusion of slightly more than 25 miles of county roadways in the state-approved bona fide system.

The session is scheduled for 9:30 a. m. April 2 at the office of J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, in the Union Street County Building.

Inclusion of the 25 or so miles will result in the county receiving approximately $12,000 additional in gas tax monies based on road mileage. There are about 494 miles of roads in the county now for which gas funds are received.

George W. Cassell, a highway engineer for the State Roads Commission, will confer with Chapman and members of the County Board of Commissioners on the 1952 program, which includes work done on highways and bridges.

A complete inventory will also be made of the county roads system by the State Roads Commission in May. Preliminary information will be presented at the meeting next week on this phase of the program.

The request of the county for inclusion of 25 miles of present roads in the bona fide roads system will result in a check of data such as rights of way, road specifications and other details.

Panicked By Blaze, Women Needlessly Leap Three Stories

CHICAGO, March 26 (AP) — Two women, panicked by fire, tossed a 26-month-old boy from the third story window into the arms of a neighbor yesterday, then leaped to a sidewalk.

The women, who were injured when they plunged from their near southwest side apartment, could have walked to safety, firemen said.

Injured were Miss Viola Hoskins, 17, and her sister, Mrs. Pennie Harris, 26, both Negroes. Mrs. Harris' son, Johnny Jr., was not hurt in his exit from the building.

Firemen said the fire, caused by an oil heater explosion, did $1,500 damage to the three story brick apartment building.

Williamsport Seeks To Extend Boundary

WILLIAMSPORT, Md., March 26 (AP) — Williamsport's mayor and council yesterday asked the Washington County delegation at the General Assembly to sponsor an enabling act which permit it to extend its boundary lines and double its population.

Residents both within the present town limits and the territory to be annexed would have to approve it in a referendum.

The proposed expansion would extend the town limits as much as a mile in some directions and give Williamsport a population of about 3,600.

Mayor John Hetzer said extending sewer lines and other municipal services might require that the Williamsport tax rate be doubled.

Russia And Red China Sign Trade Agreement

MOSCOW, March 26 (AP) — The Soviet Union and Communist China have signed a broad new trade agreement for exchange of goods and for additional Russian credits to China, Soviet newspapers said today.

Under the new pact, Russia will furnish China with supplies for equipping various heavy industries and also will give the Peiping regime special assistance "in expanding existing and constructing new electric power stations." China in return will furnish Russia with specified goods.

Use Of New Drug To Treat Ocular TB Described At Clinical Meeting

BALTIMORE, March 26 (AP) — About 300 eye specialists from throughout the country gathered here yesterday at Johns Hopkins University for the 12th clinical meeting of the Wilmer Residents Association, a group of former and present staff members of Hopkins' Wilmer Ophthalmological Institute.

The head of the institute, Dr. Alan C. Woods, opened the three-day conference which continues through Friday noon.

A number of scientific papers were read and discussion groups were organized.

One of the papers was on ocular tuberculosis involving the use of isoniozid, a drug first tested about a year ago in New York.

The paper was read by Dr. Bernard Becker, present resident of ophthalmology at Hopkins. He told of the work accomplished by himself, Dr. Woods and Dr. Ronald M. Wood, assistant to Dr. Woods.

The paper described experiments with 24 rabbits whose eyes were exposed to the tubercular baccilus.

Dr. Becker said that when isoniozid was given, the eyes of the rabbits cleared up and remained normal for as long as the drug was given, a period of six weeks.

He said after treatment was discontinued the rabbits again developed TB of the eyes. When treatment was begun again in eight rabbits, six of them showed some improvement and two of them none.

Dr. Becker said the experiment suggested that the baccilus lies dormant during the treatment period and that a resistant strain of the TB germ can develop.

However, he said the drug can produce dramatic improvement and is a potent, non-toxic agent for treatment of tuberculosis.

Albania Red Chief Hits Defiant Note

MOSCOW, March 26 (AP)—The leader of Albania's Communists has vowed that the "strongly fortified" coast of the Communist-ruled country would repel any invader.

His statement was in a message to the Soviet Union printed in Pravda here yesterday.

There have been recurrent reports from Albania that the country is seething and ripe for revolt against the dictatorial Communist regime. Albania has been isolated geographically from the Soviet-dominated satellite world ever since 1948 when the Communist party of Tito's Yugoslavia defected and was thrown out of the Cominform.

The message was signed by Enver Hoxha, secretary general of the Albanian Communist party Central Committee. It pledged Albania anew to allegiance to the USSR.

Panicked By Blaze, Women Needlessly Leap Three Stories

CHICAGO, March 26 (AP) — Two women, panicked by fire, tossed a 26-month-old boy from the third story window into the arms of a neighbor yesterday, then leaped to a sidewalk.

The women, who were injured when they plunged from their near southwest side apartment, could have walked to safety, firemen said.

Injured were Miss Viola Hoskins, 17, and her sister, Mrs. Pennie Harris, 26, both Negroes. Mrs. Harris' son, Johnny Jr., was not hurt in his exit from the building.

Firemen said the fire, caused by an oil heater explosion, did $1,500 damage to the three story brick apartment building.

Williamsport Seeks To Extend Boundary

WILLIAMSPORT, Md., March 26 (AP) — Williamsport's mayor and council yesterday asked the Washington County delegation at the General Assembly to sponsor an enabling act which permit it to extend its boundary lines and double its population.

Residents both within the present town limits and the territory to be annexed would have to approve it in a referendum.

The proposed expansion would extend the town limits as much as a mile in some directions and give Williamsport a population of about 3,600.

Mayor John Hetzer said extending sewer lines and other municipal services might require that the Williamsport tax rate be doubled.

State Officials Study Effects Of Budget Cut

Kimble Worried Over Health Group Slash

Anxious state officials weighed the effect of a House committee's squeeze on their budgets yesterday in the midst of reports they may be harder pressed in the senate.

Delegates already have given halfway approval to cuts of two million dollars recommended by their Ways and Means Committee.

After nearly two months of poking into appropriations allowed by Gov. McKeldin, the House unit headed by Majority Leader Logan (D-Caroline) ripped amounts ranging up to $372,000 from most state agencies.

Sen. Kimble Worried

"We have gone deeper already on some of them," Majority Leader Goldstein (D-Calvert) of the Senate said.

Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany) said he was worried lest $100,000 stricken from the State Health Department would "interfere with an adequate medical care program" for the needy in Baltimore and the counties.

The House reacted enthusiastically Wednesday when Logan reported his committee's cuts, wielded by Republicans and Democrats alike.

"We didn't try to set a record," Logan said. The committee's aim was to "tighten the belt" and come up with a "good intelligent budget," he declared.

The committee may actually have set a record. No one in the statehouse could recall such a hefty cut in a state budget, which is developed after months of deliberations by the governor and his budget aides and then viewed awesomely by legislators.

Governor Approves

The governor implied his endorsement of the ways and means reductions. Before they were even reported, but after being briefed on them, McKeldin sent down a message devoting all savings to the state property tax.

This is what the committee had recommended. The estimated rate would be 5 2-3 cents on the $100, base on the budget cuts recommended.

Del. Green (R-Garrett), the House minority leader, said on the floor all the economies "have been justified and in no way will cripple or harm the services of the state."

For real trimming, the committee had only 105 millions of the original 195-million-dollar budget to work with. The balance consists of special funds, which may be used regardless by departments fed on them.

Two Million Cut

General funds, reflected in the budget total, would be pared $1,942,417 by the ways and means knife.

The total changes would be $2,163,932, but the difference would mean only that some special funds must be used for purposes other than those first intended.

Most of them would go for roads, since the committee took motor vehicles revenue from items providing a return to two license tags per car and a 40-man increase in the State Police force. The police allowance would pay for only 20 additional troopers.

Among the larger reductions, public welfare would do without $372,000, the health department $285,000, mental hygiene $255,000 and the University of Maryland $218,000.

In addition, the state's emergency fund would be cut in half to $250,000.

No Payroll Cut

Logan insisted the saving would not force anyone off the state payroll although a number of new positions were declined. He said travel expenses, printing budgets and so forth were more inviting targets.

The money agencies turned back last year and the jobs they were unable to fill influenced the committee in deciding where to lower the boom, he added.

parishes on the Eastern Shore, in Connecticut and finally in New York City. In 1816 he returned to Europe, and records indicate that he went back into the Catholic Church.

Holy Communion was first celebrated in the new Episcopal parish October 16, 1803, with a Rev. Mr. Reynolds of Hampshire County, Va., officiating before a congregation of 10 persons.

It was not until 1817 that work was begun on the first church building on the site of old Fort Cumberland, where the present church has stood since 1851. This original structure was built through joint efforts of Episcopalians and Presbyterians. Ill fortune dogged the project. In 1818, while still unfinished, the building was sold to Colonel William Lamar to satisfy a judgment and it was used for some time for business purposes.

Finally, 1829 the vestry was able to buy the property back and with a rector, Rev. Leonard Holiday Johns, for the first time in 24 years after Dr. Kewley's departure, the church was completed. It was consecrated April 20, 1830, by Rt. Rev. William Meade, assistant Bishop of Virginia. From the founding of the parish the Episcopalians had been worshiping in the Lutheran Church when not used by its congregation. This first church building had a short history, having been torn down in 1848 to make room for the present edifice which stands as a sentinel on the hill looking down upon Baltimore Street. The present church was consecrated on October 16, 1851.

Youth Receives Suspended Fines

A local 18-year-old youth was given suspended fines totaling $15 and costs yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court on two motor vehicle charges.

Raymond Richard Jones, 128 Greene Street, pleaded guilty to displaying fictitious auto tags and operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license.

Jones was one of three boys investigated in connection with siphoning oil from parked cars Tuesday night. No theft charges were filed, however. Two 16-year-old boys will be given hearings in Juvenile Court tomorrow.

Romney School Is Cited For Lack Of Insight

Committee Report To Education Board

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 26 (AP) — A criticism of "complacency and lack of insight" at the Romney Schools for the Deaf and Blind was laid before the West Virginia Board of Education today.

The criticism, with accompanying recommendations for improvement at the Romney schools, was contained in a report made by a three-member committee chosen by the Board to study the administration and operation of the institution.

The board appointed the committee soon after allegations of "slavery" and a general "fear complex" were levelled at the Romney schools last year.

Chief among the Romney committee's criticisms were these:

1. An unhealthy degree of complacency and lack of insight into the realities of the institution.

2. The fact that the West Virginia school is next to the bottom minimum salaries, as revealed in a nation-wide survey.

3. That teachers in both schools have, comparatively speaking, exceedingly little specific formal college preparation in special education as it relates to the type of children they are teaching.

On the credit side, among other things, the committee said it found that the policy of the school was not to inflict corporal punishment upon children.

Romney School Is Cited For Lack Of Insight

Committee [illegible] To Education Board

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 26 (AP) — A criticism of "complacency and lack of insight" at the Romney Schools for the Deaf and Blind was laid before the West Virginia Board of Education today.

The criticism, with accompanying recommendations for improvement at the Romney schools, was contained in a report made by a three-member committee chosen by the Board to study the administration and operation of the institution.

The board appointed the committee soon after allegations of "slavery" and a general "fear complex" were levelled at the Romney schools last year.

Chief among the Romney committee's criticisms were these:

1. An unhealthy degree of complacency and lack of insight into the realities of the institution.

2. The fact that the West Virginia school is next to the bottom minimum salaries, as revealed in a nation-wide survey.

3. That teachers in both schools have, comparatively speaking, exceedingly little specific formal college preparation in special education as it relates to the type of children they are teaching.

On the credit side, among other things, the committee said it found that the policy of the school was not to inflict corporal punishment upon children.

He also noted that he had discussed with B&O officials steps that might be taken to curb erosion of soil off the high bank where Thomas Street has been relocated. He has suggested planting some low shrubs. He also is being asked for advice on how to develop a better lawn at the Queen City Station.

Conservationists Hear Reports On Activity Here

Edward M. Davis, College Park, state soil conservationist, and Hugh Hancock, soil conservationist for seven Western Maryland counties, attended the monthly meeting of the Allegany Soil Conservation District Supervisors yesterday in the office of County Agent R. F. McHenry.

A feature of the meeting was a report by Martin Gordon, soil conservation aid here, on his activities during February and March.

To show the variety of assistance offered, Gordon cited that he had offered advice to the Woman's Civic Club on landscaping and establishing a lawn at the County Infirmary on Furnace Street. He also noted that he had discussed with B&O officials steps that might be taken to curb erosion of soil off the high bank where Thomas Street has been relocated. He has suggested planting some low shrubs. He also is being asked for advice on how to develop a better lawn at the Queen City Station.

Gordon also reported that one new farm pond has been established in the past two months on the property of John Hardinger, Bedford Road.

Twelve new cooperators, with a total acreage of 1,270, also have started soil conservation programs on their farms. They are Emory Shriver, Flintstone; C. E. Heavner, Wiley Ford, W. Va.; C. T. Norris, Little Orleans; G. S. Boggs, Williams Road; Wilbert Michael, Mt. Savage; Dorothy Shipley, Flintstone; Francis H. Barncord, Corriganville; Charles B. Humbertson, Oldtown; Joseph E. Harper, Oldtown; Simon F. Piper, Oldtown; Joseph W. Silber, Oldtown, and A. W. Conaway, Mt. Savage.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK (INS) — Some people in the news . . .

President Eisenhower has stunned the Washington baseball colony by showing only a mild interest in the invitation to throw out the first ball of the season at Griffith Stadium April 13.

Ike, the best athlete ever to reach the presidency, has long planned to fly to his favorite golfing retreat, Augusta, Ga., on that day when the champion Yankees drop down to the capital to help the Senators inaugurate another disastrous season. He is reported to be reluctant to change his plans. If it were a football to be thrown out, it might be different. Eisenhower's list of achievements is imposing. Among a thousand other feats he will be known as the only president of the U. S. who ever tackled Jim Thorpe.

In all probability, the President will sit still for what has become a pretty sacred ritual around Washington. At last report he was considering postponing his take-off time until after he attended the throwing-out ceremony. It all began in 1912, if memory serves, in the last months of William Howard Taft's reign. Clark Griffith, in his first year as manager and part owner of the team, picked up a new ball and audaciously (it seemed) asked President Taft to toss it into play. No president — not even sports-loathing Cal Coolidge — has felt safe about breaking that precedent ever since.

Adm. Robert W. Berry, head of Los Angeles' Civil Defense and Disaster Corps, brings to this sorely neglected field the verve and vigor it has needed since its inception.

The retired submariner was among the 300 civil defense leaders on hand for the recent A-bomb test at the place we named Doom Town, Nev., and which the Nevada State Legislature is expected to incorporate, as such. With him were other former military men who have turned to this field, in retirement, and are rendering services similar to Berry.

Berry has the awe-inspiring job of coordinating the defense of perhaps the world's farthest-flung city. Los Angeles sprawls over 454 square miles and pressed against it are 44 lesser cities and 46 sizeable hamlets. When Berry took over in February, 1951, a month after he retired with the rank of rear admiral, he found only paper plans for L. A.'s defense. But in eight months he had lined up 102,917 workers, has picked up 50,000 more since then, and is gunning for 300,000 additional wardens and helpers.

He'll get 'em, too. He's the inspirational type the work needs. And he's done tougher things in life. Come up in life, for instance. He was born over a saloon on New York's Lower East Side. At 15 he was an orphan and ran away from the home he had in a cold water flat. He talked his way into the Marines, was shipped to Haiti as a drummer boy, studied like a fiend, and won a competitive appointment to the Naval Academy.

After graduation he served in submarines with the West Coast fleet, and had a tremendous record during World War II. But he's as keen about arousing public interest in civil defense as he was in helping prepare the amphibious assaults at Leyte. More necks are at stake, he figures.

Another retired admiral, Dewitt C. Ramsey, president of the Aircraft Industries Association, announces with pride (and awe) that more people now fly across the Atlantic and Pacific than go by ship.

During 1952 more than 1,300,000 passengers arrived at or departed from U. S. airports on international trips, via commercial airlines. That meant 150,000 more than the year before and 300,000 more than were carried by the steamship lines. Ramsey expects that total will jump to nearly 2,000,000 for 1953.

Busiest international airport was New York, where 28,600 international plane arrivals and departures were clocked during the year. That's 75 such flights a day, or three an hour.

And maybe we'll all live to hear the loudspeaker at Idlewild buzz, "Flight X-13 leaving for the moon. All aboard."

Tax department doesn't know yet how its electric brain made out. As usual nobody can read the meter.

Didn't affect me much. It's direct and I'm alternating.

It blew out a fuse on Jersey gamblers. And short-circuited on Manhattan fixers.

They started it working at the twitching hour of midnight March fourteenth. And ere the setting sun had played potsies in the west Uncle Sam had thrown the switch.

Putting The English On It

Around the start of United Nations this column said it was Russia's intention to breed attrition by irritation.

Well, that wheel came full circle even though the axle was bent.

Now we're all loading up with twitchful thinking that a switch in leaders will change the betting. We have forgotten that dictatoring and flag-pole sitting are both one-man jobs.

One thing we discovered is it is a non-transferable job. There was no Alexander, the Small even though they lighted one Caesar off another. Neither was there a Cromwell the Twice — for long.

Meaning that Dickward was as dizzy as the egg that hatched in the electric fan.

L'Aiglon was Napoleon's son by the Austrianette. But they pulled the string on the kid. The next Bonaparte to take a stack of chips was Nap the Little around 1848. He got no further than a charcoal burner above timberline.

It's Rude To Be Civil

Those same left-overs being office-jamming Democrats protected by civil service, clever footwork and an "out to lunch" placard on the door-knob.

There isn't much you can do about civil service except tip your hat to it. It stands between the faithful servant and the hospitable exit.

What makes the old guard sorer than a short shoe is the Democrats are disguising themselves in Homburgs.

VALUING OPPONENTS

ALL OF the smartest bidders base the valuation of their cards partly upon the opponents who are being faced at the moment. With extra fine defenders against them, they will become extremely conservative in the estimating of their cards, and consequently will bid very cautiously. Against those whom they consider ineffective players of the cards, they will go out boldly for contracts which otherwise they would not consider.

A kibitzer, who knew West as a player that favored strong hands for an opening No Trump bid, was surprised when he heard West's call. Then, after East rebid the hearts—a very weak bid considered by many as a sign-off—West's bid of the No Trump game was still more startling.

While North was studying to decide upon his lead, West whispered to his kibitzing friend, "I can usually count these fellows as worth about an ace and queen to me."

"I see what you mean," murmured the observer when the 9 won North's lead of the club 5, making it clear that North's suit was headed by the A-J-10, from which the sound lead is the J.

The spade 6 was led to the 10 and Q. North scored the club A and returned the club J to clear the suit. West then led the heart J, North making it easy by playing low, so that the K won the trick. After the diamond 4 came back to the A, West scored four hearts, finessed the spade J and got the game trick with the spade A.

A game had been made despite the fact that each side had exactly half of the honor strength, by the 4-3-2-1 system. According to the conventions, you usually require about 26 points for a game, or an ace and a queen more than East and West held—just exactly the valuation West had assigned to his opponents.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK (INS) — Some people in the news . . .

President Eisenhower has stunned the Washington baseball colony by showing only a mild interest in the invitation to throw out the first ball of the season at Griffith Stadium April 13.

Ike, the best athlete ever to reach the presidency, has long planned to fly to his favorite golfing retreat, Augusta, Ga., on that day when the champion Yankees drop down to the capital to help the Senators inaugurate another disastrous season. He is reported to be reluctant to change his plans. If it were a football to be thrown out, it might be different. Eisenhower's list of achievements is imposing. Among a thousand other feats he will be known as the only president of the U. S. who ever tackled Jim Thorpe.

In all probability, the President will sit still for what has become a pretty sacred ritual around Washington. At last report he was considering postponing his take-off time until after he attended the throwing-out ceremony. It all began in 1912, if memory serves, in the last months of William Howard Taft's reign. Clark Griffith, in his first year as manager and part owner of the team, picked up a new ball and audaciously (it seemed) asked President Taft to toss it into play. No president — not even sports-loathing Cal Coolidge — has felt safe about breaking that precedent ever since.

Adm. Robert W. Berry, head of Los Angeles' Civil Defense and Disaster Corps, brings to this sorely neglected field the verve and vigor it has needed since its inception.

The retired submariner was among the 300 civil defense leaders on hand for the recent A-bomb test at the place we named Doom Town, Nev., and which the Nevada State Legislature is expected to incorporate, as such. With him were other former military men who have turned to this field, in retirement, and are rendering services similar to Berry.

Berry has the awe-inspiring job of coordinating the defense of perhaps the world's farthest-flung city. Los Angeles sprawls over 454 square miles and pressed against it are 44 lesser cities and 46 sizeable hamlets. When Berry took over in February, 1951, a month after he retired with the rank of rear admiral, he found only paper plans for L. A.'s defense. But in eight months he had lined up 102,917 workers, has picked up 50,000 more since then, and is gunning for 300,000 additional wardens and helpers.

He'll get 'em, too. He's the inspirational type the work needs. And he's done tougher things in life. Come up in life, for instance. He was born over a saloon on New York's Lower East Side. At 15 he was an orphan and ran away from the home he had in a cold water flat. He talked his way into the Marines, was shipped to Haiti as a drummer boy, studied like a fiend, and won a competitive appointment to the Naval Academy.

After graduation he served in submarines with the West Coast fleet, and had a tremendous record during World War II. But he's as keen about arousing public interest in civil defense as he was in helping prepare the amphibious assaults at Leyte. More necks are at stake, he figures.

Another retired admiral, Dewitt C. Ramsey, president of the Aircraft Industries Association, announces with pride (and awe) that more people now fly across the Atlantic and Pacific than go by ship.

During 1952 more than 1,300,000 passengers arrived at or departed from U. S. airports on international trips, via commercial airlines. That meant 150,000 more than the year before and 300,000 more than were carried by the steamship lines. Ramsey expects that total will jump to nearly 2,000,000 for 1953.

Busiest international airport was New York, where 28,600 international plane arrivals and departures were clocked during the year. That's 75 such flights a day, or three an hour.

And maybe we'll all live to hear the loudspeaker at Idlewild buzz, "Flight X-13 leaving for the moon. All aboard."

Keyser Kiwanis Club Hears Vocational Guidance Talk

KEYSER—The Vocational Guidance committee of Keyser Kiwanis Club was in charge of the club's program Wednesday evening and Miss Sue Webster, dean of women at Potomac State School was the speaker. Miss Webster talked of vocational guidance.

She referred to the girl students in her charge, describing them as they come to the school from various types of family life and spoke of the changes that take place during their college training. She said much depends on the future of the young women and that some have advantages over others in their early residence at the college. Some come from families where discipline has not been what it should be and others show they have been trained under far different conditions.

An effort is made all through the girls' residence at the college to aid them in selecting a future career. Some respond very readily, she said, while others have great difficulty in making a choice. All girls are guided in their selections to make a choice fitting for their natural talents. It is difficult to do this sometimes, but, only with those who are "restless" is it sometimes a task to give them the proper perspective on the life to come.

Home training is basic for student advancement, Miss Webster said. She spoke of dormitory rules which are more or less on an honor system. Most of the students comply willingly with the rules but some are reluctant in the first months of training. When a girl is not sure what she wants for a career, she is advised to work in two or more career channels until she finds the one she prefers.

Miss Webster is leaving Potomac State School at the close of the school year to return to her home in Oklahoma, where she will be married soon after the close of school.

Robert Potter was received as a member. Guests were Gene Kessel, Leonard Highlander and Lash Larue, members of Circle K. Club, Potomac State School.

Thomas Hughes Will Head Mt. Savage Veterans Post

MT. SAVAGE — Thomas Hughes was elected commander of Old Rail Post 6025, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at a meeting Wednesday night in the post home. He succeeds Robert Crump.

Installation of new officers will be held sometime next month.

Officials announced that the post has purchased a motion picture projector and will show movies every Saturday morning at 10 o'clock for the community children.

A report on the membership rally held last week showed that enrollment exceeded the 100 per cent mark and officers anticipate the largest member roll in the history of the post.

Besides the approximately 125 present at the rally, attending were Frank Webb, state commander; Joseph Leiter, state senior vice commander, and William Griffith, junior state vice commander.

Brigadier Gen. Joseph Caldara, a charter member of the Mt. Savage post, gave a short talk. The meeting concluded with movies of sports events and refreshments.

Children Are Taught Safety By New Games

By ED MISURELL
Central Press Writer

NEW YORK—A new game, which farsighted parents are teaching their children these days, is expected to cut greatly the tragic loss of life in fires in the home.

Each year such fires kill more than 5,000 Americans — one-third of them children under 14 — and thousands more are severely injured. "Play for Your Life" is designed to lower the fatalities and near fatalities to a bare minimum.

The game, a combination of commonly-known childhood pastimes such as "Blind Man's Buff," "Bug in a Rug," etc., trains the participants to meet the emergencies which arise when a fire flares up at home. Worked out by the Liberty Mutual Fire Insurance Co., the game details different plans of action and methods of escape.

Many terrified persons have awakened in the dead of night to find the room filled with smoke. Some have escaped; many others have suffocated. "Blind Man's Buff" gives a family a plan which will enable it to live through such a terrifying ordeal.

The game begins after a parent instructs the youngsters to go to their rooms and lie down on their beds as though asleep. Upon hearing the alarm "Fire!" they immediately grasp the handiest piece of cloth or clothing—a handkerchief, pajama top, pillow case—and tie it over the nose and mouth. If the material can be wet, it will work more effectively.

Next, the players slide over the side of the bed, crawl along the floor and head to a window. Upon reaching it, the children open it quickly, put their heads out and thus get away from the "suffocating smoke."

"Blind Man's Buff" can be combined with "Abandon Ship" effectively. This latter game teaches youngsters the most important rule for living through a fire—get away from it!

The stage for this is set by studying the "exits" in each bedroom. Methods of getting out of the house without using the stairs can be devised. (In many fires, rising smoke and flames often make stairways unusable.) If a window opens on a porch or breezeway, or the roof of a garage, it gives the child a chance to get outside the house where rescue can be effected.

When exits have been assigned to each member of the family, one of the parents gives the alarm and the youngsters then run to their positions. If they are slow in reaching these posts, the game should be played a number of times to speed up the trial runs.

Quite a number of youngsters' clothing takes fire at home. The best defense against severe burns and possible death is to roll the child in a rug or blanket. "Bug in a Rug" trains children what to do in such an emergency.

As the parents look on, each youngster takes a turn falling to the floor, grasping the edge of a rug or blanket and rolling himself up in it tightly. By making a contest of the game and keeping a time check on each child's effort, their interest will be spurred considerably.

Time and again people are burned fatally by racing to a closed door and flinging it open when they suspect fire. They fail to realize that heat, flame and smoke may be on the other side. "Who's That Knocking at My Door" teaches youngsters how to avoid death or injury in such instances.

At the start of the game, each child takes a turn going to a closed door and placing his or her hand flat against it. If the parent calls out "Cold!" the youngster opens the door cautiously. Meanwhile, he is instructed to keep one hip against the door and to turn his face away from the opening. Then one hand is placed high up on the crack between the door and the frame. If the word "Cold" is repeated, the door can be opened slowly.

However, should the call be "Hot!" the player leaves the door closed and runs to the nearest window as though he was about to make and exit. By reversing the "Hot" and "Cold" commands during this game, a father or mother can greatly speed up the reaction time of the youngsters.

Of all the games in "Play For Your Life," children will find "Hunt the Hazard" one of the most interesting. Similar to a treasure hunt, its basic purpose is to discover the most common causes for fires in the home.

By offering a small prize to the youngster who finds the most hazards within a certain time limit, the players will enter into the contest with considerable spirit.

Here are some of the things they can look for: extension cords running under rugs, fuses in lighting circuits rated over 15 amperes, circuits "bridged" with pennies or wires, frayed wires at plug ends, and the overloading of one circuit with too many household appliances.

In the kitchen the players can check to see where there is an accumulation of grease on the stove, towels or other inflammable materials hung close to gas jets, and curtains in such position that they can blow across an open flame.

Common matches anywhere within reach of young children or those kept in the original box instead of a closed metal container should also count as points on the score card of the finder.

Additional points can be awarded for anyone turning up collections of papers, rage or other materials carelessly packed in closets, attics, cellars and garages.

There are variations of the pastimes listed here which can be worked out in detail by an enterprising mother or father. But no matter which are used, it is vitally important to remember one thing. They should be taken seriously and played for all they're worth—the lives of the players.

House Approves Curb On D. C. "Bottle Clubs"

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — The House yesterday passed by voice vote a bill aimed at closing late-hour "bottle clubs" in the District of Columbia.

Supporters of the bill said these clubs operate after regular bars and night clubs close at 2 a.m. They said liquor is sold in the clubs illegally but police could not break up the practice because they lacked jurisdiction.

The measure provides regulations and licensing procedure which sponsors said would have the effect of closing illegitimate clubs.

The clubs were described in earlier debate as a breeding place of crime and a "disgrace to the nation's capital."

Bills Would Change System Of Choosing Convention Delegates

ANNAPOLIS, March 26 (AP) — A new system of choosing Maryland delegates to the national party conventions, believed to have been prompted by a Baltimore City spat last year, was urged yesterday in the General Assembly.

Changes to select most of the delegates prior to state conventions were contained in identical bills introduced in the House and Senate.

Delegates to the state convention from the four congressional districts made up of the counties would each pick two national delegates. Each of the six legislative districts in Baltimore would select one.

The state convention, at which all national delegates now are elected, would choose only the at-large delegates.

Politicians believe the proposed changes stem from failure of James (Jack) Pollack, Democratic leader in Baltimore's Fourth District, to be selected a national delegate last year. Under the new system, his own district would select the delegate instead of the state convention.

As You Were

When Col. Nelson Russler's Cumberland Colts won the championship of the Cumberland and George's Creek League in 1914 this long-armed pitcher with the underhand delivery was the Dobbins' ace.

Cumberland finished the league campaign with a 27-8 record and this twirler won 13 and lost three. Frank Muster, Lonaconing southpaw, led the league in strikeouts with 150 victims in 17 games and this "submarine ball" hurler was runner-up with 142 whiffings in 16 contests. Roy "Shotgun" Keener, of 'Coney, led the league in batting with a .450 average.

Other players on the Colts' squad included Hugh Markwood, Ray Schriver, Charley and Frank Lippold, "Hump" Johnson, George "Sonny" Geatz, Clarence Schafer, Bill and John Marean and Russell "Mike" Diehl.

In 1913 when this hurler joined the local club it was known as the "Egyptians" because the section below the B. & O. Railroad in South End was called "Little Egypt." That's when South End Park was opened and a canvas enclosed the field before the fence was built.

After playing with Cumberland in 1915 he moved on to Lonaconing where he was an outfielder. That club's personnel included Catcher Roy Bruff, Muster, Bill Kellough, Owen "Skinner" Flynn, Dave Irwin, John Nagle, Mike Laughlin and Keener.

It was at Lonaconing that this athlete starred with the "Lonaconing Champs" basketball team, an outstanding pro quint that flourished from 1914 to 1916. Winifred "Mac" McKenty, Pete Pell, Leo Clark, "Wig" Spear, Jack Stewart and Marty Flynn were the hot shots with that classy cage aggregation.

Born in Blair County, Pa., near the famous "Horseshoe Curve," this athlete played his first baseball for Clymer in Indiana county. At Meyersdale, which he always claimed as his home, he played with the Wally Raes along with such stars of those days as "Scoop" Pollard, "Skeets" McKenzie and the Harris Brothers.

During the First World War he served in the army and after getting his discharge he played for three seasons at Acosta, Pa., where Elmer Daily, who later headed the Middle Atlantic League, was manager.

Four years ago at the age of 60 he pitched seven innings in an Oldtimers' Day game that marked "Bill Judy Day."

What's his name?

He's Johnny Stafford, now retired and living opposite the Garrett Hotel at Garrett, Pa. Stafford dug coal for many years and now receives a pension from the United Mine Workers of America. He formerly operated a service station at Garrett. Johnny has two sons and two daughters. The photo was taken in 1916 when he was with the Lonaconing Champs.

Aggies Granted 30 Days To Prove House In Order

Action Is Postponed On Athletic Status

CHICAGO, March 26 (AP) — The North Central Association, heeding a plea of Oklahoma A & M's president, today granted the college a 30-day reprieve to prove its athletic house is in order before proceeding with an academic blackball.

The recommendation that the Aggies be dropped from academic standing was to have had the formality of a vote by the NCA convention tomorrow.

Last-minute action to avoid the vote came after NCA officials received this telegram from O. S. Willham, Oklahoma A & M president:

"After returning (to Stillwater, Okla) I have conferred with the Board of Regents for Oklahoma A & M College. We will comply with all criteria governing intercollegiate athletics and expect to improve faculty salaries and competency. Immediate steps will be taken. Believe commission misunderstood our intentions."

Milo Bail, NCA president, in a statement said that on the basis of the telegram the NCA Executive Committee "has postponed final action on the status of Oklahoma A & M pending receipt of documentary substantiation within 30 days that the institution is in conformity with the NCA athletic program."

Guild To Seek $5,000 Each For Boxers On Television

Payments Now Range From $500 To $3,600

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Delegates to the International Boxing Managers Guild asked today that all boxers who appeared in nationally televised fights receive $5,000 each, effective June 15.

Currently the payments range from $3,600 each paid the fighters on Friday NBC programs to the $500 paid each on the Thursday and Saturday night cards.

The delegates also passed a resolution holding network fight shows to four nights each week. There now is a nationally televised fight every night except Sunday.

Want Two Nights Blank

Charley Johnston of New York, president of the international guild, said that two nights each week should be left blank nationally to permit local TV shows and the small clubs to operate.

To implement their requests, the delegates agreed that after June 15 all fighters' contracts involving TV network shows would have to be passed upon by the IBG board.

"If we don't get what we want, there'll be no boxers available for any shows," Johnston said.

Asked what the IBG would do in the case of promoters who had long time contracts extending past June 15, Bill Daly, another officer of the IBG, said "we'll face that. If there are legal entanglements we'll meet that. Let 'em sue us. Our fighters just won't fight."

Says Fighters Underpaid

"The fighters are underpaid," said Johnston. "The networks are paying some actors $20,000 and $25,000 a week. That's only part of their cost. With boxing, all they've got to do is move in the cameras and they're all set. The boxers provide the action."

As You Were

When Col. Nelson Russler's Cumberland Colts won the championship of the Cumberland and George's Creek League in 1914 this long-armed pitcher with the underhand delivery was the Dobbins' ace.

Cumberland finished the league campaign with a 27-8 record and this twirler won 13 and lost three. Frank Muster, Lonaconing southpaw, led the league in strikeouts with 150 victims in 17 games and this "submarine ball" hurler was runner-up with 142 whiffings in 16 contests. Roy "Shotgun" Keener, of 'Coney, led the league in batting with a .450 average.

Other players on the Colts' squad included Hugh Markwood, Ray Schriver, Charley and Frank Lippold, "Hump" Johnson, George "Sonny" Geatz, Clarence Schafer, Bill and John Marean and Russell "Mike" Diehl.

In 1913 when this hurler joined the local club it was known as the "Egyptians" because the section below the B. & O. Railroad in South End was called "Little Egypt." That's when South End Park was opened and a canvas enclosed the field before the fence was built.

After playing with Cumberland in 1915 he moved on to Lonaconing where he was an outfielder. That club's personnel included Catcher Roy Bruff, Muster, Bill Kellough, Owen "Skinner" Flynn, Dave Irwin, John Nagle, Mike Laughlin and Keener.

It was at Lonaconing that this athlete starred with the "Lonaconing Champs" basketball team, an outstanding pro quint that flourished from 1914 to 1916. Winifred "Mac" McKenty, Pete Pell, Leo Clark, "Wig" Spear, Jack Stewart and Marty Flynn were the hot shots with that classy cage aggregation.

Born in Blair County, Pa., near the famous "Horseshoe Curve," this athlete played his first baseball for Clymer in Indiana county. At Meyersdale, which he always claimed as his home, he played with the Wally Raes along with such stars of those days as "Scoop" Pollard, "Skeets" McKenzie and the Harris Brothers.

During the First World War he served in the army and after getting his discharge he played for three seasons at Acosta, Pa., where Elmer Daily, who later headed the Middle Atlantic League, was manager.

Four years ago at the age of 60 he pitched seven innings in an Oldtimers' Day game that marked "Bill Judy Day."

What's his name?

He's Johnny Stafford, now retired and living opposite the Garrett Hotel at Garrett, Pa. Stafford dug coal for many years and now receives a pension from the United Mine Workers of America. He formerly operated a service station at Garrett. Johnny has two sons and two daughters. The photo was taken in 1916 when he was with the Lonaconing Champs.

Aggies Granted 30 Days To Prove House In Order

Action Is Postponed On Athletic Status

CHICAGO, March 26 (AP) — The North Central Association, heeding a plea of Oklahoma A & M's president, today granted the college a 30-day reprieve to prove its athletic house is in order before proceeding with an academic blackball.

The recommendation that the Aggies be dropped from academic standing was to have had the formality of a vote by the NCA convention tomorrow.

Last-minute action to avoid the vote came after NCA officials received this telegram from O. S. Willham, Oklahoma A & M president:

"After returning (to Stillwater, Okla) I have conferred with the Board of Regents for Oklahoma A & M College. We will comply with all criteria governing intercollegiate athletics and expect to improve faculty salaries and competency. Immediate steps will be taken. Believe commission misunderstood our intentions."

Milo Bail, NCA president, in a statement said that on the basis of the telegram the NCA Executive Committee "has postponed final action on the status of Oklahoma A & M pending receipt of documentary substantiation within 30 days that the institution is in conformity with the NCA athletic program."

Guild To Seek $5,000 Each For Boxers On Television

Payments Now Range From $500 To $3,600

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Delegates to the International Boxing Managers Guild asked today that all boxers who appeared in nationally televised fights receive $5,000 each, effective June 15.

Currently the payments range from $3,600 each paid the fighters on Friday NBC programs to the $500 paid each on the Thursday and Saturday night cards.

The delegates also passed a resolution holding network fight shows to four nights each week. There now is a nationally televised fight every night except Sunday.

Want Two Nights Blank

Charley Johnston of New York, president of the international guild, said that two nights each week should be left blank nationally to permit local TV shows and the small clubs to operate.

To implement their requests, the delegates agreed that after June 15 all fighters' contracts involving TV network shows would have to be passed upon by the IBG board.

"If we don't get what we want, there'll be no boxers available for any shows," Johnston said.

Asked what the IBG would do in the case of promoters who had long time contracts extending past June 15, Bill Daly, another officer of the IBG, said "we'll face that. If there are legal entanglements we'll meet that. Let 'em sue us. Our fighters just won't fight."

Says Fighters Underpaid

"The fighters are underpaid," said Johnston. "The networks are paying some actors $20,000 and $25,000 a week. That's only part of their cost. With boxing, all they've got to do is move in the cameras and they're all set. The boxers provide the action."

Bowie Opens 39th Season

12,000 Are Expected To See Races Today

BOWIE, Md., March 26 (AP)—Torrential rains stopped early today, and the weatherman promised clearing and warmer conditions for the opening tomorrow of Bowie race track's 39th season.

The 31-day meeting marks the opening of the major Eastern racing season, six days before the New York start next Wednesday at Jamaica. Bowie is having a combined spring session with Laurel, where construction of a $2,500,000 clubhouse is underway.

Larry MacPhail, onetime major league baseball man who is out to make a showplace of this Southern Maryland horse plant, looks for a record weekend opening if the rains stay away.

Several inches of rain in the last two days have flooded much of the countryside and many streams are over their banks, but Bowie's racing strip appears to be in excellent condition.

There is no stake race for opening day, but some 12,000 race-conscious customers are expected to show up. The best race on the program finds 14 entered in a $7,500 claiming race, with Chicle 2nd the probable favorite. The race is seven furlongs.

Young, Durando Meet 5th Time

Middleweights Fight At Garden Tonight

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Paddy Young and Ernie Durando clash tomorrow night in a 12-round bout for the right to meet Carl (Bobo) Olson for the American middleweight championship.

Olson had declared himself out of the elimination tournament set up by the joint board of the NBA and the New York Commission but today his manager indicated he was "interested" in taking on the winner.

Young and Durando collide for the fifth time in Madison Square Garden and it's tougher than ever to choose between them. The flat-nosed, 24-year-old Young of New York holds a 2-1-1 edge in the series with the clouting 26-year-old Bayonne (N.J.) belter.

Despite the edge, the boys are rated even money in the man-to-man betting.

The bout will start at 10 p.m. (EST) and will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast. The scoring will be by rounds with the referee and two judges handling the voting.

Bobby Dodd To Guide College All-Stars

ATLANTA, March 26 (AP)—Georgia Tech Coach Bobby Dodd will guide the College All-Stars again this year when they meet the National Football League professional champions in the annual August benefit game, the Atlanta Journal reported today.

Last year Dodd's team lost to the Los Angeles Rams 10-7. The margin of victory was a last-quarter field goal.

Davey To Fight

DETROIT, March 26 (AP)—Sam Giuliani, 20-year-old Stanford, Conn. welterweight, will meet Chuck Davey in a 10-rounder April 29 at Olympia Stadium, the International Boxing Club said today.

It will be Davey's first fight since his knockout loss to Kid Gavilan, welterweight king. Giuliani has a record of 14 decisions, 11 knockouts, one draw and seven defeats. Davey has only one defeat in over 40 pro fights.

Dodgers Win In 11th

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Trailing by three runs in the ninth, the Brooklyn Dodgers tied the score and tallied another run in the 11th inning to overcome the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-7, today.

The Brooks put over the winning run in most unusual manner. Don Zimmer opened the 11th with a single off Kent Peterson. He was sacrificed to second and stole third while Roy Campanella was being handed an intentional pass. Pitcher Jim Hughes hit a soft liner to right field but Mel Clark lost the ball in the setting sun and it hit him in the mouth. Hughes was credited with a hit, scoring Zimmer, and Clark left the game with a split upper lip.

Bobby Morgan's three-run homer off Karl Drews tied the score in the Brooklyn ninth.

Cards Wallop Yanks

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals smeared Allie Reynolds today and whipped the New York Yankees, 10-2.

The veteran righthander was thumped for 13 hits in six innings as the Redbirds won over the champions the second straight day.

Joe Presko, young righthander whose arm trouble slowed the Cards' progress in the National League last year, hurled seven innings today and was brilliant. The Yanks made only two singles in six frames. He tired in the seventh session and was clubbed for four hits and the two tallies.

New York (A)	000 000 200— 2 8 1
St. Louis (N)	300 331 00x—10 13 0

Reynolds, Schmitz (7) and Houk; Presko, Collum (8) and D. Rice.

Bosox Edge Senators

ORLANDO, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Chuck Stobbs' wildness enabled the Boston Red Sox to defeat Washington, 4-3, today.

Boston scored its first run in 24 innings in the second inning after Washington spurted into a 2-0 lead in the first inning when Jim Busby doubled and Mickey Vernon rammed a home run over the right field fence.

The Red Sox grabbed a 3-2 lead in the third. But the Senators tied the score in the same inning.

Herrin, Freeman (7) and Niarhos; Stobbs, Stewart (7) and Peden.

Adcock Belts Ball

TAMPA, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Ex-Redleg Joe Adcock slammed out four hits, including a single, two doubles and a homer, to pace the Milwaukee Braves to a 10-8 victory over the Cincinnati Reds here today.

Walker Cooper and Jack Dittmer also swatted homers for the Braves, who iced the verdict with a three-run splurge in the ninth inning, which was helped along by two Cincinnati errors.

The nine hits yielded by a trio of Brave hurlers included homers by Wally Post and Andy Seminick.

Cincinnati	031 000 040— 8 9 3

Antonelli, Wall (5), Jolly (9) and Cooper; Nuxhall, Smith (6), Jordan (8), Nevel (9) and Seminick.

Trotters And All-Stars To Waive Foul Rule

CHICAGO, March 26 (AP) — The Harlem Globetrotters and College All-Stars will play their impending cross-country basketball series without the one-and-one free throw rule.

Explained Abe Saperstein, owner-coach of the Globetrotters:

"We have played in every part of America. We are in touch with coaches in all conferences and all sections. We encounter spectator reaction first hand. And we have yet to find a single area where basketball fans like, or want, the one-and-one rule.

"There is no logical reason for giving a player an extra free throw just as a reward for missing the first one."

Cubs Release Four Players From Squad

MESA, Ariz., March 26 (INS)—Four players including Al Evans, 35-year-old catcher, were chopped off the Chicago Cubs' roster tonight by Wid Matthews, the team's director of player personnel.

Evans, long-time American League catcher who was signed as a free agent last winter, was released outright to Los Angeles, the Chicagoans' farm team in the Pacific Coast League.

Dick Verbic, right-handed pitcher from Aurora, Ill., was assigned to Des Moines to await option later. Pitchers Vern Fear and Dick Stablefield, who spent the past two years in military service, were sent to Springfield, Mass., in the International League on 24-hour option.

Mickey Is Sidelined

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Mickey Mantle, centerfielder of the New York Yankees, is sidelined with a skin infection which will keep him out for about a week. The 21-year-old slugger had been bothered by a rash.

To help digest his food the ostrich sometimes swallows stones as big as hen's eggs.

Bowie Opens 39th Season

12,000 Are Expected To See Races Today

BOWIE, Md., March 26 (AP)—Torrential rains stopped early today, and the weatherman promised clearing and warmer conditions for the opening tomorrow of Bowie race track's 39th season.

The 31-day meeting marks the opening of the major Eastern racing season, six days before the New York start next Wednesday at Jamaica. Bowie is having a combined spring session with Laurel, where construction of a $2,500,000 clubhouse is underway.

Larry MacPhail, onetime major league baseball man who is out to make a showplace of this Southern Maryland horse plant, looks for a record weekend opening if the rains stay away.

Several inches of rain in the last two days have flooded much of the countryside and many streams are over their banks, but Bowie's racing strip appears to be in excellent condition.

There is no stake race for opening day, but some 12,000 race-conscious customers are expected to show up. The best race on the program finds 14 entered in a $7,500 claiming race, with Chicle 2nd the probable favorite. The race is seven furlongs.

Young, Durando Meet 5th Time

Middleweights Fight At Garden Tonight

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Paddy Young and Ernie Durando clash tomorrow night in a 12-round bout for the right to meet Carl (Bobo) Olson for the American middleweight championship.

Olson had declared himself out of the elimination tournament set up by the joint board of the NBA and the New York Commission but today his manager indicated he was "interested" in taking on the winner.

Young and Durando collide for the fifth time in Madison Square Garden and it's tougher than ever to choose between them. The flat-nosed, 24-year-old Young of New York holds a 2-1-1 edge in the series with the clouting 26-year-old Bayonne (N.J.) belter.

The bout will start at 10 p.m. (EST) and will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast. The scoring will be by rounds with the referee and two judges handling the voting.

Bobby Dodd To Guide College All-Stars

ATLANTA, March 26 (AP)—Georgia Tech Coach Bobby Dodd will guide the College All-Stars again this year when they meet the National Football League professional champions in the annual August benefit game, the Atlanta Journal reported today.

Last year Dodd's team lost to the Los Angeles Rams 10-7. The margin of victory was a last-quarter field goal.

Davey To Fight

DETROIT, March 26 (AP)—Sam Giuliani, 20-year-old Stanford, Conn. welterweight, will meet Chuck Davey in a 10-rounder April 29 at Olympia Stadium, the International Boxing Club said today.

It will be Davey's first fight since his knockout loss to Kid Gavilan, welterweight king. Giuliani has a record of 14 decisions, 11 knockouts, one draw and seven defeats. Davey has only one defeat in over 40 pro fights.

Dodgers Win In 11th

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Trailing by three runs in the ninth, the Brooklyn Dodgers tied the score and tallied another run in the 11th inning to overcome the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-7, today.

The Brooks put over the winning run in most unusual manner. Don Zimmer opened the 11th with a single off Kent Peterson. He was sacrificed to second and stole third while Roy Campanella was being handed an intentional pass. Pitcher Jim Hughes hit a soft liner to right field but Mel Clark lost the ball in the setting sun and it hit him in the mouth. Hughes was credited with a hit, scoring Zimmer, and Clark left the game with a split upper lip.

Bobby Morgan's three-run homer off Karl Drews tied the score in the Brooklyn ninth.

Cards Wallop Yanks

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals smeared Allie Reynolds today and whipped the New York Yankees, 10-2.

The veteran righthander was thumped for 13 hits in six innings as the Redbirds won over the champions the second straight day.

Joe Presko, young righthander whose arm trouble slowed the Cards' progress in the National League last year, hurled seven innings today and was brilliant. The Yanks made only two singles in six frames. He tired in the seventh session and was clubbed for four hits and the two tallies.

Bosox Edge Senators

ORLANDO, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Chuck Stobbs' wildness enabled the Boston Red Sox to defeat Washington, 4-3, today.

Boston scored its first run in 24 innings in the second inning after Washington spurted into a 2-0 lead in the first inning when Jim Busby doubled and Mickey Vernon rammed a home run over the right field fence.

The Red Sox grabbed a 3-2 lead in the third. But the Senators tied the score in the same inning.

Adcock Belts Ball

TAMPA, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Ex-Redleg Joe Adcock slammed out four hits, including a single, two doubles and a homer, to pace the Milwaukee Braves to a 10-8 victory over the Cincinnati Reds here today.

Walker Cooper and Jack Dittmer also swatted homers for the Braves, who iced the verdict with a three-run splurge in the ninth inning, which was helped along by two Cincinnati errors.

Trotters And All-Stars To Waive Foul Rule

CHICAGO, March 26 (AP) — The Harlem Globetrotters and College All-Stars will play their impending cross-country basketball series without the one-and-one free throw rule.

Explained Abe Saperstein, owner-coach of the Globetrotters:

"We have played in every part of America. We are in touch with coaches in all conferences and all sections. We encounter spectator reaction first hand. And we have yet to find a single area where basketball fans like, or want, the one-and-one rule.

"There is no logical reason for giving a player an extra free throw just as a reward for missing the first one."

Cubs Release Four Players From Squad

MESA, Ariz., March 26 (INS)—Four players including Al Evans, 35-year-old catcher, were chopped off the Chicago Cubs' roster tonight by Wid Matthews, the team's director of player personnel.

Evans, long-time American League catcher who was signed as a free agent last winter, was released outright to Los Angeles, the Chicagoans' farm team in the Pacific Coast League.

Dick Verbic, right-handed pitcher from Aurora, Ill., was assigned to Des Moines to await option later. Pitchers Vern Fear and Dick Stablefield, who spent the past two years in military service, were sent to Springfield, Mass., in the International League on 24-hour option.

Mickey Is Sidelined

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Mickey Mantle, centerfielder of the New York Yankees, is sidelined with a skin infection which will keep him out for about a week. The 21-year-old slugger had been bothered by a rash.

Capital Barely Survives Traffic Foul-Up Following Atom "Attack"

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — The nation's capital came through a simulated A-bomb attack okay yesterday, but it barely survived the traffic foul-up that followed it.

A helicopter, brought on purpose to unscramble traffic, merely complicated the problem.

The idea was simple: see how traffic could be handled by helicopter after an air attack. The site picked was 8th and H Streets, Northeast, about a mile from the Capitol.

Shortly before time for the attack, it began to rain, a bad omen.

No one knows why, but rain is to Washington traffic what tanglefoot is to a fly. Even a mist slows it down to a creep.

So with the rain pelting down, someone began to talk over a loudspeaker. The attack apparently was over almost before it began because pretty soon the loudspeaker said, "The all-clear signal has sounded."

The fellow in the helicopter began to talk, also over a loudspeaker.

"What's he saying?" a reporter asked.

"Don't know," said Col. W. M. Talbot, of the Federal Civilian Defense Agency. "I can't make out a word."

Nobody else could either. But so many drivers stopped to peer out and up that only full time work by two cops at the corner—who presumably wouldn't have been able to get there in case of a full, sure-enough attack—kept traffic crawling.

Nevertheless, Talbot says he's convinced helicopters are the answer to a big city's problem in case of an air attack. He said they can come in after a blast, with pilots able to survey the damage quickly and give instructions.

Today's exhibition, he said, was handicapped by two things: The helicopter's public address system was too weak, and, because of safety regulations, the helicopter had to stay too high.

Non-skid chains for autos were invented by Charles Algernon Parsons, a British shipbuilder.

Second Official Of Famed "Baltimore Plan" Resigns

BALTIMORE, March 26 (AP) — James W. Rouse, chairman of the mayor's advisory council to the Housing Bureau, has become the second official of the famed "Baltimore Plan" to resign in a huff over administration of the slum clearance program.

Rouse's resignation, effective immediately, came just about a month after G. Yates Cook, director of the Housing Bureau which administers the plan, announced his resignation.

Both Cook and Rouse had led the fight to have the Housing Bureau set up as an independent city commission. It is now a unit of the Baltimore Health Department.

In his five-page resignation to Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, Rouse said he would go to the General Assembly with his fight for an independent agency to administer the Baltimore Plan, held up as a model among slum clearance plans.

"It is time we recognize that the Baltimore Plan cannot grow and develop into the kind of program the city desperately needs under its present structure in City Government . . .," Rouse said.

Rouse was the only one of the 17-member advisory council to resign immediately, but he told the Mayor that the full council had agreed for the third time Tuesday that legislation should be sought enabling the city to set up an independent commission on blight.

The council first recommended a separate agency to handle law enforcement work in the slums a year ago. Mayor D'Alesandro turned down the idea 10 days ago on the ground that City Solicitor Thomas N. Biddison found it unworkable and impracticable.

Rouse called Biddison's report "incredibly inconsistent with the actual experience of the past two years." He said the solicitor had his eye focussed on the wrong problem and was preoccupied with how it may disturb the traditional processes of city government to set up machinery to fight blight effectively.

The traditional city government processes require that anti-slum laws be administered by "five or more inspectors each from separate city departments enforcing separate and often overlapping codes," Rouse said.

He added that the result is "ineffective and inefficient . . . cumbersome and exhausting."

In the 27-block Pilot area set up to test the workability of the Baltimore Plan, Rouse said some violations still remain uncorrected after two years.

Rouse, a mortgage realtor, had been chairman of the council since the Housing Bureau was set up in the Health Department in 1951, to administer the Baltimore Plan.

The type of legislation he and the advisory council have sought was introduced in the General Assembly last Monday by Sen. LeRoy W. Preston (D-Fifth, Balto.).

Mayor D'Alesandro, in accepting Rouse's resignation, recalled that he had appointed him to head the advisory council.

"He has not given advice but has attempted to dictate to the mayor and to the city administration," the Mayor said.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 26 (INS)—Warner Brothers studio certainly isn't completely closing down, since "Helen of Troy" will be put into production in two months. Michael Curtiz was handed the script today, and he went into immediate conference with the art department to have the sets correct for that period.

Jack Warner has told Mike the picture will be in three-D, and it's based on "Helen of Troy" by John Erskine. Maria Korda made it many years ago, but, of course, the Curtiz version will be very different and certainly very much better.

Who will play Helen of Troy? If you don't tell I told you, it's either Virginia Mayo or Hedy Lamarr. There are few girls more beautiful in our town.

A real coup for Joseph M. Schenck and his Magna Corporation to get Rodgers and Hammerstein on the board. I happen to know that Broadway's most important producers plan to go into motion picture corporation via Magna.

After their New York play, "The Way Of Juliet," is out of the way, they'll bring one of their big musicals, perhaps "Oklahoma!" or "South Pacific," into motion pictures.

Magna's board of directors is certainly imposing, with Lee Shubert, George Skouras, Mike Todd and other important men in the theatre world. If this new process were only used in the theatres Mr. Schenck controls it would have a big circulation.

Now that Ronald Reagan has had his first fling in a western ("Law and Order" at U-I) he's gone crazy about cowboy-and-cactus yarns, pardner, and wants to do another.

What he has in mind is James Warner Bellah's "Battle Mountain" which appeared in a national magazine under the title of "The Apache."

"It's a perfect story to tell in cinemascope," Ronnie tells me. "The wide open spaces will look even bigger and more impressive on the wide screens. I predict that westerns will be the big money earners in the new process they have always been on the average screen."

The bad colds that Marilyn Monroe catches on the slightest provocation are endangering her health. Oddly enough, Marilyn does not burn the midnight oil in night clubs but stays up late studying after doing a full day's work at her studio.

This is no gag—it's the truth. Marilyn is very ambitious to be an intellectual and she realizes her limitations and that she has had little education. However, her doctor has told her she must get more sleep and establish an early curfew and close her books before the wee sma' hours.

If you've wondered what Mystery Writer Mickey Spillane looks like, you'll see him in a walk on part in "I, The Jury," Spillane's own thriller.

Dinah Shore's new song, "Sweet Thing," is her most popular since "Nice To Have A Man Around The House." There were 150,000 records sold within 40 hours after its release.

Delightful, is the word for the Les Compagnons de La Chanson Chorus now at the Cocoanut Grove. They were formerly a part of Edith Piaf's act in Paris.

At Ciro's to hear Pearl Bailey were Piper Laurie and Carlos Thompson together again. Ditto Nora Haymes and Nicky Hilton.

Nanette Fabray, who has been fighting off pneumonia, has had to cancel her New York opening. Lisa Kirk is replacing her.

Benny Goodman is well enough to go on tour. He has combined with Louis Armstrong, which should be a great jazz treat. They open in New Haven and finish in Hollywood.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

MOTHER NATURE and Dame Fashion are close runners-up, but that lovable Easter Bunny, Mr. Cottontail himself, finally has won first place in the Easter card popularity race. He is appearing on more cards than any other single figure. Still popular, however, are cards decorated with gay spring flowers, Easter eggs and religious reproductions. Many this year also have musical themes, and more than half will be "personalized." There's even one egg-shaped card "From One Good Egg to Another." (International)

The Old Second Guesser

by John Wheeler

Here's Where We Came In; Another Florida Boom

MIAMI, Fla. — It was in 1924 a friend of mine came to me and told me how I could make a fortune in Florida real estate. All I had to do was to go into a syndicate for $5,000. Being greedy, I couldn't wait so I asked him if it would be okay for me to put up double that amount. He agreed rather reluctantly.

John Wheeler

We bought a tract of land at a place called Lake Okeechobee. As far as I know, our property was above water, although I never actually saw it. At any rate, about three months after we started, the Big Brain running the project came to me with an optimistic report. He was all smiles.

"We can sell out now," he said, "for double what we put in it."

"What are we waiting for?" I asked him impatiently.

"For three times as much," he answered confidently.

The next I knew the bubble burst. I eventually offered my stock at auction to prove my interest was worth nothing and establish a tax loss. I hadn't thought of this dismal event for years until the other day when we were driving south from Palm Beach to Miami along the shore road. Then I wished I had kept my share of the land, for I am sure even Lake Okeechobee by now must be fringed and perhaps lined with motels where professional divers can spend their leisure time under water.

These roadside beehives sprout like weeds which seems to be a mixed metaphor. One day there is a sand dune and the next an electric sign that says "No Vacancy." How they attract the customers is beyond me. Not only are these cheaper cases filled, but also the large hotels. There is a new one at Miami Beach where they won't let you hang up your hat for less than $40 a day, and then you only get a place to sleep and wash up. If you want to eat or drink, it's extra.

Where the patrons get the money is another puzzle. We stopped at one of the more ornate hostelries just to take a gander and, at first, the guardian at the gate to the pool didn't want to let us in because we were not guests. Then a friend came along who okayed us, and we wandered around. There were several gents in swimming trunks and dark sun tan, with hairy chests, shuffling and dealing cards.

"They're playing gin rummy," explained our guide.

"For how much?" I asked.

"A dollar a point," he answered, "and that can run into four or five thousand dollars in an afternoon."

Yes, I think I see symptoms of another big Florida boom. The highways are jammed with traffic. On our way here we ran into a green cop who had cars tied up for nearly a mile at Fort Lauderdale. He seemed to be looking over his shoulder at the bathing cuties.

He reminded me of an editor of a Yonkers paper when I was a boy. He celebrated too thoroughly one Fourth of July, or maybe it was the heat. Anyway, about three o'clock in the afternoon he decided to direct traffic on Warburton Avenue, one of the main thoroughfares. He stood in the middle of the trolley tracks, frozen to the spot, and wouldn't move. He held up his hand.

"You'll have to go around," he told the motorman. "This is a one-way street."

Being a distinguished citizen, he was eventually gently pushed to the curb by a cop, after three or four cars filled with irate passengers were stymied. He would enjoy Florida now, only he's been dead for years.

Emotional Radio Station

Probably the finest—or at any rate the most intense—love scenes to be found anywhere on radio are broadcast by WOV in New York, a station that is dedicated to the edification of New York's two million Italian language residents. Italians are not notorious for restraint in their emotions and the emotional content of some of WOV's dramas generates enough candlepower to light a small city.

John Crosby casts are in Italian, is doing "The Count of Monte Cristo" with a passion that would curl the hair of even its French author Alexandre Dumas. Its star, Georgio Mauri, is an independently wealthy Italian who likes to act and who sponsors his own show. The other day, two of the cast were doing a love scene, their voices sinking lower and lower. Presently they gripped hands, and the actress began to cry. After the lovers had gone, the episode ended with Mauri alone, crying. A good many of WOV's dramas are similarly drenched in sobs.

The station has two soap operas. One called "Pasquale C.O.D." differs from ours in that it's funny instead of tragic. The other called "Children Not for Sale" is more in the tradition of American soaps. It's about a poor but proud girl married to a rich man whose family tries to break it up. It's wonderfully heart-breaking, affording the opportunity for endless tears and the particular brand of noisy anguish the Italians relish.

When the dramatic fare doesn't slake their thirst for emotion, New York's Italians turn to WOV's most popular program "La Grande Famiglia" which is packed with it. This is a taped show in which New York Italians, in exchange for buying $10 worth of the sponsor's product, can hear the voices of their loved ones in Italy. Giuliano Gerbi, a naturalized American, travels from Rome all over Italy in a mobile unit, recording the voices of Italian families.

Sometimes the New York Italians are hearing voices they haven't heard in 30 or 40 years and the broadcasts are choked with unbridled emotion. The other day, the recorded voices were coming from Benevento near Naples and a man's voice was saying in Italian: "I have come and Philomena was not able to come because of a whole series of misfortunes which have been visited on us. You may not believe it, but whatever your troubles may be, whatever heartaches you may have suffered you are the luckiest one in all our familiy." (Because he's in America.)

Once Arnold Hartley, program director, was listening to the program while driving his car, and heard an 80-year-old Sicilian remonstrating pitiably with his son in Brooklyn for not writing his old father. The old man so affected Hartley that he had to pull over and stop the car until he had stopped.

If the voices are not weeping for misery, they weep for joy, the Italian bent for tears being adaptable to most any circumstances. A sister talking to her brother: "Thank you for thinking of us, thank you for the things you sent us. God bless you all!"—in a voice that would melt a stone.

Not all of WOV is devoted to heartbreak, of course. Much of the programming is music—both classical and popular. The only American radio station with complete studios abroad, it has a full time staff in Rome which transcribes four other programs besides "La Grande Famiglia." These include interviews, a program called "Gossip Column from Rome," "Your Home Town" which describes changes in various towns from which the New York Italians emigrated. WOV even has an "Italian Arthur Godfrey," man named Aldo Aldi, who is on the air for an hour every afternoon.

Listeners drop in for coffee with Aldo; sometimes he gets a whole studio full of Italian housewives who laugh uproariously at one another, sing songs and have a whale of a time. Aldi's following is almost as slavish as Godfrey's, some times too much so. Once he told the housewives that gale winds were predicted and advised them jokingly to stay home. Hours later women began calling the station to ask when Aldi was going to permit them to go out again.

Card of Thanks

We take this means of publicly thanking those of our friends and relatives who were so sympathetic and helpful following the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Mary E. Meese. We are grateful for the many floral tributes and use of motor cars for the funeral and to all persons who in any manner assisted us.

The Children.

We take this means of publicly thanking those of our friends and relatives who were so sympathetic and helpful following the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Mary E. Meese. NOTICE
Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, 1950 Edition, notice is hereby given that the Mayor and Council of Cumberland, did, in regular session on Monday, March 16, 1953, approve the Report of Commissioners on the closing of an Unnamed Alley and Short Avenue which extend northwardly from Isabel Street to Orlando Street and lie parallel to and westward of Ford Avenue. Said commissioners were appointed by virtue of Ordinance No. 1943 for the purpose of assessing any damages or benefits incurred by or accruing to any owners of property affected by the closing of said Unnamed Alley or Street. After meeting on the premises to be affected without hearing any claims for damages, the commissioners present the following:
"It is our opinion, therefore, that no damages are inflicted by the closing of said unnamed alley and Short Avenue and that no material benefit not already enjoyed, will accrue to adjoining property owners. It is therefore recommended that said alley and avenue be closed as indicated and that no damages be assessed or awarded to any adjoining property owner."
Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after March 16, 1953, by filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

Outlook For State's Vegetable Growers Is Generally Favorable

COLLEGE PARK, Md., March 26 (AP)—Two agricultural economists foresee a "generally favorable" outlook for Maryland vegetable growers in 1953.

The prediction was made by David J. Burns and Harold H. Hoecker of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Marketing in an article in Extension Service News, a monthly publication of the Agricultural Extension Service.

They based their prediction on "the assumption that we will enjoy continued high level employment and disposable income together with the continuing increase in population."

Will Produce More

They said that, given average weather or better, Maryland farmers generally will produce a larger supply than last year and can expect about the same or slightly lower prices in 1953.

Maryland farmers harvested vegetable crops worth $16,934,000 from 107,930 acres in 1952.

Sweet potatoes—Prospect generally favorable, with the possibility of expanding acreage somewhat without reducing prices substantially below the average of the past two years.

Sweet corn—The outlook is for not too much change in price or production for the fresh market. What changes occur will probably be increases in production and decreases in prices.

Slight Increase Likely

Snap beans—Maryland farmers probably will curtail production somewhat for the fresh market, and prices should hold about the same or rise slightly above 1952 prices. The outlook for snap beans for processing is favorable.

Tomatoes—Prices for the fresh market should average as high or slightly higher than the average of $2.60 received last year. Prices paid to growers by processors will most likely be lower.

Peas—A strong processor demand for peas is indicated. If production in Maryland does not exceed the 1952 production of nearly 8,000 tons, prices should be substantially higher in 1953. Practically all green peas grown in Maryland are for processing.

New Zealand has 223 peaks more than 1,500 feet high. The highest is 12,345-foot Mount Cook.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

NOTICE
Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, 1950 Edition, notice is hereby given that the Mayor and Council of Cumberland, did, in regular session on Monday, March 16, 1953, approve the Report of Commissioners on the closing of an Unnamed Alley and Short Avenue which extend northwardly from Isabel Street to Orlando Street and lie parallel to and westward of Ford Avenue. Said commissioners were appointed by virtue of Ordinance No. 1943 for the purpose of assessing any damages or benefits incurred by or accruing to any owners of property affected by the closing of said Unnamed Alley or Street. After meeting on the premises to be affected without hearing any claims for damages, the commissioners present the following:
"It is our opinion, therefore, that no damages are inflicted by the closing of said unnamed alley and Short Avenue and that no material benefit not already enjoyed, will accrue to adjoining property owners. It is therefore recommended that said alley and avenue be closed as indicated and that no damages be assessed or awarded to any adjoining property owner."
Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after March 16, 1953, by filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

Outlook For State's Vegetable Growers Is Generally Favorable

COLLEGE PARK, Md., March 26 (AP)—Two agricultural economists foresee a "generally favorable" outlook for Maryland vegetable growers in 1953.

The prediction was made by David J. Burns and Harold H. Hoecker of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Marketing in an article in Extension Service News, a monthly publication of the Agricultural Extension Service.

They based their prediction on "the assumption that we will enjoy continued high level employment and disposable income together with the continuing increase in population."

Will Produce More

They said that, given average weather or better, Maryland farmers generally will produce a larger supply than last year and can expect about the same or slightly lower prices in 1953.

Maryland farmers harvested vegetable crops worth $16,934,000 from 107,930 acres in 1952.

Potatoes—Production will about equal the 1953 goal of 7,400 acres. Producers can expect somewhat less than the average 1952 price of $2.60 a bushel.

Sweet potatoes—Prospect generally favorable, with the possibility of expanding acreage somewhat without reducing prices substantially below the average of the past two years.

Sweet corn—The outlook is for not too much change in price or production for the fresh market. What changes occur will probably be increases in production and decreases in prices.

Slight Increase Likely

Snap beans—Maryland farmers probably will curtail production somewhat for the fresh market, and prices should hold about the same or rise slightly above 1952 prices. The outlook for snap beans for processing is favorable.

Tomatoes—Prices for the fresh market should average as high or slightly higher than the average of $2.60 received last year. Prices paid to growers by processors will most likely be lower.

Peas—A strong processor demand for peas is indicated. If production in Maryland does not exceed the 1952 production of nearly 8,000 tons, prices should be substantially higher in 1953. Practically all green peas grown in Maryland are for processing.

It is estimated that William Shakespeare never made a continuous journey as far as a round trip from New York to Boston.

New Zealand has 223 peaks more than 1,500 feet high. The highest is 12,345-foot Mount Cook.

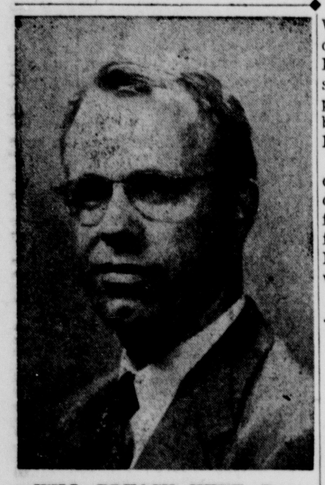
C&O CANAL PARKWAY BILL ENACTED

House Approves Plan By Overwhelming Vote

$8 Million Road To Cost State $350,000

ANNAPOLIS, March 26 (AP) — Allegany County today sold the General Assembly "a good bargain" described by Del. Whitworth as an eight-million dollar parkway on the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal for $350,000.

The Republican delegate from Allegany outlined advantages of the opportunity to construct the 57 miles of parkway between Cumberland and Hancock with federal funds.



WILL PREACH HERE—Rev. William Willoughby, professor of sociology and Bible at Bridgewater (Va.) College, will conduct Holy Week services at Living Stone Church of the Brethren here each night next week, Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor, announced yesterday. Rev. Willoughby will preach every evening, Sunday through Easter Sunday, at 7:30 p. m., and at morning services both Sundays. A Communion service will be held at 7 p. m. Holy Thursday.

Although delegates from other Western Maryland counties fired questions in obvious opposition, the House voted 86-15 to authorize the state to buy rights of way for the parkway. The final step is signing by the governor.

Plan Is Modified

Conversions of the abandoned canal into a parkway has been a controversial subject for the past few years. Strong opposition came from Washington, Frederick and Montgomery Counties, through which the canal also runs.

The original idea was to build a parkway along the entire 168 miles of the canal from Cumberland to Great Falls, near Washington. Sensing the opposition was too strong to beat, Allegany County legislators at this General Assembly pressed only for construction of the stretch from Cumberland to Hancock in Washington County.

ANNAPOLIS, March 26 (AP) —The following 15 delegates voted today against state purchase of right of way for a parkway on the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal between Cumberland and Hancock:

Dels. Polk D-Worcester, Alexander R-Frederick, Baumgardner, R-Frederick, Derr R-Frederick, Virts D-Frederick, Baldwin D-Harford, Brown D-Harford, James D-Harford, Bloom D-Washington, Downey R-Washington, Kaylor R-Washington, Gude R-Montgomery, King R-Montgomery, Carr D-Howard, Manahan D-Howard.

State Cost $350,000

Whitworth explained the federal government estimates it will cost eight million dollars to build the parkway. Maryland will be required to buy only additional land and to spend no more than $350,000 for it. The new road also would be maintained by the federal government, Whitworth said as an added inducement for support.

The parkway will provide a level route and bypass five mountains into Western Maryland, Whitworth continued. "It's a good chance to get a worthwhile project" on federal money, he said.

In answer to queries, Whitworth promised that Allegany County would not press in the future to extend the parkway beyond Hancock. He also said retention of Potomac water rights by the state is provided in bills pending before Congress.

Amendments Added

The Parkway bill, sponsored by Senate Minority Leader Robert B. Kimble, passed the Senate last week with an 24-4 mandate.

But the Senate added two amendments, neither of which are expected to delay the beginning of construction of the freeway.

The amendments limit the amount the state may pay for the land to $350,000 and require that Congress grant easements to the Potomac River.

Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde have introduced legislation in Congress to provide for the easements.

Has Delegation Support

It was reported out of the Ways and Means Committee Wednesday by a 28-2 majority. Only Delegate Bloom of Washington County and Delegate Derr, of Frederick County, voted against sending the bill to the House.

All members of the Allegany County Delegation have been work-

McKeldin Sees Enactment Of Roads Program

Committee Opposes State 12-Year Plan

ANNAPOLIS, March 26 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin tonight expressed confidence the Legislature will enact a 12-year roads program in the face of reports a powerful Senate committee was ready to ditch it.

"The people of the state want new roads started and they want to know where they are going after they are started," the governor said.

He opined lawmakers "have the same sense of responsibility to the wishes of the people and to the needs of the state that the administration has."

The governor spoke out to resuscitate a projected 568-million-dollar program for roads construction as conflicts grew sharper in the Legislature.

Favors Postponement

Majority Leader Goldstein (D-Calvert) said the Senate Finance Committee which he heads appeared much more inclined toward a one-year waiting period. In that time the Roads Commission would be granted authority to issue 30 millions in bonds to augment about 15 millions expected to be on hand.

Sen. Bennett (R-Wicomico) agreed with Goldstein's estimate of the committee attitude.

Frankly hostile to boosting gasoline taxes and motor vehicle registration fees now, Goldstein said the whole program could be studied before the 1954 session. If adopted then, the proposed increases could be made effective in 1955.

"I am a practical politician and I am not afraid to say it," Goldstein said. "I don't want to go home and run for election next year and have to say I raised taxes."

SRC 12-Year Program

The Roads Commission recently retreated a step from its original request for a full 12-year program with no stops. It consented to three splits of four years. At the end of each period the Legislature would review work accomplished and be able to cancel further bond issues.

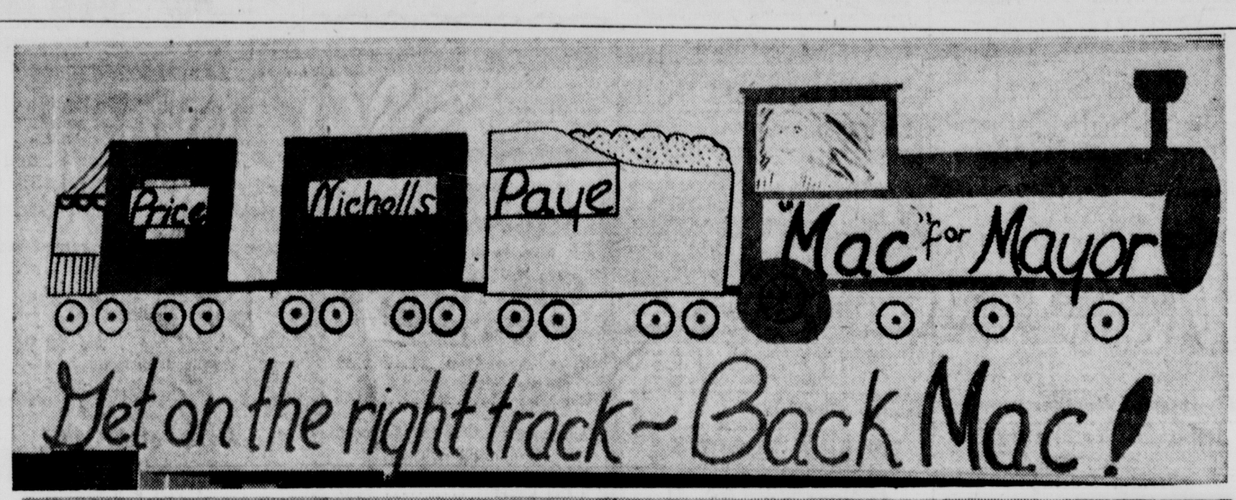
No more than 25 millions could be outstanding at one time, and no more would be spent in each four-year segment than now written into its detailed plan. Altogether 330 millions in bonds are contemplated.

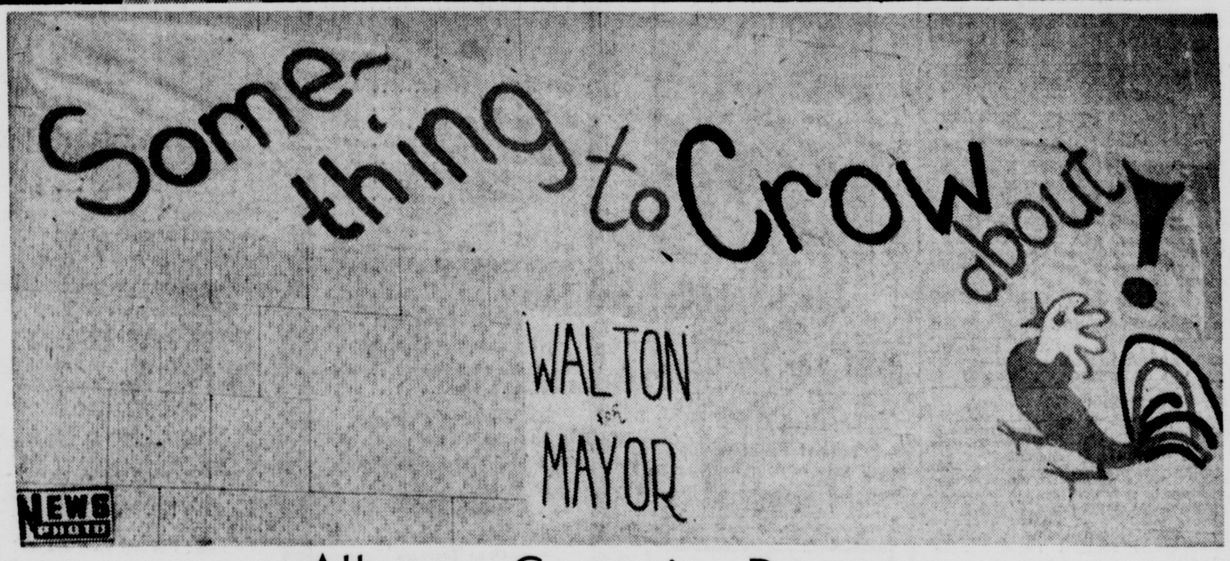
House Leader Logan (D-Caroline) has said something on that order, with a guarantee the commission would spend as much as now proposed for each county, may be acceptable to a majority of delegates.

Many senators, publicly and privately, have opposed legislating as far into the future as 12 years.

McKeldin said this:

"I am confident that the roads program will be adopted without any extensive alteration of its essential features. It will be one of this Legislature's major accomplishments and, indeed, one of the major steps of progress enacted by any Legislature in the history of Maryland."





Allegany Campaign Posters

These two posters give an indication of the interest in the Youth Mayor and City Council primary election which is being generated at Allegany High School. Candidates from Allegany, Fort Hill, LaSalle and Carver seek to win nominations as candidates for Mayor and City Council so they can "run" the city for a day. The primary will be held tomorrow in the City Hall rotunda. The upper poster has been prepared for Kenneth W. McGraw, candidate for mayor, and three fellow Allegany students who are running for Council on his slate. The lower poster was prepared by supporters of another Allegany student, David Walton, also running for Mayor.

Youth Mayor Campaign Fever Hits Allegany

Primary Election Set For Tomorrow

Campaign fever has overtaken Allegany High School as students there await the Youth Mayor and City Council primary election, which will be conducted in the City Hall rotunda from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m. tomorrow.

Primary emphasis at Allegany is being provided by a slate headed by Kenneth W. McGraw for mayor. Teaming with him are three councilmanic candidates, Barbara Nicholls, Chester Price and Donald Paye.

Train Poster

In the school cafeteria these candidates have installed a huge poster showing a big train, with engine, coal car, other cars and caboose. The name of one of the candidates appears on each car.

"Get On the Right Track . . . . Vote For Mac" is the slogan accompanying this poster. Smaller train posters are placed at strategic positions around the corridors of the school.

A number of other slogans are being featured by the Allegany candidates. An overhead sign says "Everyone Is Looking Up To McGraw." Another says, "It costs less than NICHOLLS to PAYE the PRICE." On window blinds are presented another slogan, "Don't be Blind, Vote For McGraw."

Walter Bosley is managing the campaign of McGraw and his three council running mates. As one of the finishing touches on the primary campaign, boys will wear white shirts with string ties on which are printed the names of the four candidates. Similarly, girls will be wearing white blouses and string ties featuring the school's blue and white colors.

Committee members are visiting home rooms to make campaign talks and the candidates themselves are scheduled to speak over the Allegany public address system. The McGraw committee also is planning to provide cars to take voters to the polling place through the nine hours of voting. Napkins with campaign slogans are being distribuated in the cafeteria today.

Walton For Mayor

Another Allegany student, David Walton, running as an independent candidate for mayor, also has placed some campaign signs around the Allegany corridors. His campaign managers are Mary Linne Stitley and Leon Armentrout. Another Alleganian, Dean Hancox, is an independent candidate for council.

Fort Hill, LaSalle and Carver high schools also have entered candidates in the primary election. This program is being sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

Besides the two Allegany boys there are seven other candidates for mayor. They are William Comer, LaSalle; Raymond M. Crowe, LaSalle; James Farris, Fort Hill; Roy W. Jones, Carver; Francis Mantheiy, LaSalle; Robert Martin, LaSalle; James Squires, Fort Hill. The field will be reduced to two candidates in the primary

Passover To Start Monday At Sunset

The two local Jewish congregations will usher in the Passover, the Feast of Liberation, with services Monday evening.

The Passover, which commemorates the emancipation of the Israelites from Egyptian bondage, is celebrated by recalling the struggle between Moses and Pharoah, by holding the ceremonial Seder supper, and with special worship in Synagogue and home.

Both Cumberland congregations will hold model Seders for children at the Sunday morning services. The Sunday school of B'er Chayim Congregation will conduct its Seder at 10:30 a. m., and the children of the Beth Jacob religious school will hold theirs at 11:30 a. m.

The Passover will be ushered in at 5 p. m. Monday by B'er Chayim Congregation, with Rabbi Samuel Umen officiating. The community Seder will be held Tuesday at 6 p. m.

At Beth Jacob, services will be held both evenings at 6:45 p. m., with Rabbi Joseph Schimelman officiating, and Cantor Moe Sachs conducting the services. The Seder will follow on both evenings.

Services also will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at 9:30 a. m., and again the following Sunday and Monday evenings at 6:45, and Monday at 9:30 a. m. The observance at Beth Jacob will close with a service at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday, April 7, when Yizkor Memorial Services for the dead will be conducted.

Orthodox Jews celebrate Passover for eight days and conduct a Seder on the first two nights. Reform Jews conduct one Seder and celebrate for seven days.

Beth Jacob is a Conservative congregation, and B'er Chayim is Reform.

Summers Trial Set For Today

Sherman Summers, 27-year-old former Frostburger charged with statutory burglary in the theft of $1,000 from Lucky's Liquor Store is scheduled for trial this morning in Frostburg on December 20, 1951, before Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Summers, who has been confined in the County Jail here since February 18, filed a petition for an immediate trial Monday through Attorney Edward J. Ryan. Yesterday, State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher filed a criminal information charging Summers with theft of the $1,000 belonging to Homer C. Griffith, trading as Lucky's Liquor Store.

Judge Henderson also is expected to pass sentence on Raymond H. Jones, 35, LaVale. On Monday Jones, through Attorney Earl E. Manges, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with intent to kill Mrs. Helen Roberts, 36, of Bellevue Street. Jones fired a shotgun blast at Mrs. Roberts March 4 as she ran from her home. He accused her of attempting to break up his home.

Episcopalians Will Mark Sesquicentennial April 12

By ALBERT D. DARBY JR.
News Staff Writer

The Sunday after Easter traditionally is called Low Sunday because generally it is quite a letdown from the pageantry and beauty of the Easter service.

Low Sunday, however, will be one of the high points in the history of Emmanuel Episcopal Church. The congregation will observe the sesquicentennial of its organization as a parish on that day. Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell, Bishop of Maryland, will make his annual visitation for confirmation to Emmanuel Church on Low Sunday, April 12 to participate in the observance of the church's 150 anniversary.

The Episcopal congregation in Cumberland dates from April 11, 1805. It was on that day, an Easter Monday, that provisional vestrymen were elected. John Snowden Hook was elected warden and Dr. John Kewley was named registrar. The vestrymen included Patrick Murdock, Hanson Briscoe, David Lynn, Upton Brouce, Robert Tevis, George Hebb, John A. Beall and William Hilleary.

This was the fourth Christian congregation to be organized in the village of Cumberland, which itself had been incorporated in 1787, only 16 years before. The earlier congregations were German Lutheran, Methodist and Roman Catholic.

Colorful Rector

Dr. Kewley, mentioned earlier as the first registrar, later became the first rector of the struggling Episcopal congregation.

Already a lay reader at the time the parish was organized, Dr. Kewley ws ordained a deacon on June 19, 1803, and was paid an annual salary which amounted to $266.66, according to church records. Dr. Kewley was ordained to the Episcopal priesthood May 27, 1804.

Incidentally, this Dr. Kewley had a colorful career which began in Catholicism and ended back in that church. While rector here his ministrations extended over a considerable territory, including Allegany and Washington counties, and adjacent of Pennsylvania and Virginia and West Virginia.

The earliest record found concerning Dr. Kewley shows that his career began as a Jesuit priest in Europe. Later he became a physician in the West Indies. There he renounced the Catholic Church and officiated as a Methodist minister. When he came to this country he practiced medicine here in Allegany County until he took orders in the Protestant Episcopal Church. After 1805, when he left Cumberland, Dr. Kewley served Episcopal

EVANGELIST—H. M. Vaughn, evangelist of Henderson, Tenn., will preach at the Church of Christ, 213 South Lee Street, Sunday at the 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. services.

Laymen Will Hold Services

The Laymen's Organization of First Brethren Church will conduct the morning worship service Sunday, Rev. Milton M. Robinson, pastor, announced last night.

Eugene Abe, Bedford Road, will be speaker. His subject will be "The Importance of Prayer." Other men taking part in the service will be Harry Nealis, president of the Laymen's Organization; Joseph Shepheard, Curtis Smith, William Baldwin, Frank Schriver, Francis Schriver, W. Eror, Homer Grove, Ira Border and Marvin Ullery.

The Laymen's Organization, which has been active in church affairs, recently repaired and repainted the parsonage and is considering the possibility of building a garage.

On April 17, the group will play host to laymen of other Brethren churches in the district. About 100 visitors are expected to attend.

Red Cross Slates Instructor Courses For Trained Nurses

Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, will conduct an instructor's course for county trained nurses beginning April 13 in connection with the Allegany County Civil Defense program.

According to Mrs. Raymond Boore, chairman of home nursing for the Red Cross, the instructor's course will qualify trained nurses as instructors of home nursing classes in the county.

In the local Civil Defense setup, the Red Cross is responsible for training persons in home nursing and first aid so that all area communities will be sufficiently manned with trained personnel in case of an emergency.

The instructor's course will be taught in the Science Building at Frostburg State Teachers College. Dates for the classes are April 13 and 14, April 20 and 21, and April 27 and 28.

Mrs. Boore said only trained nurses are eligible to take the instructions, and urged all interested persons, especially married nurses, to enroll in the program.

Mrs. Boore may be contacted by calling 3169-J, or persons wishing to sign up for the course may do so by calling the local Red Cross office at 4181.

Businessmen Form Route 40 Association

The Historic Route 40 Association was formed last night for the purpose of promoting tourist travel through Western Maryland.

At a meeting in the Cumberland Brewing Company, about 60 business men representing hotels, motels, gasoline stations and other businesses along and adjacent to U. S. Route 40, set the stage for a long-range and concrete publicity program for this area.

Earl Poorbaugh of the State Department of Information outlined some of the problems of such an organization, helped chart its course through the early stages of organization, and showed the assemblage by figures the potential.

He outlined what other communities are doing and explained how his office can offer certain helps in publicizing this area for recreation and tourist travel.

Temporary officers elected to head the group include Robert E. Robinette, president; Elden Shipway, vice president; Robert Blair, secretary and M. F. Prendregast, treasurer.

An executive committee including the officers and Walter White, Edward Wolfe, Robin Wolford and Robert Wills will meet within the next few days to map out a program and definite plan from the ideas offered at the meeting.

The committee indicated, Robinette said, that a plan of operation including membership fees, objective and purpose, and method of procedure will be presented at the next meeting in two weeks.

City, County Bills Enacted By Assembly

House Approves Plan For Liquor Board

The House yesterday enacted a number of local bills, including one to authorize the Mayor and Council to take steps to abate odors in Wills Creek and one providing pre-election registrations in four Allegany County communities.

House Bill 313, sponsored by Delegate Estel C. Kelley, was enacted when the House concurred in a Senate amendment which turned it into an enabling act.

Instead of directing the Mayor and Council to clean up Wills Creek when it begins to smell bad, it authorizes city officials to take corrective steps at their discretion.

The measure was dubbed the "Airwick Bill" by members of the Allegany County Delegation.

Registration Plan

Also enacted was House Bill 504, sponsored by the Delegation, which requires the Allegany County registrars to sit at Frostburg, Lonaconing, Westernport and Mt. Savage four days before each election.

Enacts Liquor Bill

Enacted by the House yesterday was Senate Bill 276, sponsored by Senate Minority Leader Robert B. Kimble. The plan abolishes the Allegany County Liquor Control Board and reconstitutes it by having the governor appoint three members with staggered terms until 1959, and thereafter for terms of six years each.

State Police Boost

Bills passed by the House include House Bill 562, by Luber, Logan and Green, which would raise the pay of state police by $200.

Garrett Bill Passes

Also enacted by the House was Senate Bill 396, sponsored by Senator Fraley, which requires payment of 15 per cent of additional marriage license fees in Garrett County to the county historical society and 85 per cent to Ruth Enlow Library.

Raises Tax Limit

House Bill 545 permits the Mayor and Council of Cumberland to raise the city property tax from 90 cents per $100 of assessable property to $1.25 per $100.

Investigator's Salary

House Bill 540 authorizes the Allegany County Commissioners to fix the salary of the county investigator.

Passes Death Sentence

House Bill 508 repeals the laws relating to sanitary districts and thereby abolishes the Allegany County Metropolitan Sanitary Commission.

Cresaptown Bill

House Bill 507 increases the borrowing power of the Cresaptown special taxing district from $10,000 to $25,000.

Indexing Procedure

Amends Rent Bill

Senator Robert R. Kimble has attached the amendment on the bill that would allow the Mayor and Council to vote on whether they want rent controls when feredal controls expire. The bill in the House applied only to Hagerstown, Baltimore City and Baltimore County.

The State Senate has enacted several House bills that affect Cumberland and Allegany County. These measures go to Governor McKeldin for his signature into law.

Crossing Safety Observations To Be Made Today

Motorists who plunge carelessly across railroad crossings today will soon receive mailed reminders that people can get killed that way.

The reminders will come from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which is conducting a crossing safety campaign to reduce the number of accidents at crossings on its line.

Purpose of the leaflets is to remind motorists that a moment of recklessness or absent-mindedness at a crossing has cost many a driver his life.

Drivers whose cars are observed to skip the necessary precautions in crossing the tracks will be mailed leaflets bearing an admonition to:

Approach all crossings prepared to stop.

Stop at every crossing where a stop sign has been erected.

Proceed only when it is safe to do so. When one train has passed, watch out for another.

C&O CANAL PARKWAY BILL ENACTED

House Approves Plan By Overwhelming Vote

$8 Million Road To Cost State $350,000

ANNAPOLIS, March 26 (AP) — Allegany County today sold the General Assembly "a good bargain" described by Del. Whitworth as an eight-million dollar parkway on the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal for $350,000.

The Republican delegate from Allegany outlined advantages of the opportunity to construct the 57 miles of parkway between Cumberland and Hancock with federal funds.

Although delegates from other Western Maryland counties fired questions in obvious opposition, the House voted 86-15 to authorize the state to buy rights of way for the parkway. The final step is signing by the governor.

Plan Is Modified

Conversions of the abandoned canal into a parkway has been a controversial subject for the past few years. Strong opposition came from Washington, Frederick and Montgomery Counties, through which the canal also runs.

The original idea was to build a parkway along the entire 168 miles of the canal from Cumberland to Great Falls, near Washington. Sensing the opposition was too strong to beat, Allegany County legislators at this General Assembly pressed only for construction of the stretch from Cumberland to Hancock in Washington County.

State Cost $350,000

Whitworth explained the federal government estimates it will cost eight million dollars to build the parkway. Maryland will be required to buy only additional land and to spend no more than $350,000 for it. The new road also would be maintained by the federal government, Whitworth said as an added inducement for support.

The parkway will provide a level route and bypass five mountains into Western Maryland, Whitworth continued. "It's a good chance to get a worthwhile project" on federal money, he said.

In answer to queries, Whitworth promised that Allegany County would not press in the future to extend the parkway beyond Hancock. He also said retention of Potomac water rights by the state is provided in bills pending before Congress.

Amendments Added

The Parkway bill, sponsored by Senate Minority Leader Robert B. Kimble, passed the Senate last week with an 24-4 mandate.

But the Senate added two amendments, neither of which are expected to delay the beginning of construction of the freeway.

The amendments limit the amount the state may pay for the land to $350,000 and require that Congress grant easements to the Potomac River.

Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde have introduced legislation in Congress to provide for the easements.

Has Delegation Support

It was reported out of the Ways and Means Committee Wednesday by a 28-2 majority. Only Delegate Bloom of Washington County and Delegate Derr, of Frederick County, voted against sending the bill to the House.

All members of the Allegany County Delegation have been work-

Summers Trial Set For Today

Sherman Summers, 27-year-old former Frostburger charged with statutory burglary in the theft of $1,000 from Lucky's Liquor Store is scheduled for trial this morning in Frostburg on December 20, 1951, before Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Summers, who has been confined in the County Jail here since February 18, filed a petition for an immediate trial Monday through Attorney Edward J. Ryan. Yesterday, State's Attorney Paul M. He accused her of attempting to break up his home.

Episcopalians Will Mark Sesquicentennial April 12

By ALBERT D. DARBY JR.

The Sunday after Easter traditionally is called Low Sunday because generally it is quite a letdown from the pageantry and beauty of the Easter service.

Low Sunday, however, will be one of the high points in the history of Emmanuel Episcopal Church. The congregation will observe the sesquicentennial of its organization as a parish on that day. Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell, Bishop of Maryland, will make his annual visitation for confirmation to Emmanuel Church on Low Sunday, April 12 to participate in the observance of the church's 150 anniversary.

The Episcopal congregation in Cumberland dates from April 11, 1805. It was on that day, an Easter Monday, that provisional vestrymen were elected. John Snowden Hook was elected warden and Dr. John Kewley was named registrar. The vestrymen included Patrick Murdock, Hanson Briscoe, David Lynn, Upton Brouce, Robert Tevis, George Hebb, John A. Beall and William Hilleary.

This was the fourth Christian congregation to be organized in the village of Cumberland, which itself had been incorporated in 1787, only 16 years before. The earlier congregations were German Lutheran, Methodist and Roman Catholic.

Colorful Rector

Dr. Kewley, mentioned earlier as the first registrar, later became the first rector of the struggling Episcopal congregation.

Already a lay reader at the time the parish was organized, Dr. Kewley ws ordained a deacon on June 19, 1803, and was paid an annual salary which amounted to $266.66, according to church records. Dr. Kewley was ordained to the Episcopal priesthood May 27, 1804.

Incidentally, this Dr. Kewley had a colorful career which began in Catholicism and ended back in that church. While rector here his ministrations extended over a considerable territory, including Allegany and Washington counties, and adjacent of Pennsylvania and Virginia and West Virginia.

The earliest record found concerning Dr. Kewley shows that his career began as a Jesuit priest in Europe. Later he became a physician in the West Indies. There he renounced the Catholic Church and officiated as a Methodist minister. When he came to this country he practiced medicine here in Allegany County until he took orders in the Protestant Episcopal Church. After 1805, when he left Cumberland, Dr. Kewley served Episcopal

Red Cross Slates Instructor Courses For Trained Nurses

Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, will conduct an instructor's course for county trained nurses beginning April 13 in connection with the Allegany County Civil Defense program.

According to Mrs. Raymond Boore, chairman of home nursing for the Red Cross, the instructor's course will qualify trained nurses as instructors of home nursing classes in the county.

In the local Civil Defense setup, the Red Cross is responsible for training persons in home nursing and first aid so that all area communities will be sufficiently manned with trained personnel in case of an emergency.

The instructor's course will be taught in the Science Building at Frostburg State Teachers College. Dates for the classes are April 13 and 14, April 20 and 21, and April 27 and 28.

Mrs. Boore said only trained nurses are eligible to take the instructions, and urged all interested persons, especially married nurses, to enroll in the program.

Mrs. Boore may be contacted by calling 3169-J, or persons wishing to sign up for the course may do so by calling the local Red Cross office at 4181.

Crossing Safety Observations To Be Made Today

Motorists who plunge carelessly across railroad crossings today will soon receive mailed reminders that people can get killed that way.

The reminders will come from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which is conducting a crossing safety campaign to reduce the number of accidents at crossings on its line.

Purpose of the leaflets is to remind motorists that a moment of recklessness or absent-mindedness at a crossing has cost many a driver his life.

A check of public grade crossings in this area will be made today by railroad representatives co-operating with the National Safety Council.

Drivers whose cars are observed to skip the necessary precautions in crossing the tracks will be mailed leaflets bearing an admonition to:

Approach all crossings prepared to stop.

Stop on any warning of an approaching train.

Stop at every crossing where a stop sign has been erected.

Proceed only when it is safe to do so. When one train has passed, watch out for another.
